Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xxvi

Acknowledgment ................................................................................................................................ xxix

Section 1

Introduction

Chapter 1
Teaching Business Ethics in an Epoch of Catastrophes................................................................. 1
  Charles Wankel, St. John’s University, USA
  Agata Stachowicz-Stanusch, Silesian University of Technology, Poland

Section 2

Ethical and Cognitive Concepts in Management Education for Integrity

Chapter 2
Reinventing Management Training: How Spiritual Values Change the Practice of Modern
Management and of Managerial Education......................................................................................... 16
  Matthew R. Fairholm, University of South Dakota, USA
  Gilbert W. Fairholm, Virginia Commonwealth University, USA

Chapter 3
Contemporary Application of Traditional Wisdom: Using the Torah, Bible, and Qur’an in Ethics Education........................................................................................................... 39
  Susan Schick Case, Case Western Reserve University, USA
  J. Goosby Smith, Pepperdine University, USA

Chapter 4
A Consciousness-Based Approach to Management Education for Integrity ......................... 65
  Dennis P. Heaton, Maharishi University of Management, USA
  Fred Travis, Maharishi University of Management, USA
  Ravi Subramaniam, Maharishi University of Management, USA
Chapter 5
Developing Reflection on Values as a Foundation for a Business Career .......................... 80
Nigel Duncan, City University London, UK
Alwyn Jones, De Montfort University, UK

Chapter 6
Management Education for Developing Spiritual Integrity .............................................. 100
Kathryn Pavlovich, University of Waikato Management School, New Zealand

Chapter 7
A Global Approach towards Teaching Ethics in International Business ........................ 114
Hussain G. Rammal, University of South Australia, Australia

Chapter 8
Defining Integrity for Individuals and Organizations: A Cognitive-Linguistic
Modeling Approach ............................................................................................................ 124
Jane Robbins, University of Arizona, USA

Section 3
New Approaches to Character Development

Chapter 9
Is it Ethical? A Multidimensional Approach to Facilitating
Ethical Decision Making in Students ................................................................................. 145
Carolyn Roper, Purdue North Central Westville, USA
Cynthia Roberts, Purdue North Central Westville, USA

Chapter 10
Management Ethics: The Psychology of Positive vs. Destructive Rule Breaking ............. 164
Jay Finkelman, California School of Professional Psychology, USA
Louise Kelly, Marshall Goldsmith School of Management, USA

Chapter 11
Decision Aids for Business Ethics Education .................................................................. 181
Ruth T. Norman, Wilmington University, USA
Evelyn T. Money, Wilmington University, USA

Chapter 12
Raising Ethics and Integrity Awareness by Incentivizing Professionalism .................... 200
Timothy S. Clark, Northern Arizona University, USA

Chapter 13
Developing Ethical Practice through Inquiry: It’s not Know-What, It’s Know-How .......... 214
Warren Linds, Concordia University, Canada
Andrew Trull, Concordia University, Canada
Section 4
Clarifying Good and Evil in Business Context

Chapter 14
Showing Business Students How to Contribute to Organizational Cultures Grounded in Moral Character ........................................................................................................... 232
William I. Sauser, Auburn University, USA
Ronald R. Sims, College of William and Mary, USA

Chapter 15
Hate Studies in Business: A Course on Recognizing and Combating the Ways Business Organizations Exert Violence on Individuals, Families, and Society ................. 253
Peggy Sue Loroz, Gonzaga University, USA
Molly B. Pepper, Gonzaga University, USA

Chapter 16
Business Ethics, Strategy and Organizational Integrity: The Importance of Integrity as a Basic Principle of Business Ethics That Contributes to Better Economic Performance ........................................................................................................... 274
Jacob Dahl Rendtorff, Roskilde University, Denmark

Chapter 17
A “Novel” Approach to the Moral Dimension of Leadership .......................................................................................................................... 289
Soma Kamal Tandon, SNDT University, India

Chapter 18
Research on Corporate Codes of Ethics and Its Application to University Honor Codes .................. 310
Kathy Hyatt, Reinhardt University, USA

Chapter 19
Integrity as a Core Value in Organizations .......................................................................................................................... 327
Gillian Griffin, Flinders University of South Australia, Australia

Section 5
Modeling Ethical Values in Management Education

Chapter 20
Rethinking Ethics Education in Business Schools in the Post-Financial Crisis Epoch: An Icelandic Perspective ........................................................................................................... 342
Vlad Vaiman, Reykjavik University, Iceland
Throstur Olaf Sigurjónsson, Reykjavik University, Iceland
Chapter 21
Nurturing Integrity in Management Education with the Development of an Alternative Web of Metaphors

Luc K. Audebrand, University of British Columbia, Canada
John W. Burton, University of British Columbia, Canada

357

Chapter 22
A Kaleidoscopic Approach to Teaching Ethical Dimensions of Leadership

Richard P. Perego, University of Dallas, USA

372

Chapter 23
Reflective Cycles and Reflexive Learning Principles: Teaching Ethics from the Learner Outward

Michael Nancarrow, International Education Research Centre at CQUniversity, Australia
Will Rifkin, University of Sydney, Australia

387

Chapter 24
Management Education for Integrity: Raising Ethical Standards in Online Management Classes

Victoria McCarthy, Austin Peay State University, USA
Robyn Hulsart, Austin Peay State University, USA

413

Section 6
Integrity in the Academic Context

Chapter 25
Building a Culture of Integrity

Jill M. Purdy, University of Washington Tacoma, USA
Joseph Lawless, University of Washington Tacoma, USA

427

Chapter 26
Understanding Plagiarism Behavior through Criterion Studies: Predictors of Actual Plagiarism

Daniel E. Martin, California State University, East Bay, USA

441

Chapter 27
Academic Dishonesty and Cheating: Proactive and Reactive Action Implications for Faculty and Students

Aditya Simha, Gonzaga University, USA
John B. Cullen, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands

473

Chapter 28
A Critical Assessment of the Oath Project

Wolfgang Amann, Goethe Business School, Germany
Shiban Khan, Consulting Services International, Germany

493
Chapter 29
Technological Approaches to Maintaining Academic Integrity in Management Education ............... 505
William Heisler, Troy University, USA
Fred Westfall, Troy University, USA
Robert Kitahara, Troy University, USA

Chapter 30
Mainstreaming Corporate Social Responsibility at the Core of the Business School Curriculum.......................................................... 531
Dima Jamali, American University of Beirut, Lebanon
Hanin Abdallah, American University of Beirut, Lebanon

Chapter 31
Responsible Management Education in Practice: The Principles and Processes for Educating Socially Responsible and World Engaged Leaders ......................... 546
Marco Tavanti, DePaul University, USA

Chapter 32
The Social Responsibility of Business Schools .................................................. 564
Mark Pruett, University of South Carolina Upstate, USA

Section 7
Cultivating Moral Principles through Education

Chapter 33
Reflections on Teaching Business Ethics.............................................................. 578
Ambika Zutshi, Deakin University, Australia
Greg Wood, Deakin University, Australia
Leanne Morris, Deakin University, Australia

Chapter 34
Innovative Methods of Teaching Integrity and Ethics in Management Education...................... 590
Peter Odrakiewicz, Poznań University College of Business, Poland & Global Partnership Management Institute, Poland

Chapter 35
How Business School Research Values Shape the Student Experience .................................. 606
Thomas F. Burgess, University of Leeds, UK
Chapter 36
Hollywood in the Classroom: A Resource for Teaching Business Ethics to Undergraduates ................................................................. 619

George W. Kester, Washington and Lee University, USA
Gregory J. Cooper, Washington and Lee University, USA
Roger A. Dean, Washington and Lee University, USA
Peter T. Gianiodis, Clemson University, USA
Michael G. Goldsby, Ball State University, USA

Compilation of References ......................................................................................................................................................... 637

About the Contributors ......................................................................................................................................................... 704

Index.................................................................................................................................................................................. 717