Table of Contents

Preface.................................................................................................................................................. xi

Chapter 1
The Use of Structuration Theory and Actor Network Theory for Analysis:
Case Study of a Financial Institution in South Africa........................................................................... 1
  Tiko Iyamu, Tshwane University of Technology, South Africa
  Dewald Roode, University of Cape Town, South Africa

Chapter 2
Information Infrastructure: An Actor-Network Perspective ............................................................... 20
  Antonio Cordella, London School of Economics, UK

Chapter 3
Adoption of ICT in Rural Medical General Practices in Australia: An Actor-Network Study .......... 40
  Patricia Deering, National Health Workforce Task Force, Australia
  Arthur Tatnall, Victoria University, Australia
  Stephen Burgess, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter 4
Having a Say: Voices for all the Actors in ANT Research? ............................................................... 52
  Mary Anne Kennan, Charles Sturt University, Australia
  Dubravka Cecez-Kecmanovic, University of New South Wales, Australia
  Jim Underwood, University of Technology Sydney, Australia

Chapter 5
A Socio-Technical Account of an Internet-Based Self-Service Technology Implementation:
Why Call-Centres Sometimes ‘Prevail’ in a Multi-Channel Context? .................................................. 68
  Rennie Naidoo, University of the Witwatersrand, South Africa

Chapter 6
How to Recognize an Immutable Mobile When You Find One: Translations on Innovation and Design .......................................................................................................................... 92
  Fernando Abreu Gonçalves, CEG-IST, Portugal
  José Figueiredo, Technical University of Lisbon, Instituto Superior Técnico, Portugal
Chapter 7
Social Network Sites: The Science of Building and Maintaining Online Communities, a Perspective from Actor-Network Theory .......................................................... 107
  Nisrine Zammar, Université Haute Bretagne, Rennes 2, France

Chapter 8
Negotiating Meaning: An ANT Approach to the Building of Innovations .................. 117
  Fernando Abreu Gonçalves, Technical University of Lisbon, Portugal
  José Figueiredo, Technical University of Lisbon, Portugal

Chapter 9
Theoretical Analysis of Strategic Implementation of Enterprise Architecture ................. 132
  Tiko Iyamu, Tshwane University of Technology, South Africa

Chapter 10
RAD and Other Innovative Approaches to Facilitate Superior Project Management .......... 149
  Rajeev K Bali, Coventry University, UK
  Nilmini Wickramasinghe, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 11
Desituating Context in Ubiquitous Computing: Exploring Strategies for the Use of Remote Diagnostic Systems for Maintenance Work .................................................. 156
  Katrin Jonsson, Umeå University, Sweden
  Jonny Holmström, Umeå University, Sweden
  Kalle Lyytinen, Case Western Reserve University, USA
  Agneta Nilsson, Umeå University and Gothenburg University, Sweden

Chapter 12
Negotiating the Socio-Material in and about Information Systems: An Approach to Native Methods .......................................................... 173
  Fletcher T. H. Cole, University of New South Wales, Australia

Chapter 13
On Actors, Networks, Hybrids, Black Boxes and Contesting Programming Languages .......... 183
  Arthur Tatnall, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter 14
From Intermediary to Mediator and Vice Versa: On Agency and Intentionality of a Mundane Sociotechnical System .......................................................... 195
  Antonio Diaz Andrade, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand