Table of Contents

Preface..................................................................................................................................................xiii

Chapter 1
Performativity in Practice: An Actor-Network Account of Professional Teaching Standards .............. 1
   Dianne Mulcahy, The University of Melbourne, Australia

Chapter 2
(Un)Locating Learning: Agents of Change in Case-Based Learning .................................................. 17
   Michael Tscholl, University of Cambridge, UK
   Uma Patel, City University London, UK
   Patrick Carmichael, Liverpool John Moores University, UK

Chapter 3
Complexifying the ‘Visualised’ Curriculum with Actor-Network Theory ........................................... 31
   Sue De Vincentis, Deakin University, Australia

Chapter 4
Knowledge in Networks: Knowing in Transactions? ............................................................................. 46
   Sanna Rimpiläinen, University of Stirling, UK

Chapter 5
Performing Actor-Network Theory in the Post-Secondary Classroom ................................................ 57
   Andrea Quinlan, York University, Canada
   Elizabeth Quinlan, University of Saskatchewan, Canada
   Desiree Nelson, University of Saskatchewan, Canada

Chapter 6
A Petri Net Model for Analysing E-Learning and Learning Difficulties ............................................. 67
   Tas Adam, Victoria University, Australia
Chapter 7
Deconstructing Professionalism: An Actor-Network Critique of Professional Standards for Teachers in the UK Lifelong Learning Sector ................................................................. 78
  Jonathan Tummons, Teesside University, UK

Chapter 8
Knowledge Conversion Processes in Thai Public Organisations Seen as an Innovation: The Re-Analysis of a TAM Study Using Innovation Translation ......................................................... 88
  Puripat Charnkit, Victoria University, Australia
  Arthur Tatnall, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter 9
Applying Hermeneutic Phenomenology to Understand Innovation Adoption ................................ 103
  Stasys Lukaitis, RMIT University, Australia

Chapter 10
  Fabian Muniesa, Mines ParisTech, Centre de Sociologie de l’Innovation, France

Chapter 11
Making Information Systems Material through Blackboxing: Allies, Translation and Due Process ................................................................. 133
  Jim Underwood, University of Technology, Sydney, Australia
  Edin Tabak, Curtin University of Technology, Australia

Chapter 12
Institutionalisation of the Enterprise Architecture: The Actor-Network Perspective .......................... 144
  Tiko Iyamu, Tshwane University of Technology, South Africa

Chapter 13
Actor-Network-Theory in Medical E-Communication: The Role of Websites in Creating and Maintaining Healthcare Corporate Online Identity ................................................................. 156
  Magdalena Bielenia-Grajewska, University of Gdansk, Poland

Chapter 14
Opening the Black Box of Leadership in the Successful Development of Local E-Government Initiative in a Developing Country ................................................................. 173
  Johanes Eka Priyatma, Sanata Dharma University, Indonesia
  Zainal Abidin Mohamed, Universiti Putra, Malaysia
Chapter 15
Mediated Action and Network of Actors: From Ladders, Stairs and Lifts to Escalators (and Travelators) .......................................................................................................................... 193

Antonio Díaz Andrade, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand, & Universidad ESAN, Peru
Samuel Ekundayo, Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand

Chapter 16
A Socio-Technical Study of the Adoption of Internet Technology in Banking, Re-Interpreted as an Innovation Using Innovation Translation .............................................................................. 207

Salim Al-Hajri, Higher College of Technology, Oman
Arthur Tatnall, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter 17
Emerging Standardization .................................................................................................................. 221

Antonio Cordella, London School of Economics and Political Science, UK

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................. 238

About the Contributors ................................................................................................................... 266

Index ............................................................................................................................................. 272