Acknowledgment

This book would not have been possible without the support of many colleagues and friends, but mainly without the happening that was the SLACTIONS 2009 International Conference: Life, imagination, and work using metaverse platforms. We’re indebted to all people who took part in it, to all local organizers of physical chapters (Portugal, USA, Brazil, UK, China, Israel) and also to all paper presenters, who originated from all around the world. This conference was the debut work cooperation between the three editors of this book, and from it sprung connections with many keen researchers across the world. Together, the editors want to say thanks again to the institutions who supported and believed in this vision: NMC – New Media Consortium, SPCVideojogos – Sociedade Portuguesa de Ciências dos Videojogos, UTAD – Universidade de Trás-os-Montes e Alto Douro, UM – Universidade do Minho, and TACC – Texas Advanced Computing Center.

A big, hearty thanks goes especially to all our book contributors, who joined this endeavor and maintained their will till the end, to all reviewers whose insightful comments helped improve the overall content, and finally to all our editorial advisors who were responsible since the beginning for the great selection of texts we are now making available for the benefit of the public.

The editors want also to thank IGI Global for asking for this edited book and its staff for supporting it along the way: Mike Killian, Christine Bufton, Lindsay Johnston, Erika Carter, Kristin M. Klinger, and Jan Travers.
