Table of Contents

Preface .................................................................................................................................................... xvii

Section 1
CALL Literatures

Chapter 1
Moving Forward: Anecdotes and Evidence Guiding the Next Generation of CALL .................. 1
  Joy Egbert, Washington State University, USA
  Omran Akasha, Washington State University, USA
  Leslie Huff, Hokkaido University, Japan
  HyunGyung Lee, Washington State University, USA

Chapter 2
The History of CALL: The Intertwining Paths of Technology and Second/Foreign Language Teaching .............................................................................................................................................. 16
  Mary Ellen Butler-Pascoe, Alliant International University, USA

Chapter 3
Normalisation Revisited: The Effective Use of Technology in Language Education .................. 35
  Stephen Bax, University of Bedfordshire, UK

Chapter 4
A Review of CALL and L2 Reading: Glossing for Comprehension and Acquisition ............... 50
  Lance R. Askildson, University of Notre Dame, USA

Section 2
Online Learning

Chapter 5
Online Approaches to Learning Vocabulary: Teacher-Centred or Learner-Centred? ............ 63
  Glenn Stockwell, Waseda University, Japan
Chapter 6
Towards a More Naturalistic CALL: Video Gaming and Language Learning
Phil Benson, Hong Kong Institute of Education, Hong Kong
Alice Chik, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong

Chapter 7
The Nature of ‘Talk’ in Synchronous Computer-Mediated Communication in a Vietnamese Tertiary
EFL Context
Long V. Nguyen, University of Danang, Vietnam
Cynthia White, Massey University, New Zealand

Chapter 8
An Exploratory Study of the Effects of Extended Online Thematic Listening Tasks on the Development of Listening Comprehension
Yu-Chih Sun, National Chiao Tung University, Taiwan
Wen-Li Chang, National Chung Hsing University, Taiwan
Fang-Ying Yang, National Chiao Tung University, Taiwan

Chapter 9
Online Interaction Between On-Campus and Distance Students: Learners’ Perspectives
Nobue Miwa, Griffith University, Australia
Yuping Wang, Griffith University, Australia

Chapter 10
Developing Intercultural Awareness and Language Speaking Proficiency for Foreign Language
Learners through Cross–Cultural Voicemail Exchange
Amber Yayin Wang, National Taichung University of Education, Taiwan
Wan-Jeng Chang, The Overseas Chinese University, Taiwan

Section 3
Web 2.0 Technologies

Chapter 11
How Wiki-Based Writing Influences College Students’ Collaborative and Individual Composing Products, Processes, and Learners’ Perceptions
Hsien-Chin Liou, National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan
Shiu-Lin Lee, National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan

Chapter 12
Integrating Online Tools to Motivate Young English Language Learners to Practice English Outside the Classroom
Shelly Sanchez Terrell, Parentella, Germany
Chapter 13
ESAP Students’ Perceptions of Skills Learning in Computer-Mediated Intercultural Collaboration ................................................................. 193

Rachel Lindner, Munich University, Germany

Chapter 14
Interactive Learning Between Chinese Students Learning English and English Students Learning Chinese on the Platform of Wiki................................................................. 212

Dongshuo Wang, University of Manchester, UK
Bin Zou, Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University, China
Minjie Xing, University of Manchester, UK

Section 4
Teacher Education

Chapter 15
Integrating Technology on Initial Training Courses: A Survey Amongst CELTA Tutors .................. 230

Marisa Constantinides, CELT Athens, Greece

Chapter 16
Teachers Acquisition of CALL Expertise .............................................................................. 246

Steven Sharp, University of Maryland, College Park, USA

Chapter 17
“You’re a Winner”: An Exploratory Study of the Influence of Exposure on Teachers’ Awareness of Media Literacy ................................................................. 263

J. Egbert, Washington State University - Pullman, USA
Leslie Huff, Saint Martin’s University, USA

Section 5
Courseware Design

Chapter 18
Teaching Students to Use Text-Profilers: A Needs-Based Approach to Tertiary Level English Vocabulary Instruction ................................................................. 281

Ingrid Barth, The Open University of Israel, Israel
Esther Klein-Wohl, The Open University of Israel, Israel

Chapter 19
Developing Business CAT Teaching System and Course for Chinese Universities .................. 295

Lifei Wang, University of International Business and Economics, China
Jianling Wan, University of International Business and Economics, China
Section 6
Mobile Learning

Chapter 20
Do Students Wish to ‘Go Mobile’? An Investigation into Student Use of PCs and Cell Phones...... 306
Simon Bibby, University of Manchester, UK

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................ 318

About the Contributors .................................................................................................................... 348

Index................................................................................................................................................ 353