Table of Contents

Forward ................................................................................................................................. xii

Preface ....................................................................................................................................... xiv

Acknowledgment ...................................................................................................................... xxiii

Section 1

Understanding the Digital Communication Generation Gap: Values, Beliefs, Social Cultural Systems that Influence Teaching Practice

Chapter 1
The Impact of Technology on Early Childhood Education: Where the Child Things Are? Adults, Children, Digital Monsters and the Spaces in Between ................................................................. 1

Andrew Neil Gibbons, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand

Chapter 2
Enculturation of Young Children and Technology ........................................................................... 24

*Alexandru Spatariu, Georgetown College, USA
Andrea Peach, Georgetown College, USA
Susan Bell, Georgetown College, USA*

Chapter 3
Children’s Power for Learning in the Age of Technology ................................................................ 49

*Julie McLeod, University of North Texas, USA
Lin Lin, University of North Texas, USA
Sheri Vasinda, Texas A&M University – Commerce, USA*

Chapter 4
Technology in Three American Preschools: Technological Influences of Ideology and Social Class ......................................................................................................................... 65

Allison S. Henward, Arizona State University & University of Memphis, USA
Chapter 5
Technology: Changing the Research Base on Young Children ............................................................ 88
Shannon Audley-Piotorwksi, University of Memphis, USA
Neha Kumar, University of Memphis, USA
Yeh Hsueh, University of Memphis, USA
Melanie Sumner, University of Memphis, USA

Section 2
Bridging the Gap between Technology-Based Educational Research Methods and Child Development

Chapter 6
Bridging the Communication Gap through Video Research: The Preschool in Three Cultures Method................................................................. 111
Yeh Hsueh, University of Memphis, USA
Joseph Tobin, Arizona State University, USA

Section 3
Bridging the Gap between Pedagogy and Technology

Chapter 7
Early Childhood Teachers: Closing the Digital-Divide ................................................................. 126
Kevin Thomas, Bellarmine University, USA
Kathleen Spencer Cooter, Bellarmine University, USA

Chapter 8
Technology and Second Language Learning: Developmental Recommendations for Early-Childhood Education ................................................................. 151
Nathan E. Ziegler, The University of Toledo, USA
Florian C. Feucht, The University of Toledo, USA

Chapter 9
Science Technology and Young Children ......................................................................................... 180
Brian H. Giza, University of Texas at El Paso, USA

Chapter 10
Mathematics Learning through the Use of Technology .................................................................. 199
Amy M. Smith, Pink Sky Education, USA
Amy R. Gentry, Shelby County Schools, USA
Sally Blake, Flagler College, USA
Chapter 11
Technology for Young Children with Special Needs .............................................................. 222
  Sara C. Bicard, University of Memphis, USA
  David F. Bicard, University of Memphis, USA

Section 4
Bridging the Gap between Policy and Practice

Chapter 12
Bridging the Gap between Policy and Implementation: Preschool Education in Mexico,
Latin America and Spain .......................................................................................................... 242
  Jorge Lopez, University of Texas at El Paso, USA

Compilation of References ........................................................................................................ 261

About the Contributors ............................................................................................................ 290

Index ........................................................................................................................................ 295