Table of Contents

Preface ............................................................................................................................................ xvi

Acknowledgment .................................................................................................................................... xxvi

Section 1
Concepts and Theories

Chapter 1
Transculturality .................................................................................................................................... 1
Jean Francois Emmanuel, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, USA

Chapter 2
A Traditional African Perspective of Blended Learning ........................................................................... 15
Mejai B. M. Avoseh, University of South Dakota, USA
Olugbenga Ahimbola Fayomi, Obafemi Awolowo University, Nigeria
Bolanle Clara Simeon-Fayomi, Obafemi Awolowo University, Nigeria

Section 2
Transcultural Students’ Ways of Knowing

Chapter 3
How Cultural and Learning Style Differences Impact Students’ Learning Preferences in Blended Learning ................................................................................................................................. 30
Dirk T. Tempelaar, Maastricht University, The Netherlands
Bart Rienties, University of Surrey, UK
Bas Giesbers, Maastricht University, The Netherlands
Sybrand Schim van der Loeff, Maastricht University, The Netherlands

Chapter 4
Exploring Hofstede’s Cultural Dimension Using Hollins’ Structured Dialogue to Attain a Conduit for Effective Intercultural Experiences ......................................................................................................................... 52
Angela Owusu-Ansah, Elon University, USA
Chapter 5
Cyborg in the Village: Culturally Embedded Resistances to Blended Teaching and Learning .......... 75
    G’han Ruth Singh, Springfield College, USA

Section 3
Curriculum Design in a Diverse World

Chapter 6
Not Just in Theory: Practical Aspects of Transcultural Blended Learning and Teaching
Curriculum Design .......................................................................................................................... 92
    Orly Sela, Oranim Academic College of Education, Israel

Chapter 7
Blended Learning Design and Teaching Strategies: Case of the Program Planning Course .......... 110
    Peggy Hui-Chuan Wei, National Chung Cheng University, Taiwan
    Chin-Yun Huang, National Chiayi University, Taiwan

Section 4
Technology and Global Education

Chapter 8
Transformative Learning and Educational Technology Integration in a Post-Totalitarian Context:
Professional Development among School Teachers in Rural Siberia, Russia .................. 128
    Wendy Griswold, Kansas State University, USA

Chapter 9
A Critical Perspective on the Challenges for Blended Learning and Teaching in Africa’s Higher
Education ....................................................................................................................................... 145
    Alfred T. Kisubi, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, USA

Section 5
Cross-Cultural Instructional Strategies

Chapter 10
Educational Technology and Instructional Design in Synchronous Blended Learning
Environments .................................................................................................................................. 170
    Sandra Y. Okita, Columbia University, USA

Chapter 11
Facilitating Learning with Adult Students in the Transcultural Classroom ............................ 193
    Gerald E. Thomas, Springfield College, USA
Chapter 12
Crossing into the Dreamtime: Evaluating the Benefits of Weblogs as a Blended Learning Tool for University Students to Teach Elementary School Students about Australian Culture

Courtney Bauder, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, USA
John Thompson, Schultz Elementary School in Mishicot, USA

Chapter 13
Innovative Approaches in Project Management Blended Education: A Case Study on Introducing Agent-Based Simulation in a Master Degree Program

Constanta Nicoleta Bodea, Academy of Economic Studies, Romania
Corneliu Alexandru Bodea, Carnegie Mellon University, USA
Augustin Purnus, Technical University of Civil Engineering, Romania
Ruxandra-Ileana Badea, Academy of Economic Studies, Romania

Section 6
Leadership, Management, and Administration Beyond Borders

Chapter 14
The Blended Learning Initiative: A University-Wide Program to Develop, Deliver, and Assess Blended Courses

Suzanne Weinstein, Pennsylvania State University, USA
Karen Pollack, Pennsylvania State University, USA
Ike Shibley, Pennsylvania State University, USA
Vicki S. Williams, Pennsylvania State University, USA
Shao-Wei Wu, York College, CUNY, USA
Yu-Hui Ching, Boise State University, USA

Chapter 15
Blended Learning: The Road to Inclusive and Global Education

Natasha Boskic, The University of British Columbia, Canada
Sharon Hu, The University of British Columbia, Canada

Section 7
Evaluation, Assessment, and Quality in Cross-Cultural Contexts

Chapter 16
Blended Learning in the Campus-Based University: A Case Study Exploring the Student Experience of Technology for Enhancing Learning

Amanda Jefferies, University of Hertfordshire, UK
Chapter 17
Quality Matters in Transcultural Blended Learning and Teaching in Postsecondary Education: A Conceptual Framework
Emmanuel Jean Francois, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, USA

Section 8
Current and Emerging Trends in Blended Learning and Teaching

Chapter 18
Intercultural Issues in Graduate Blended Learning Environments
L. Hyatt, University of La Verne, USA
Laurie Schroeder, University of La Verne, USA
Adonay A. Montes, University of La Verne, USA

Chapter 19
Current and Emerging Trends in Transcultural Blended Learning and Teaching
Emmanuel Jean Francois, University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, USA

Compilation of References

About the Contributors

Index