Table of Contents

Preface ...............................................................................................................................................xxii

Acknowledgment ............................................................................................................................xxviii

Section I
e-HRM Transformation and Strategic HRM

Chapter I
Making Sense of e-HRM: Transformation, Technology and Power Relations................................. 1
  Steve Foster, University of Hertfordshire, UK & NorthgateArinso, UK

Chapter II
HR Portal: A Tool for Contingent and Individualized HRM .............................................................. 20
  Cataldo Dino Ruta, Bocconi University, Italy

Chapter III
E-Work and Labor Processes Transformation ................................................................................... 34
  Barbara Imperatori, Catholic University, Milan, Italy
  Marco De Marco, Catholic University, Milan, Italy

Section II
User Involvement and User Participation

Chapter IV
Early User Involvement and Participation in Employee Self-Service Application Deployment:
Theory and Evidence from Four Dutch Governmental Cases............................................................ 56
  Gerwin Koopman, Syntess Software, The Netherlands
  Ronald Batenburg, Utrecht University, The Netherlands
Chapter V
Does User Centered Design, Coherent with Global Corporate Strategy, Encourage Development of Human Resource Intranet Use ................................................................. 78
Karine Guiderdoni-Jourdain, The Institute of Labour Economics and Industrial Sociology (LEST), Université de la Méditerranee, France
Ewan Oiry, The Institute of Labour Economics and Industrial Sociology (LEST), Université de la Méditerranee, France

Chapter VI
In-House vs. Off-the-Shelf e-HRM Applications ................................................................. 92
Nawaf Al-Ibraheem, KNET, Kuwait
Huub Ruël, University of Twente, The Netherlands & American University of Beirut, Lebanon

Chapter VII
Adaptive Municipal Electronic Forms .............................................................................. 116
Pieternel Kuiper, Exxellence Group, The Netherlands
Betsy van Dijk, University of Twente, The Netherlands

Section III
e-HRM in Multinational Companies

Chapter VIII
HRIS Project Teams Skills and Knowledge: A Human Capital Analysis ......................... 135
Hazel Williams, Nottingham Trent University, UK
Carole Tansley, Nottingham Trent University, UK
Carley Foster, Nottingham Trent University, UK

Chapter IX
IT-Based Integration of HRM in a Foreign MNC Subsidiary: A Micro-Political Perspective .... 153
Adam Smale, University of Vaasa, Finland
Jukka-Pekka Heikkilä, University of Vaasa, Finland

Chapter X
Studying Human Resource Information Systems Implementation using Adaptive Structuration Theory: The Case of an HRIS Implementation at Dow Chemical Company ............... 171
Huub Ruël, University of Twente, The Netherlands & American University of Beirut, Lebanon
Section IV
E-Recruitment and National Culture

Chapter XI
Applicant Information and Selection Strategies in Corporate Web Site Recruiting:
The Role of National Culture
Jonas F. Puck, Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration, Austria
Dirk Holtbrügge, University of Erlangen-Nuremberg, Germany
Alexander T. Mohr, Bradford University School of Management, UK

Chapter XII
What is the Potential of E-Recruitment to Transform the Recruitment Process and the Role of the Resourcing Team?
Emma Parry, Cranfield School of Management, UK
Shaun Tyson, Cranfield School of Management, UK

Chapter XIII
The Role of National Culture on E-Recruitment in India and Mexico
Pramila Rao, Marymount University, USA

Section V
Modeling and Designing e-HRM Architectures

Chapter XIV
Modeling Human Resources in the Emergent Organization
Marielba Zacarias, Universidade do Algarve, Portugal
Rodrigo Magalhães, Instituto Superior Técnico, Portugal
José Tribolet, Instituto Superior Técnico, Portugal

Chapter XV
Utilizing the Lead User Method for Promoting Innovation in E-Recruiting
Elfi Furtmueller, University of Twente, The Netherlands
Celeste Wilderom, University of Twente, The Netherlands
Rolf van Dick, Goethe University Frankfurt, Germany

Chapter XVI
Sven Laumer, University of Bamberg, Germany
Andreas Eckhardt, University of Frankfurt a. Main, Germany
Chapter XVII
The Enrichment of the HR Intranet Linked to the Regulation’s Processes Between HR Actors ....... 289
  Karine Guiderdoni-Jourdain, The Institute of Labour Economics and Industrial Sociology (LEST), Université de la Méditerranée, France

Section VI
e-HRM Use and Performance Improvement

Chapter XVIII
Exploring Perceptions about the Use of e-HRM Tools in Medium Sized Organizations ........... 304
  Tanya Bondarouk, University of Twente, The Netherlands
  Vincent ter Horst, Saxion Knowledge Center Innovation and Entrepreneurship, The Netherlands
  Sander Engbers, COGAS BV. Business Unit Infra & Networkmanagement, The Netherlands

Chapter XIX
Perceived Performance of the Human Resource Information Systems (HRIS) and Perceived Performance of the Management of Human Resources (HRM) ......................................................... 324
  Loubna Tahssain, IAE Graduate School of Management in Aix-en-Provence, France
  Mouna Zgheib, IAE graduate School of Management in Aix-en-Provence, France

Chapter XX
Employee Life-Cycle Process Management Improvement with Web-Enabled Workflow Systems ................................................................. 335
  Leon Welicki, Microsoft, Canada
  Javier Piqueres Juan, Systar, Spain
  Fernando Llorente Martin, ONO, Spain
  Victor de Vega Hernandez, ONO, Spain

Section VII
Extended e-HRM Topics

Chapter XXI
Information Technologies’ Impact on Individual Learning Process: The Case of a Community of Practice ........................................................................................................................................... 352
  Manel Guechayouti, ESCEM Business School, France
  Widad Guechayouti, CNRS, France

Chapter XXII
What are the Main Impacts of Internet and Information and Communication Technology on Unions and Trade Unionism? An Exploratory Research in Europe and North America .......... 365
  Valéry Michaux, Reims Management School, France
Chapter XXIII
Coordination of Virtual Teams: From Trust to Control ................................................................. 383
   Isabelle Parot, Magellan Research Center, France

Chapter XXIV
Information Overload in the New World of Work: Qualitative Study into the Reasons and Countermeasures .................................................................................................................. 396
   Jeroen ter Heerdt, Microsoft B.V., Services, The Netherlands
   Tanya Bondarouk, University of Twente, The Netherlands

Chapter XXV
HR Shared Service Centers: From Brand Management Towards Success ............................................ 419
   Mitchell van Balen, University of Twente, The Netherlands
   Tanya Bondarouk, University of Twente, The Netherlands

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................. 435

About the Contributors ................................................................................................................... 476

Index ........................................................................................................................................... 485