Table of Contents

Foreword .............................................................................................................................................. xii

Preface ................................................................................................................................................ xiv

Acknowledgment ................................................................................................................................ xix

Section 1
Transnational Distance Learning Opportunities

Chapter 1
Succeeding in Transnational Distance Learning .................................................................................. 1
Robert Hogan, University of the South Pacific, Fiji

Chapter 2
The Why and How of Transnational Teaching: A University of South Africa Perspective .............. 19
Narend Baijnath, University of South Africa, South Africa

Chapter 3
Open and Distance Learning in Asia: A Case Study .......................................................................... 40
Tian Belawati, Universitas Terbuka, Indonesia
Udan Kusmawan, Universitas Terbuka, Indonesia
Suci M. Isman, Universitas Terbuka, Indonesia

Chapter 4
Distance Learning Challenges Facing Two World Regional Universities ........................................ 51
Sandra Sookram, University of the West Indies, Trinidad and Tobago
Robert Hogan, University of the South Pacific, Fiji
Chapter 5
Transnational Distance Learning: A Student Perspective ................................................................. 68
Awnesh Singh, University of Toulouse, France
Glen Cochrane, Athabasca University, Canada
Zeynep Uyar, Middle East Technical University, Cyprus
Chetan More, Jaipuria Institute of Management, India
Joseph Scarcella, Luzerne Community College, USA
Kento Yoshida, Suzuka National College of Technology, Japan
Jalal Mohammed, Fiji National University, Fiji

Section 2
Transnational Distance Learning: University and Student Issues

Chapter 6
Online Student Incivility: What It Is and How to Manage It .............................................................. 87
Renate W. Prescott, Kent State University at Geauga, USA

Chapter 7
Teaching Arabic Online: Methods to Interact with and Engage Students ..................................... 106
Arifa Garman, Gulf Coast State College, USA

Chapter 8
Internationalization of Indian Higher Education ............................................................................ 126
Sunil Kumar, Indira Gandhi National Open University, India

Chapter 9
Distance Learning in the Pacific: A Case Study of American Samoa ............................................ 143
Deborah Zuercher, University of Hawaii at Manoa, USA
Jon Yoshioka, University of Hawaii at Manoa, USA

Chapter 10
Open Educational Resources and the Impact of MERLOT on Transnational Education .................. 161
Lynn Aaron, SUNY Rockland Community College, USA
Laura Franklin, Northern Virginia Community College, USA
Jeanne P. Sewell, Georgia College and State University, USA
Section 3
Transnational Distance-Learning Online Resources and Benefits

Chapter 11
Using Alternative Technologies for Teacher Training in Developing Countries
Victoria L. Frank, Seward Incorporated, USA

Chapter 12
Teaching Teachers: The Biggest Educational Challenge in Sub-Saharan Africa
Bob Moon, The Open University, UK

Chapter 13
Developing Cultural Competency in Engineering through Transnational Distance Learning
Stephanie Moore, University of Virginia, USA
Dominik May, TU Dortmund University, Germany
Kari Wold, University of Virginia, USA

Chapter 14
Globalization of Higher Education: An Indian Perspective
Suresh K. Chauhan, Jaipuria Institute of Management Noida, India
Silima Nanda, Indira Gandhi Open University, India
Jagdish Arora, INFLIBNET, India

Chapter 15
The Pacific Open Learning Health Net: Providing Health Education in the Pacific
Steven Baxendale, World Health Organization, Fiji

Section 4
How to be a Successful University in the Global Distance-Learning Market

Chapter 16
How to be a Transnational Distance Learning Winner
Robert Hogan, University of the South Pacific, Fiji

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index