Preface

Section 1
Software Development Process

Chapter 1
Secure by Design: Developing Secure Software Systems from the Ground Up
Haralambos Mouratidis, University of East London, UK
Miao Kang, Powerchex Ltd., UK

Chapter 2
Security Evaluation of Service-Oriented Systems Using the SiSOA Method
Christian Jung, Fraunhofer Institute for Experimental Software Engineering, Germany
Manuel Rudolph, Fraunhofer Institute for Experimental Software Engineering, Germany
Reinhard Schwarz, Fraunhofer Institute for Experimental Software Engineering, Germany

Chapter 3
Eliciting Policy Requirements for Critical National Infrastructure Using the IRIS Framework
Shamal Faily, University of Oxford, UK
Ivan Fléchais, University of Oxford, UK

Chapter 4
Organizational Patterns for Security and Dependability: From Design to Application
Yudis Asnar, University of Trento, Italy
Fabio Massacci, University of Trento, Italy
Ayda Saidane, University of Trento, Italy
Carlo Riccucci, Engineering Ingegneria Informatica S.p.A, Italy
Massimo Felici, Deep Blue, Italy
Alessandra Tedeschi, Deep Blue, Italy
Paul El-Khoury, SAP Research, France
Keqin Li, SAP Research, France
Magali Séguran, SAP Research, France
Nicola Zannone, Eindhoven University of Technology, The Netherlands
Chapter 5
Not Ready for Prime Time: A Survey on Security in Model Driven Development ....................... 77
  Jostein Jensen, Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Norway
  Martin Gilje Jaatun, SINTEF, Norway

Chapter 6
Security Gaps in Databases: A Comparison of Alternative Software Products for Web Applications Support.......................................................................................................................... 91
  Afonso Araújo Neto, University of Coimbra, Portugal
  Marco Vieira, University of Coimbra, Portugal

Section 2
Formal Techniques and Tools

Chapter 7
Using Executable Slicing to Improve Rogue Software Detection Algorithms .......................... 113
  Jan Durand, Louisiana Tech University, USA
  Juan Flores, Louisiana Tech University, USA
  Nicholas Kraft, University of Alabama, USA
  Randy Smith, University of Alabama, USA
  Travis Atkison, Louisiana Tech University, USA

Chapter 8
Ell Secure Information System Using Modal Logic Technique ................................................. 125
  Yun Bai, University of Western Sydney, Australia
  Khaled M. Khan, Qatar University, Qatar

Chapter 9
A Formal Language for XML Authorisations Based on Answer Set Programming and Temporal Interval Logic Constraints........................................................................................................ 138
  Sean Policarpio, University of Western Sydney, Australia
  Yan Zhang, University of Western Sydney, Australia

Chapter 10
Building Secure Software Using XP .......................................................................................... 161
  Walid Al-Ahmad, King Saud University, Saudi Arabia
Section 3
Standard Security Functions

Chapter 11
Analysis of ANSI RBAC Support in EJB ................................................................. 177
  Wesam Darwish, The University of British Columbia, Canada
  Konstantin Beznosov, The University of British Columbia, Canada

Chapter 12
Performance Evaluation of Secure Key Deployment and Exchange Protocol for MANETs ........ 205
  Alastair Nisbet, Massey University, New Zealand
  M. A. Rashid, Massey University, New Zealand

Chapter 13
JavaSPI: A Framework for Security Protocol Implementation ........................................ 225
  Matteo Avalle, Politecnico di Torino, Italy
  Alfredo Pironti, INRIA, France
  Davide Pozza, Teoresi Group, Italy
  Riccardo Sisto, Politecnico di Torino, Italy

Chapter 14
A Systematic Empirical Analysis of Forging Fingerprints to Fool Biometric Systems ................ 240
  Christian Schwarzl, Vienna University of Technology and SBA Research, Austria
  Edgar Weippl, Vienna University of Technology and SBA Research, Austria

Chapter 15
Integrating Patient Consent in e-Health Access Control .................................................. 285
  Kim Wuyts, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium
  Riccardo Scandariato, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium
  Griet Verhenneman, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium
  Wouter Joosen, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium
