Acknowledgment

Reading, critiquing, and making edits of unpublished chapters to help the authors is truly an act of friendship and colleagueship. Our colleagues spent hours proofreading certain chapters in the book. Therefore, in alphabetical order, we wish to thank Beth Kania-Gosche, Lindenwood University; Karen Weller Swanson, Mercer University; and Mary C. Ware, State University of NY – Cortland. These three colleagues read certain chapters based on their research expertise and their suggestions, critiques, and encouragement were essential to the book’s completion.

The publisher, IGI Global’s goal is to publish high quality books for readers from around the globe and their editorial team provides first rate editorial work. There is no doubt that this publisher has become one of the best publishers whose essential duty is also to disseminate knowledge. We thank all the members from IGI Global and may our cooperation last many years to come. Finally, thanks to Anthony, Anni, and Katie for their continued support and tolerance.
