Table of Contents

Foreword ............................................................................................................................................ xiii

Preface ................................................................................................................................................ xvi

Section 1
Information Communication Technologies and Human Services Education

Chapter 1
Educating a Multidisciplinary Human Services Workforce: Using a Blended Approach ............... 1
  Jennifer Martin, RMIT University, Australia
  Elspeth McKay, RMIT University, Australia
  Linette Hawkins, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 2
Educational and Social Benefits of Social Network Sites: Applications to Human Services Education and Practice .................................................................................................................. 15
  Christine Greenhow, University of Minnesota, USA
  Beth Robelia, University of Minnesota, USA

Chapter 3
Collaborative Learning: Using Group Work Concepts for Online Teaching ................................ 37
  Lesley Cooper, Wilfrid Laurier University, Canada
  Sally Burford, University of Canberra, Australia

Chapter 4
Asynchronous Online Role-Plays Using a Blended Learning Design: Integrating Theory and Practice ............................................................................................................................... 53
  Belinda Johnson, RMIT University, Australia
  Kathy Douglas, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 5
Virtual Situated Learning Environments: Developing Inter-Professional Skills for the Human Services ................................................................................................................................. 72
  Sandra Jones, RMIT University, Australia
Chapter 6
Electronic Classroom, Electronic Community: Designing eLearning Environments to Foster Virtual Social Networks and Student Learning ................................................................. 87
   Lisa Harris, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 7
Creating and Sustaining Community in a Virtual World ....................................................... 105
   David P. Colachico, Azusa Pacific University, USA

Chapter 8
Building Professional Practice Education Cultures in the Online Environment ..................... 117
   Marion Brown, Dalhousie University, Canada

Chapter 9
Virtual Communication for Field Education Placements in a Global Context .......................... 133
   Linette Hawkins, RMIT University, Australia
   Supriya Patanayak, State Representative (Orissa), Department for International Development India (British High Commission)

Section 2
Information Communications Technologies and Human Services Delivery

Chapter 10
Developing Information Communication Technologies for the Human Services:
Mental Health and Employment .................................................................................................. 152
   Jennifer Martin, RMIT University, Australia
   Elspeth McKay, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 11
Practical Applications of Case Management Software for Practitioners in Health and Human Services ................................................................. 167
   Lesley Cooper, Wilfrid Laurier University, Canada
   Dana Fox, Athena Software, Canada
   Diane Stanley-Horn, Athena Software, Canada

Chapter 12
The Role of Information and Communications Technologies in Human Rights Monitoring and Advocacy ................................................................. 184
   John Lannon, Leeds Metropolitan University, UK

Chapter 13
Social Shaping of Technologies for Community Development: Redeployment of Information Communication Technologies among the Kelabit in Bario of the Kelabit Highlands ................................. 201
   Poline Bala, University Malaysia Sarawak, Malaysia
Chapter 14
Social Policy and Information Communication Technologies .......................................................... 215
   Paul Henman, The University of Queensland, Australia

Chapter 15
Knowledge Sharing Online: For Health Promotion and Community Education: e-Mavenism ....... 230
   Hyunjung Kim, State University of New York at Buffalo, USA
   Michael A. Stefanone, State University of New York at Buffalo, USA

Afterword........................................................................................................................................... 241
   Dennis Perry, Chief Information Officer, Australian Labor Party National Secretariat

Compilation of References .............................................................................................................. 247

About the Contributors ................................................................................................................... 272

Index................................................................................................................................................... 277