Preface ........................................................................................................................... vi

Section I: Innovation, Communication Technologies, and Consumer Clusters

Chapter I
Propagating the Ideal: The Mobile Communication Paradox ............... 1

Imar de Vries, Utrecht University, The Netherlands

Chapter II
Beauty and the Nerd: Ethnographical Analyses in the Japanese Digitalization .................................................................20

Gaby Anne Wildenbos, Utrecht University, The Netherlands
Yuichi Washida, Hakuhodo Inc. & The University of Tokyo, Japan

Chapter III
The Right of Interpretation: Who Decides the Success of Picture Mail? .................................................................36

Michael Björn, Ericsson Consumer & Enterprise Lab, Sweden
Chapter IV
Foreseeing the Future Lifestyle with Digital Music:
A Comparative Study Between Mobile Phone Ring Tones and
Hard-Disk Music Players Like iPod ............................................................. 59
Masataka Yoshikawa, Hakuhodo Inc., Japan

Section II: Commerce, Community, and Consumer-Generated Content

Chapter V
“You’re in My World Now.”™ Ownership and Access in the Proprietary Community of an MMOG ......................................................... 76
Sal Humphreys, Queensland University of Technology, Australia

Chapter VI
Games and Advertisement: Beyond Banners and Billboards ............... 97
David B. Nieborg, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands

Chapter VII
Digital Petri Dishes: LiveJournal User Icons as a Space and
Medium of Popular Cultural Production .................................................. 118
Alek Tarkowski, Polish Academy of Science, Poland

Section III: Creative Industries

Chapter VIII
Creative London? Investigating New Modalities of Work in the Cultural Industries .................................................................................... 140
David Lee, Goldsmiths College, University of London, UK

Chapter IX
Digital Cinema as Disruptive Technology: Exploring New Business
Models in the Age of Digital Distribution ................................................ 160
Nigel Culkin, University of Hertfordshire, UK
Norbert Morawetz, University of Hertfordshire, UK
Keith Randle, University of Hertfordshire, UK
Chapter X
Access to the Living Room: Triple Play and Interactive Television Reshaping the Producer/Consumer Relation .................. 179
Eggo Müller, Utrecht University, The Netherlands

Chapter XI
Screening in High Standard: Innovating Film and Television in a Digital Age Through High Definition ..................................................... 191
Bas Agterberg, Utrecht University, The Netherlands

Section IV: Emerging Markets and Organizational Cultures

Chapter XII
Bringing the Next Billion Online: Cooperative Strategies to Create Internet Demand in Emerging Markets............................................. 209
Karen Coppock, Stanford University, USA

Chapter XIII
Organizing Across Distances: Managing Successful Virtual Team Meetings .......................................................................................... 238
Kris M. Markman, Bridgewater State College, USA

Chapter XIV
Working at Home: Negotiating Space and Place .................................. 257
Tracy L. M. Kennedy, University of Toronto, Canada

Chapter XV
Media Life Cycle and Consumer-Generated Innovation ............... 280
Yuichi Washida, Hakuhodo Inc. & The University of Tokyo, Japan Shenja van der Graaf, LSE, UK
Eva Keeris, Utrecht University, The Netherlands

About the Authors ..................................................................................... 306

Index ............................................................................................................ 311