Table of Contents

Preface.................................................................................................................................................. xii

Acknowledgment............................................................................................................................... xvii

Section 1
Europe

Chapter 1
Mapping UK ePortfolio Developments within a European Context ............................................... 1
   Gordon Joyes, University of Nottingham, UK
   Elizabeth Hartnell-Young, University of Nottingham, UK

Chapter 2
Reflective Practice: Political Paper Tiger, Bone of Contention in the Professions, or Pedagogical
Challenge?.............................................................................................................................................. 15
   Gerd Bräuer, University of Education Freiburg, Germany
   Brady Spangenberg, Purdue University, USA

Chapter 3
Bryofolios: Individual and Group E-Portfolio Learning Spaces for Developing Authentic Science
Scholars................................................................................................................................................... 29
   Joanne Nakonechny, University of British Columbia, Canada
   Shona Ellis, University of British Columbia, Canada

Chapter 4
Implementing ePortfolios: From Pilot Project to Full Scale Implementation ................................... 41
   Igor Balaban, University of Zagreb, Croatia
   Blazenka Divjak, University of Zagreb, Croatia
   Darko Grabar, University of Zagreb, Croatia
   Bojan Zugec, University of Zagreb, Croatia

Chapter 5
ePorticulture: Growing a New Culture of Assessment ....................................................................... 56
   Kevin Kelly, Wiley Learning Institute, USA
   Ruth Cox, San Francisco State University, USA
Chapter 6
21st Century Teaching and Learning through Eportfolios: Potentials and Challenges in Teacher Education .............................................................. 70
Yi-Ping Huang, University of Maryland Baltimore County, USA

Section 2
The Developing World

Chapter 7
EPortfolio Use in Africa .................................................................................. 85
Hédia Mhiri Sellami, University of Tunis, Tunisia

Chapter 8
Can We Do Both? Eportfolios for Student Learning and Assessment: Lessons Learned at an American University .................................................................. 101
Candyce Reynolds, Portland State University, USA
Judith Patton, Portland State University, USA

Chapter 9
Electronic Portfolios for Career Exploration ................................................... 109
Gabriela Alpírez, Instituto Experimental de la Asunción, Guatemala

Chapter 10
ePortfolios: From Business School to Business Office .................................. 117
Eleanor J. Flanigan, Montclair State University, USA

Section 3
Australasia

Chapter 11
Current ePortfolio Practice in Australia ............................................................ 129
Gillian Hallam, Queensland University of Technology, Australia
Wendy Harper, Queensland University of Technology, Australia
Lynn McAllister, Queensland University of Technology, Australia

Chapter 12
ePortfolios for Higher Education: A Hong Kong Perspective ....................... 149
Dean Fisher, City University of Hong Kong, China
Hok Ling Cheung, City University of Hong Kong, China
Valerie Pickard, City University of Hong Kong, China
Yingjun Chen, City University of Hong Kong, China
Yin Fan Chan, City University of Hong Kong, China
Man Chun Wong, City University of Hong Kong, China
Chapter 13
Faculty Teaching Beliefs, ePortfolios, and Web 2.0 at the Crossroads

Gary Brown, Portland State University, USA
YoonJung Cho, Oklahoma State University, USA
Ashley Ater-Kranov, ABET, USA

Chapter 14
Ideal Design and Content of Support Systems for Electronic Teaching Portfolios

Royce Robertson, Walden University, USA

Chapter 15
Challenges and Opportunities in Developing Language E-Portfolios

Yu-Fen Yang, National Yunlin University of Science and Technology, Taiwan
Hui-Chin Yeh, National Yunlin University of Science and Technology, Taiwan

Compilation of References

Related References

About the Contributors

Index