Table of Contents

Preface ................................................................................................................................. xviii

Acknowledgment ................................................................................................................ xx

Section 1
Networking and Learning Communities

Chapter 1
Making Connections: How Students Use Social Media to Create Personal Learning Networks ................................................................. 1

Sharon Stoerger, University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee, USA

Chapter 2
Creating an Emotionally Resilient Virtual and On-Campus Student Community at K-State through the University Life Café: A Case Study about Understanding the Users of a Socio-Technical Space ........................................................... 19

Shalin Hai-Jew, Kansas State University, USA

Chapter 3
Connecting First Year Students to Formal and Informal Learning Experiences ...................................................................................... 51

Melissa L. Johnson, University of Florida, USA
Laura A. Pasquini, University of North Texas, USA
Michelle R. Rodems, University of Louisville, USA

Chapter 4
Social Media Encourages Sense of Belonging among Off-Campus University Students ................................................................................. 68

Kine Dorum, University of Leicester, UK
Craig Bartle, University of Leicester, UK
Martin Pennington, University of Leicester, UK
Chapter 5
e-Bridge to Mobility: A Non-Formal Online Learning European Platform ........ 81
Maria Elena Aramendia-Muneta, Universidad Pública de Navarra, Spain
Juan Ramón Galarza-Lanz, Interbabel S.L., Spain
Marta Mañas-Larraz, Iturbrok S.L., Spain

Chapter 6
Informal Online Learning through the Mediterranean Youth Technology Club:
Think Global, Act Local, Bring Change into a World to Rearrange.................. 101
Nikleia Eteokleous-Grigoriou, Frederick University, Cyprus

Chapter 7
Oral Synchronous Computer-Mediated Communication between SL Students:
A Learning Circle Approach .............................................................................. 124
Sergi Roura Planas, iEARN-Pangea, Spain & University of Girona, Spain

Section 2
Professional and Disciplinary Implementations

Chapter 8
Blending Storytelling with Technology in the Professional Development of Police Officers.................................................................................................... 143
Kenneth H. Anderson, York University, Canada
William D. Muirhead, University of Ontario Institute of Technology, Canada

Chapter 9
Homeschooling Meets Virtual Schools: Students and Parent Perceptions of Online Mathematics Classes.............................................................................. 166
S. Nihan ER, Ohio University, USA

Chapter 10
Integrative Language and Culture Learning: Connecting Formal and Non-Formal
Learning in Virtual Language Studies ............................................................... 185
Pete Smith, University of Texas Arlington, USA
Jan Marston, Drake University, USA
Chapter 11
Interactive Trivia of Laws of the Game as a Resource for Training FIFA Football Referees

Manuel Armenteros, University Carlos III of Madrid, Spain
Anto J. Benítez, University Carlos III of Madrid, Spain
Diana-Gabriela Curca, University Carlos III of Madrid, Spain

Chapter 12
The Development and Assessment of e-Learning Content to Enhance Information Literacy of Parents and Children in Japan

Nagayuki Saito, Aoyama Gakuin University, Japan
Ema Tanaka, Waseda University, Japan
Eri Yatsuzuka, Mirai Factory, Japan

Section 3
Pedagogical Design and Implications

Chapter 13
Museum without Walls: Digital Technology and Contextual Learning in the Museum Environment

Kevin Hsieh, Georgia State University, USA

Chapter 14
Participatory Architecture: Web 2.0 Education in the Uganda National Museum

Mary Leigh Morbey, York University, Canada
Lourdes Villamor, George Brown College, Canada
Maureen Muvanga Senoga, Kyambogo University, Uganda
Jane A. Griffith, York University, Canada

Chapter 15
How Can the Media Competence of Students in University Learning Settings be Developed and Fostered? A Case of Learning by Designing

Annika Maschwitz, Carl von Ossietzky Universität Oldenburg, Germany
Sebastian Vogt, Carl von Ossietzky Universität Oldenburg, Germany
Anke Hanft, Carl von Ossietzky Universität Oldenburg, Germany
Olaf Zawacki-Richter, Carl von Ossietzky Universität Oldenburg, Germany
Chapter 16
E-Learning and Web 2.0 Case Study: The Role of Gender in Contemporary Models of Health Care Leadership ............................................................... 292

Ann M. York, Des Moines University, USA
F. R. “Fritz” Nordengren, Des Moines University, USA

Chapter 17
Designing a New Performing Arts Education through Constructing a Global Theatre ............................................................................................................ 314

Goki Miyakita, Keio University, Japan
Yumiko Murai, Columbia University, USA
Takashi Tomine, Keio University, Japan
Keiko Okawa, Keio University, Japan

Chapter 18
Formal, Non-Formal, and Informal E-Learning Experiences with Emerging Technologies: A Case Study of a Graduate Educational Technology Program ............................................................................................................. 337

Betül Czerkawski, University of Arizona South, USA
Jessica Nadine Hernández, FDA, USA

Chapter 19
Twitter Chat as an Informal Learning Tool: A Case Study using #sachat ........ 356

Kevin R. Guidry, Indiana University, USA
Laura A. Pasquini, University of North Texas, USA

Compilation of References .............................................................................. 378

About the Contributors ................................................................................... 415

Index .................................................................................................................. 428