Table of Contents

Foreword ............................................................................................................................................ xx

Preface ............................................................................................................................................... xxii

Section I
Innovations

Chapter I
The Modular Design of an Internet-Based Laboratory ................................................................. 1
    Abdul K. M. Azad, Northern Illinois University, USA

Chapter II
Exploring Multimedia Performance in Educational Research ..................................................... 14
    Carl Bagley, University Durham, UK

Chapter III
Transformations of the Language Laboratory ............................................................................... 27
    Mads Bo-Kristensen, Resource Centre for Integration–Vejle, Denmark
    Bente Meyer, School of Education, University of Aarhus, Denmark

Chapter IV
A Topic-Case Driven Methodology for Web Course Design ...................................................... 37
    Leena Hiltunen, University of Jyväskylä, Finland
    Tommi Kärkkäinen, University of Jyväskylä, Finland

Chapter V
New Paradigms: A Collaborative Web Based Research Tool ..................................................... 56
    Hamish Holewa, International Program of Psycho-Social Health Research,
    Central Queensland University, Australia

Chapter VI
Animations in Science Education ................................................................................................. 67
    Göran Karlsson, IT University of Gothenburg, Sweden
    Jonas Ivarsson, University of Gothenburg, Sweden
Chapter VII
One-to-One Computing and Teacher Transformation ................................................................. 82
Andrew Kitchenham, University of Northern British Columbia, Canada

Chapter VIII
Web Enhanced vs. Traditional Approach for a Science Course......................................................... 102
Gennadiy Kuleshov, TUI University, USA

Chapter IX
Microcultures, Local Communities, and Virtual Networks ........................................................ 117
José Luis Lalueza, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, Spain
Isabel Crespo, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, Spain
Marc Bria, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, Spain

Chapter X
Digital Storytelling as a Tool in Education .................................................................................. 131
Monica E. Nilsson, Bleckinge Institute of Technology, Sweden

Chapter XI
Multi-User Virtual Learning Environments in Education .......................................................... 146
Nancy Sardone, Seton Hall University, USA
Roberta Devlin-Scherer, Seton Hall University, USA

Section II
Methods

Chapter XII
Pedagogical Practice for Learning with Social Software .......................................................... 160
Anne Bartlett-Bragg, University of Technology, Sydney, Australia

Chapter XIII
Authentic E-Learning in a Virtual Scientific Conference ............................................................ 176
Josianne Basque, Télés-université, Canada
Kim Chi Dao, Télés-université, Canada
Julien Contamines, Télés-université, Canada

Chapter XIV
Toward Theory and Technique for Online Focus Groups ............................................................ 191
Albino Claudio Bosio, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore di Milano, Italy
Guendaline Graffigna, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore di Milano, Italy
Edoardo Lozza, Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore di Milano, Italy
Chapter XV
Online Pedagogical Effectiveness in Adult Contexts ................................................. 212
  Robert Dixon, Curtin University of Technology, Australia
  Kathyrn Dixon, Curtin University of Technology, Australia

Chapter XVI
Reflective E-Learning Pedagogy ................................................................................ 230
  Leah Herner-Patnode, Ohio State University, Lima, USA
  Hea-Jin Lee, Ohio State University, Lima, USA
  E-O Baek, California State University, San Bernardino, USA

Chapter XVII
To be Lost and to be a Loser Through the Web .......................................................... 246
  Louise Limberg, University of Gothenburg, Sweden
  Mikael Alexandersson, University of Gothenburg, Sweden
  Annika Lantz-Andersson, University of Gothenburg, Sweden

Chapter XVIII
Digital Epistemologies and Classroom Multiliteracies................................................ 261
  Heather Lotherington, York University, Toronto, Canada

Chapter XIX
Improving Online Readability and Information Literacy ........................................... 281
  John Paul Loucky, Seinan Jo Gakuin University, Japan

Chapter XX
Technology-Enhanced Learning in the Corporate Context ....................................... 303
  Anoush Margaryan, Glasgow Caledonian University, UK
  Betty Collis, University of Twente, The Netherlands

Chapter XXI
Using Virtual Learning Environments to Present Different Learning Blends ............. 320
  Robert J. McClelland, Liverpool John Moores University, UK

Chapter XXII
Education Research with Electronic Focus Groups ...................................................... 340
  Kathryn Moyle, University of Canberra, Australia
  Robert Fitzgerald, University of Canberra, Australia

Chapter XXIII
Learning and Meaning-Making in the Virtual Space ................................................... 353
  Staffan Selander, Stockholm Institute of Education, Sweden
  Anna Akerfeldt, Stockholm Institute of Education, Sweden
Section III
Ethical Issues

Chapter XXIV
Communication and Relation Building in Social Systems

Thomas Hansson, Blekinge Institute of Technology, Sweden

Chapter XXV
Human Factors and Innovation with Mobile Devices

Agnes Kukulska-Hulme, The Open University, UK

Chapter XXVI
Self-Construction in Computer Mediated Discourse

Irit Kupferberg, Levinsky College of Education, Israel

Chapter XXVII
Design and Implementation of Trust Enabling Functions

Jeanette Lemmergaard, University of Southern Denmark, Denmark
Damien Brighth, University of Southern Denmark, Denmark
Christopher Gersbo-Moller, University of Southern Denmark, Denmark
Tim Hansson, University of Southern Denmark, Denmark

Chapter XXVIII
Lost in the Funhouse, is Anyone in Control?

Pat Jefferies, University of Bedfordshire, UK
Steve McRobb, De Montfort University, UK
Bernd Carsten Stahl, De Montfort University, UK

Chapter XXIX
Ethical Issues in Digital Information Technology

Konrad Morgan, Northern Alberta Institute of Technology, Canada
Madeleine Morgan, Northern Alberta Institute of Technology, Canada

Chapter XXX
Philosophy of Web-Based Mediation

Olli Mäkinen, University of Vaasa, Finland

Chapter XXXI
Unstructured Information as a Socio-Technical Dilemma

Lars-Erik Nilsson, Kristianstad University, Sweden
Anders Eklöf, Kristianstad University, Sweden
Torgny Ottoson, Kristianstad University, Sweden
Chapter XXXII
An Ethical Perspective on ICT in the Context of the Other

J. Ola Lindberg, Mid Sweden University, Sweden
Anders Olofsson, Umeå University, Sweden

Chapter XXXIII
Mobile Learning in a Social, Ethical, and Legal Environment

John Traxler, University of Wolverhampton, UK

About the Contributors

Index