My deepest appreciation to all those who contributed to this book throughout its different stages of preparation. In particular, I would like to thank the IGI Global team for their continuous and efficient administrative support: Hannah Abelbeck, Austin DeMarco, Jan Travers, and Erika Carter under the leadership of Mehdi Khoshrow-Pour.

Special recognition is in order to the authors who dedicated—with passion—precious time to share their cases, research, and findings in the chapters of the book, and furthermore, who tolerated the requested corrections to improve the quality of the material. In my opinion, generosity with knowledge is the utmost one could give. I would also like to acknowledge the authors who allocated additional time and effort to review manuscripts in the double-blind review process. Appreciation also goes to all reviewers who provided constructive and helpful input that definitely enriched the book’s content.

In addition, I cannot overlook the guidance extended to me by Dr. Sherif Kamel, who was kind enough to share his previous experience in producing similar projects.

Warm gratitude goes to my father for his sincere prayers and encouragement, and to my dear friend Ola for caring, as a friend would. My beloved husband and best friend, Ahmed, my son, Nabil, and my daughter, Farah, kept pushing and helping me throughout this demanding project until it materialised, so thank you wholeheartedly. Without you I couldn’t have gotten there.

Nahed Amin Azab
American University in Cairo, Egypt