Table of Contents

Preface.................................................................................................................................................. xii

Acknowledgment................................................................................................................................... xxxi

Section 1

Networked Sociability and Individualism: Emerging Conceptual Patterns

Chapter 1
Individualist Motivators and Community Functional Constraints in Social Media:
The Case of Wikis and Wikipedia........................................................................................................... 1
  *Sorin Adam Matei, Purdue University, USA
  Robert J. Bruno, Missouri Southern State University, USA*

Chapter 2
Conceptualizing Social Interactions in Networked Spaces ................................................................. 24
  Jenny Kennedy, Swinburne University of Technology, Australia

Chapter 3
Registry Culture and Networked Sociability: Building Individual Identity through Information Records .......................................................................................................................... 41
  José María Zavala Pérez, Universidad Complutense de Madrid, Spain

Chapter 4
The Challenge of Audience Research on Web 2.0:
The Possibilities, Problems and Perspectives of Sentiment Analysis..................................................... 63
  Romana Andò, Sapienza University of Rome, Italy
Section 2
SNS, Relational Patterns, and Identity Performances: New Research Trends

Chapter 5
Miriam J. Metzger, University of California, Santa Barbara, USA
Christo Wilson, University of California, Santa Barbara, USA
Rebekah A. Pure, University of California, Santa Barbara, USA
Ben Y. Zhao, University of California, Santa Barbara, USA

Chapter 6
Social Network Site Use among Dutch Students: Effects of Time and Platform
Sonja Utz, VU University Amsterdam, The Netherlands

Chapter 7
Sociability in Social Network Sites: Facebook as Trial Platform for Social Behavioral Patterns
Bernadette Kneidinger, University of Vienna, Austria

Chapter 8
Branding Identity: Facebook, Brands and Self Construction
Geraldina Roberti, University of L’Aquila, Italy
Alberto Marinelli, Sapienza University of Rome, Italy

Chapter 9
Checking in at the Urban Playground: Digital Geographies and Electronic Flâneurs
Martin Berg, Halmstad University, Sweden

Section 3
Social Media and Institutions: New Research Trends

Chapter 10
Revived and Refreshed: Selective Exposure to Blogs and Political Web Sites for Political Information
Thomas J. Johnson, University of Texas at Austin, USA
Shannon L. Bichard, Texas Tech University, USA
Weiwu Zhang, Texas Tech University, USA

Chapter 11
Net Gain? Selective Exposure and Selective Avoidance of Social Network Sites
Barbara K. Kaye, University of Tennessee-Knoxville, USA
Thomas J. Johnson, University of Texas at Austin, USA
Chapter 12
Public Administrations and Citizens 2.0: Exploring Digital Public Communication Strategies and Civic Interaction within Italian Municipality Pages on Facebook ............................. 238
   Alessandro Lovari, Università degli Studi di Siena, Italy
   Lorenza Parisi, Sapienza Università di Roma, Italy

Chapter 13
Networked Individualism, Constructions of Community, and Religious Identity: The Case of Emerging Church Bloggers in Australia......................................................... 264
   Paul Emerson Teusner, RMIT University, Australia

Compilation of References ........................................................................................................... 289

About the Contributors .................................................................................................................. 321

Index ........................................................................................................................................... 326