Table of Contents

Preface ........................................................................................................................................... xxxviii

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xl

Acknowledgment ........................................................................................................................................ xlvii

Volume 1

Section 1
Background and Development

Chapter 1
J.C.R. Licklider and the Rise of Interactive and Networked Computing ................................................. 1

Tami K. Tomasello, East Carolina University, USA

Chapter 2
Mobile Social Web: Opportunities and Drawbacks ......................................................................................... 11

Thorsten Caus, Georg August University of Göttingen, Germany
Stefan Christmann, Georg August University of Göttingen, Germany
Svenja Hagenhoff, Georg August University of Göttingen, Germany

Chapter 3
Mobile Social Networks and Services ........................................................................................................... 22

Lee Humphreys, Cornell University, USA

Chapter 4
Social Media Marketing: Web X.0 of Opportunities ...................................................................................... 33

Lemi Baruh, Kadir Has University, Turkey

Chapter 5
Citizen Marketing .......................................................................................................................................... 45

Ruth E. Brown, The University of Nebraska—Lincoln, USA

Chapter 6
The Past, Present, and Future of Podcasting .................................................................................................. 56

Joseph E. Burns, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA
Chapter 7
The Rise of the Chinese Blogosphere ................................................................. 67

Zixue Tai, University of Kentucky, USA

Chapter 8
E-Government: A Case Study of East African Community Initiative ...................... 80

Sirkku Kristiina Hellsten, University of Helsinki, Finland

Chapter 9
Corporate Added Value in the Context of Web 2.0 .................................................. 91

Oliver Bohl, Accenture, Munich, Germany
Shakib Manouchehri, University of Kassel, Germany

Chapter 10
A Social Capital Perspective on Collaboration and Web 2.0 ..................................... 101

Gunilla Widén-Wulff, Åbo Akademi University, Finland
Anna-Karin Tötterman, Åbo Akademi University, Finland

Chapter 11
Social Capital, Social Networks, and the Social Web: The Case of Virtual Volunteering ......... 110

Dhrubodhi Mukherjee, Southern Illinois University, USA

Chapter 12
From Software to Team Ware: Virtual Teams and Online Learning Culture ................ 121

Francesco Sofo, University of Canberra, Australia

Section 2
Concepts, Contexts, and Applications

Chapter 13
Folksonomy: The Collaborative Knowledge Organization System .......................... 132

Katrin Weller, Heinrich Heine University of Düsseldorf, Germany
Isabella Peters, Heinrich Heine University of Düsseldorf, Germany
Wolfgang G. Stock, Heinrich Heine University of Düsseldorf, Germany

Chapter 14
Folksonomy: Creating Metadata through Collaborative Tagging ............................. 147

Stefan Bitzer, Georg-August-Universität Göttingen, Germany
Lars Thoroe, Georg-August-Universität Göttingen, Germany
Matthias Schumann, Georg-August-Universität Göttingen, Germany
Chapter 15
E-Tagging in Context: Information Management across Community Networks
Heather D. Pfeiffer, New Mexico State University, USA
Emma L. Tonkin, University of Bath, UK

Chapter 16
Using Notification Systems to Create Social Places for Online Learning
James M. Laffey, University of Missouri-Columbia, USA
Christopher J. Amelung, Yale University, USA

Chapter 17
Peer Learning and Social Interactions in an Asynchronous Learning Environment
Angela T. Ragusa, Charles Sturt University, Australia

Chapter 18
Educational Podcasting: A Taxonomy of Pedagogical Applications
Catherine McLoughlin, Australian Catholic University, Australia
Mark J. W. Lee, Charles Sturt University, Australia

Chapter 19
Wiki Use in Higher Education: Implications for Group Size and Task Complexity
Elizabeth Koh, National University of Singapore, Singapore
John Lim, National University of Singapore, Singapore

Chapter 20
The Hybrid Course: Facilitating Learning through Social Interaction Technologies
Lorraine D. Jackson, California Polytechnic State University, USA
Joe Grimes, California Polytechnic State University, USA

Chapter 21
The Use of Social Interaction Technologies in E-Portfolios
Lina Pelliccione, Curtin University of Technology, Australia
Catherine Pocknee, Swinburne University of Technology, Australia
Julie Mulvany, Swinburne University of Technology, Australia

Chapter 22
Commerce and Gender: Generating Interactive Spaces for Female Online Users
Noemi Maria Sadowska, Regents Business School, Regent's College, UK

Chapter 23
Social Interaction Technologies: A Case Study of Guanxi and Women Managers’ Careers in Information Technology in China
Jiehua Huang, Guangzhou University, China and Lappeenranta University of Technology, Finland
Iiris Aaltio, University of Jyväskylä, Finland
Chapter 24
Online Participation: Shaping the Networks of Professional Women
Helen Donelan, The Open University, UK
Clem Herman, The Open University, UK
Karen Kear, The Open University, UK
Gill Kirkup, The Open University, UK

Chapter 25
Women Bloggers Seeking Validation and Financial Recompense in the Blogosphere
Sarah Pedersen, The Aberdeen Business School, The Robert Gordon University, UK

Chapter 26
Personal Blogging: Individual Differences and Motivations
Rosanna E. Guadagno, University of Alabama, USA
Cassie A. Eno, University of Alabama, USA
Bradley M. Okdie, University of Alabama, USA

Chapter 27
Audience Replies to Character Blogs as Parasocial Relationships
James D. Robinson, University of Dayton, USA
Robert Agne, Auburn University, USA

Chapter 28
Situating Social Identity through Language Convergence in Online Groups
Scott L. Crabill, Oakland University, USA

Chapter 29
Online Relationships and the Realm of Romantic Possibilities
Aaron Ben-Ze’ev, University of Haifa, Israel

Chapter 30
The Virtual Social Continuum Expressed: Interaction and Community
Formation in MMORPGs
Alan Rea, Western Michigan University, USA

Section 3
Issues, Viewpoints, and Perspectives

Chapter 31
Legal Issues Associated with Emerging Social Interaction Technologies
Robert D. Sprague, University of Wyoming, USA
Chapter 32
Section 230 of the Communications Decency Act: How ISPs and Users are Legally Exempted from Offensive Materials
Joshua Azriel, Kennesaw State University, USA

Chapter 33
Blogs and Forums in a Presidential Election Process in Turkey
Güliz Uluç, Ege University, Turkey
Mehmet Yılmaz, Ege University, Turkey
Umit İskidag, IT Consultant, Ankara, Turkey

Chapter 34
Wiki Journalism
Joseph E. Burns, Southeastern Louisiana University, USA

Chapter 35
Public Intimacy and the New Face (Book) of Surveillance: The Role of Social Media in Shaping Contemporary Dataveillance
Lemi Baruh, Kadir Has University, Turkey
Levent Soysal, Kadir Has University, Turkey

Volume 2

Chapter 36
Emerging Online Democracy: The Dynamics of Formal and Informal Control in Digitally Mediated Social Structures
Todd Kelshaw, Montclair State University, USA
Christine A. Lemesianou, Montclair State University, USA

Chapter 37
Squeak Etoys: Interactive and Collaborative Learning Environments
Christos J. Bouras, University of Patras, Greece
Vassilis Poulopoulos, University of Patras, Greece
Vassilis Tsogkas, University of Patras, Greece

Chapter 38
The Sun Earth Moon System: Connecting Science and Informal Learning
Ronald Marsh, John D. Odegard School of Aerospace Science, University of North Dakota, USA

Chapter 39
Neogeography
Judith Gelernter, Carnegie Mellon University, USA
Chapter 40
Social Software Use in Public Libraries................................................................. 451
June Abbas, University of Oklahoma, USA

Chapter 41
Marketing for Children Using Social Interaction Technologies......................... 462
Ruth E. Brown, University of Nebraska—Lincoln, USA

Chapter 42
The Use of Social Media by Nonprofit Organizations: An Examination from the Diffusion of Innovations Perspective................................................................. 473
Richard D. Waters, North Carolina State University, USA

Chapter 43
Towards Understanding the Successful Adoption of Blog-Based Knowledge Management Systems: A Socio-Psychological Approach......................................................... 486
Joowon Park, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology, South Korea
Soo Ran Jo, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology, South Korea
Junghoon Moon, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology, South Korea

Chapter 44
Social Software for Customer Knowledge Management........................................ 496
Zuopeng (Justin) Zhang, State University of New York at Plattsburgh, USA

Chapter 45
Critical Success Factors in the Development of Folksonomy-Based Knowledge Management Tools........................................................................................................ 509
Kenneth Owen, Lakehead University, Canada
Robert Willis, Vancouver Island University, Canada

Chapter 46
Representing and Sharing Tagging Data Using the Social Semantic Cloud of Tags........ 519
Hak-Lae Kim, National University of Galway, Ireland
John G. Breslin, National University of Galway, Ireland
Stefan Decker, National University of Galway, Ireland
Hong-Gee Kim, Seoul National University, South Korea

Chapter 47
A Framework for Analyzing Social Interaction Using Broadband Visual Communication Technologies.............................................................. 528
Susan O'Donnell, National Research Council, Canada
Heather Molyneaux, National Research Council, Canada
Kerri Gibson, National Research Council, Canada
Chapter 48
Using the Social Web for Collaboration in Software Engineering Education ........................................ 542
Pankaj Kamthan, Concordia University, Canada

Chapter 49
Online Scams: Case Studies from Australia .......................................................................................... 561
Michelle Berzins, University of Canberra, Australia

Chapter 50
The Usability of Social Software .......................................................................................................... 574
Lorna Uden, Staffordshire University, UK
Alan Eardley, Staffordshire University, UK

Section 4
Selected Readings

Chapter 51
Interactivity Redefined for the Social Web .......................................................................................... 586
V. Sachdev, Middle Tennessee State University, USA
S. Nerur, University of Texas at Arlington, USA
J. T. C. Teng, University of Texas at Arlington, USA

Chapter 52
Social Technologies and the Digital Commons .................................................................................. 601
Francesca da Rimini, University of Technology, Sydney, Australia

Chapter 53
Virtual Constructivism: Avatars in Action ............................................................................................ 623
Laura M. Nicosia, Montclair State University, USA

Chapter 54
Managing E-Relationships in a Supply Network ................................................................................ 639
Susanna Xin Xu, National University of Ireland–Galway, Ireland
Joe Nandhakumar, University of Warwick, UK

Chapter 55
A Study of Friendship Networks and Blogosphere ............................................................................ 661
Nitin Agarwal, Arizona State University, USA
Huan Liu, Arizona State University, USA
Jianping Zhang, MITRE Corporation, USA
Chapter 56
Blogs as a Social Networking Tool to Build Community................................................................. 685
Lisa Kervin, University of Wollongong, Australia
Jessica Mantei, University of Wollongong, Australia
Anthony Herrington, University of Wollongong, Australia

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................... 701