Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xv

Chapter 1
Global E-Government and the Role of Trust: A Cross Country Analysis............................................ 1
   Jayoti Das, Elon University, USA
   Cassandra DiRienzo, Elon University, USA
   John Burbridge Jr., Elon University, USA

Chapter 2
Quality Enhancing the Continued Use of E-Government Websites: Evidence from E-Citizens of Thailand .......................................................................................................................... 20
   Sivaporn Wangpipatwong, Bangkok University, Thailand
   Wichian Chutimaskul, King Mongkut’s University of Technology Thonburi, Thailand
   Borworn Papasratorn, King Mongkut’s University of Technology Thonburi, Thailand

Chapter 3
Paralingual Web Design and Trust in E-Government ........................................................................... 37
   Roy H. Segovia, San Diego State University, USA
   Murray E. Jennex, San Diego State University, USA
   James Beatty, San Diego State University, USA

Chapter 4
Evaluation of Arab Municipal Websites .................................................................................................. 51
   Hana Abdullah Al-Nuaim, King Abdulaziz University, Saudi Arabia

Chapter 5
Aviation-Related Expertise and Usability: Implications for the Design of an FAA E-Government Website ................................................................................................................................. 66
   Ferne Friedman-Berg, FAA Human Factors Team - Atlantic City, USA
   Kenneth Allendoerfer, FAA Human Factors Team - Atlantic City, USA
   Shantanu Pai, Engility Corporation, USA
Chapter 6
Comparing Citizens’ Use of E-Government to Alternative Service Channels ........................................ 82
Christopher G. Reddick, The University of Texas at San Antonio, USA

Chapter 7
Determining Types of Services and Targeted Users of Emerging E-Government Strategies:
The Case of Tanzania ....................................................................................................................... 97
Janet Kaaya, University of California-Los Angeles, USA

Chapter 8
Acceptability of ATM and Transit Applications Embedded in Multipurpose Smart
Identity Card: An Exploratory Study in Malaysia .................................................................................. 118
Paul H. P. Yeow, Multimedia University, Malaysia
W. H. Loo, Multimedia University, Malaysia

Chapter 9
Digital Disempowerment in a Network Society ....................................................................................... 138
Kenneth L. Hacker, New Mexico State University, USA
Shana M. Mason, New Mexico State University, USA
Eric L. Morgan, New Mexico State University, USA

Chapter 10
A Multi-Level Relational Risk Assessment Model for Secure E-Government Projects ................... 153
Dionysis Kefallinos, National Technical University of Athens, Greece
Maria A. Lambrou, University of the Aegean Business School, Greece
Efstathios D. Sykas, National Technical University of Athens, Greece

Chapter 11
A Multiple Case Study on Integrating IT Infrastructures in the Public Domain ..................................... 182
Muhammad Mustafa Kamal, Brunel University, UK

Chapter 12
Implementing Free Wi-Fi in Public Parks: An Empirical Study in Qatar ............................................. 201
Shafi Al-Shafi, Brunel University, UK
Vishanth Weerakkody, Brunel University, UK

Chapter 13
Integrating Public and Private Services: Intermediaries as a Channel for Public
Service Delivery ................................................................................................................................. 215
Bram Klievink, Delft University of Technology, The Netherlands
Marijn Janssen, Delft University of Technology, The Netherlands
Chapter 14
Towards eGovernment in the Large: A Requirements-Based Evaluation Framework ......................... 227
Thomas Matheis, German Research Center for Artificial Intelligence, Germany
Jörg Ziemann, German Research Center for Artificial Intelligence, Germany
Peter Loos, German Research Center for Artificial Intelligence, Germany
Daniel M. Schmidt, University of Koblenz-Landau, Germany
Maria A. Wimmer, University of Koblenz-Landau, Germany

Chapter 15
Relating Acceptance and Optimism to E-File Adoption........................................................................ 244
Lemuria Carter, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, USA
Ludwig Christian Schaupp, West Virginia University, USA

Chapter 16
The Key Organisational Issues Affecting E-Government Adoption in Saudi Arabia......................... 257
Abdullah Al-Shehry, Prince Nayef College, Saudi Arabia
Simon Rogerson, De Montfort University, UK
N. Ben Fairweather, De Montfort University, UK
Mary Prior, De Montfort University, UK

Chapter 17
Stages of Information Systems in E-Government for Knowledge Management: The Case of Police Investigations.................................................................................................................... 270
Petter Gottschalk, Norwegian School of Management, Norway

Chapter 18
Leaders as Mediators of Global Megatrends: A Diagnostic Framework in Praxis......................... 281
Katarina Giritli-Nygren, Midsweden University, Sweden
Katarina Lindblad-Gidlund, Midsweden University, Sweden

Chapter 19
Metagoverning Policy Networks in E-Government ............................................................................. 298
Karl Löfgren, Roskilde University, Denmark
Eva Sørensen, Roskilde University, Denmark

Chapter 20
New Directions for IT Governance in the Brazilian Government...................................................... 313
Fabio Perez Marzullo, Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil
Jano Moreira de Souza, Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

Compilation of References .................................................................................................................. 335

About the Contributors .......................................................................................................................... 379

Index................................................................................................................................................... 388