Intelligent Support Systems:
Knowledge Management

Table of Contents

Foreword ............................................................................................................ vii
Vijayan Sugumaran
Oakland University, USA

Preface .................................................................................................................. x

Chapter 1. Intelligent Agents and the World Wide Web: Fact or Fiction? .............................................................. 1
Sudha Ram, University of Arizona, USA

Chapter 2. Comparing U.S. and Japanese Companies on Competitive Intelligence, IS Support and Business Change ....................................... 4
Tor Guimaraes, Tennessee Technological University, USA
Osamu Sato, Tokyo Keizai University, Japan
Hideaki Kitanaka, Takushoku University, Japan

Yogesh Malhotra, @Brint.com and Syracuse University, USA

Chapter 4. Knowledge-Based Systems as Database Design Tools: A Comparative Study ............................................................... 43
W. Amber Lo, Millersville University and Knowledge-Based Systems, Inc., USA
Joobin Choobineh, Texas A&M University, USA

Chapter 5. Policy-Agents to Support CSCW in the Case of Hospital-Scheduling ............................................................................... 72
Hans Czap, University of Trier, Germany
Chapter 6. Building an Agent: By Example ................................................. 84
Paul Darbyshire, Victoria University of Technology, Australia

Chapter 7. Intelligent Agents in a Trust Environment ......................... 98
Rahul Singh, University of North Carolina, Greensboro, USA
Mark A. Gill, Arizona State University, USA

Chapter 8. A Case Study on Forecasting of the Return of Scrapped
Products through Simulation and Fuzzy Reasoning ......................... 109
Jorge Marx-Gómez and Claus Rautenstrauch
Otto-von-Guericke-University, Magdeburg, Germany

Chapter 9. Newshound Revisited: The Intelligent Agent That Retrieves
News Postings .......................................................................................... 124
Jeffrey L. Goldberg, Analytic Services Inc. (ANSE), USA
Shijun S. Shen, Tygart Technology, Inc., USA

Chapter 10. Investigation into Factors That Influence the Use of the Web in Knowledge-Intensive Environments ........................................... 135
Yong Jin Kim and H. Raghav Rao, SUNY at Buffalo, USA
Abhijit Chaudhury, Bryant College, USA

Chapter 11. A Study of Web Users’ Waiting Time .................................. 145
Fiona Fui-Hoon Nah, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, USA

Chapter 12. Stickiness: Implications for Web-Based Customer Loyalty
Efforts......................................................................................................... 153
Supawadee Ingsriswang and Guisseppi Forgionne
University of Maryland, Baltimore, USA

Chapter 13. “Not” is Not “Not” Comparisons of Negation in SQL and Negation in Logic Programming ............................................................ 164
James D. Jones, University of Arkansas at Little Rock, USA

Chapter 14. Knowledge Management and New Organization Forms: A Framework for Business Model Innovation ........................................ 177
Yogesh Malhotra, @Brint.com, L.L.C. and Florida Atlantic University, USA

Chapter 15. Implementing Virtual Organizing in Business Networks: A Method of Inter-Business Networking ................................................ 200
Roland Klueber, Rainer Alt and Hubert Osterle
University of St. Gallen, Switzerland
Chapter 16. Managing Knowledge for Strategic Advantage in the Virtual Organization .................................................................225
   Janice M. Burn and Colin Ash, Edith Cowan University, Australia

Chapter 17. Virtual Organizations That Cooperate and Compete: Managing the Risks of Knowledge Exchange.................................248
   Claudia Loebbecke, Copenhagen Business School, Denmark
   Paul C. van Fenema, Erasmus University, The Netherlands

Chapter 18. Becoming Knowledge-Powered: Planning the Transformation .............................................................................................274
   Dave Pollard, Ernst & Young, Canada

About the Editor ..................................................................................................................................................................................296

Index ..................................................................................................................................................................................................297