Acknowledgment

A project like this requires patience and careful attention to detail. The editors would not only like to thank their authors, fellow section editors, and editorial advisory board members, but also colleagues who contributed their time and skills to helping to make this a better volume. At MIT’s Center for Educational Computing Initiatives, Meg Westlund, Jim Hardison, Phil Bailey, and Kirky DeLong all devoted careful editing to individual chapters. At Northern Illinois University, Gail D. Jacky has provided valuable assistance in proofreading some of the chapters, as well as a few other items for the book. And at the Carinthia University of Applied Sciences, Danilo Garbi Zutin and Sebastian Schreiter were in charge of the book’s online submission system and Web site. We are tremendously grateful.
