Table of Contents

Foreword .................................................................................................................................................. xx

Preface .................................................................................................................................................. xxii

Acknowledgment ................................................................................................................................... xxx

Section 1

Evolutionary Preconditions and Philosophical Underpinnings of Customer-Centric Strategies

Chapter 1
Developments in Studies on the Relationship between Firm and Consumer: A Structurationist View .................................................................................................................................................. 1

Gianpaolo Basile, University of Salerno, Italy

Chapter 2
Consumer Ethnocentrism: Possibilities for Marketing Implication Improvements .......................... 17

Marija Čutura, University of Mostar, Bosnia and Herzegovina

Chapter 3
Legal Issues to be Considered before Setting in Force Consumer-Centric Marketing Strategies within the European Union ............................................................................................................. 36

Eleni Tzoulia, Ruprecht-Karls University of Heidelberg, Germany

Chapter 4
Do Market Orientation and Innovation Improve Organizational Performance? An International and Comparative Review of the Effects .................................................................................................. 57

Valter Afonso Vieira, Maringá State University, Brazil
Section 2
Customer Knowledge Management (CKM) as a Customer-Centric Marketing Strategy: Conceptual Frameworks and Critical Success Factors as Antecedents of Financial and Marketing Performance

Chapter 5
How Customer Knowledge Management is Becoming a Dominant Industry Trait ........................................ 77
A. F. Wazir Ahmad, City University, Bangladesh
Mohammad Muzahid Akbar, Independent University, Bangladesh

Chapter 6
CKM and Its Influence on Organizational Marketing Performance: Proposing an Integrated Conceptual Framework .................................................................................................................. 103
Mohammad Fateh Ali Khan Panni, City University, Bangladesh

Chapter 7
The Strategic Importance of Data Mining Analysis for Customer-Centric Marketing Strategies ...... 126
Valerio Veglio, University of Milano-Bicocca, Italy

Section 3
Relationship Marketing (RM) and Customer Relationship Management (CRM) as Customer-Centric Marketing Strategies: Conceptual Frameworks and Critical Success Factors as Antecedents of Financial and Marketing Performance

Chapter 8
Customer Relationship Management (CRM): A One-Size-Fits-All Philosophy? ........................................ 150
Myria Ioannou, European University Cyprus, Cyprus

Chapter 9
Relationship Quality in Services: Past, Present, and Future ........................................................................... 171
Pinelopi Athanasopoulou, University of Peloponnese, Greece

Chapter 10
Bank-SME Relationships: ‘Poked’ by the Recent Changes in the Economic and Technological Environment .......................................................................................................................... 191
Myria Ioannou, European University Cyprus, Cyprus
Simona Mihai-Yiannaki, European University Cyprus, Cyprus

Chapter 11
Implications of Relationship Marketing Indicators to Enable Organizational Growth: A Stakeholder Causal Scope Analysis ............................................................................................................. 214
S. M. Riad Shams, Central Queensland University, Australia
Chapter 12
Stakeholder Causal Scope Centric Market Positioning: Implications of Relationship Marketing Indicators............................................................................................................................................. 245
S. M. Riad Shams, Central Queensland University, Australia

Section 4
E-Relationships: Innovative Relationship Building

Chapter 13
Virtual Communities in Marketing Processes: A Marketing Framework................................. 265
Alessia D’Andrea, IRPPS-CNR, Italy
Fernando Ferri, IRPPS-CNR, Italy
Patrizia Grifoni, IRPPS-CNR, Italy

Chapter 14
Social Software Platforms as Motor of Relationship Marketing in Services: A Conceptual Framework with Focus on the Airport Industry ................................................................. 280
Marion Tenge, University of Latvia, Latvia & University of Applied Sciences Kufstein, Austria

Chapter 15
Consumer-Centric Marketing Strategies: Social Networks as Innovative Tools for Consumer Relationship Management ................................................................. 297
Loredana Di Pietro, University of Molise, Italy
Eleonora Pantano, University of Calabria, Italy

Chapter 16
Customer-Centric Marketing Strategies: The Importance and Measurement of Customer Satisfaction – Offline vs. Online................................................................. 315
Elsa Serpico, University of Tuscia Viterbo, Italy
Barbara Aquilani, University of Tuscia Viterbo, Italy
Alessandro Ruggieri, University of Tuscia Viterbo, Italy
Cecilia Silvestri, University of Tuscia Viterbo, Italy

Section 5
Cause-Related Marketing as a Customer-Centric Marketing Strategy: Theoretical Frameworks and Critical Success Factors as Antecedents of Financial and Marketing Performance

Chapter 17
Critical Success Factors of Cause-Related Marketing ................................................................. 359
Ioanna Papasolomou, University of Nicosia, Cyprus
Chapter 18
Sustainability and the UK’s Major Food Retailers: Consumer Concentric Cause Marketing
Writ Large ........................................................................................................................................... 374
     Peter Jones, University of Gloucestershire, UK
     Daphne Comfort, University of Gloucestershire, UK
     David Hillier, University of Glamorgan, UK

Section 6
Behavioral Branding as a Customer-Centric Marketing Strategy:
Conceptual/Theoretical Framework and Critical Success Factors as an Antecedent of Financial and Marketing Performance

Chapter 19
Behavioral Branding as a Customer-Centric Strategy ................................................................. 396
     Milanka Slavova, University of National and World Economy Sofia, Bulgaria
     Neva Yalman, Yeditepe University, Turkey

Chapter 20
Consumer-Brand Relationship: Foundation and State-of-the-Art .............................................. 414
     Sandra Maria Correia Loureiro, ISCTE Business School- Lisbon University Institute, Portugal

Chapter 21
Customer-Centric Strategies in Place Marketing: An Analysis of Places’ Identities and Perceived
Images ............................................................................................................................................. 435
     Gianluigi Guido, University of Salento, Italy
     Alessandro M. Peluso, University of Salento, Italy
     M. Irene Prete, University of Salento, Italy
     Cesare Amatulli, University of Salento, Italy
     Giovanni Pino, University of Salento, Italy
     Cinzia Pace, University of Salento, Italy

Section 7
Practical Implications/Applications of Customer-Centric Strategies from the Marketing Management Point of View

Chapter 22
Brand-Led Transformation ............................................................................................................ 454
     Pier M. Massa, NEXUS, Malta & EuroMed Research Business Institute, Malta &
     M2 – Business Frameworks Limited, Malta
Chapter 23
Toward a Customer-Centric Strategy Implementation Model: The Case of a European Mid-Sized Glass-Packaging Producer ................................................................. 476
  Niksa Alfirevic, University of Split, Croatia
  Nikola Draskovic, Vetropack Straza, Croatia
  Jurica Pavicic, University of Zagreb, Croatia

Chapter 24
From Mass Distribution to Customer-Centric Awareness Tools: The Evolution of the German Meat Market ........................................................................................................ 498
  Bernd Hallier, EHI Retail Institute, Germany

Chapter 25
  Samuel Rabino, Northeastern University, USA
  Dana Rafiee, Destiny Corp., USA
  Steve Onufrey, Onufrey Group LLC, USA
  Howard Moskowitz, Moskowitz Jacobs, Inc., USA

Chapter 26
Consumer Loyalty to an Airline: Online and Offline Antecedents......................................................... 530
  Santiago Forgas-Coll, University of Barcelona, Spain
  Ramon Palau-Saumell, University of Barcelona, Spain
  Javier Sánchez-Garcia, Jaume I University, Spain.

Compilation of References .................................................................................................................. 550

About the Contributors .................................................................................................................... 627

Index .................................................................................................................................................. 639