Volume I

Section 1
Fundamental Concepts and Theories

This section serves as a foundation for this exhaustive reference tool by addressing underlying principles essential to the understanding of Supply Chain Management. Chapters found within these pages provide an excellent framework in which to position Supply Chain Management within the field of information science and technology. Insight regarding the critical incorporation of global measures into Supply Chain Management is addressed, while crucial stumbling blocks of this field are explored. With 15 chapters comprising this foundational section, the reader can learn and choose from a compendium of expert research on the elemental theories underscoring the Supply Chain Management discipline.

Chapter 1
Role of Small and Medium Sized Enterprises in E-Supply Chain Management: A Case Study .......... 1
Fang Zhao, American University of Sharjah, UAE

Chapter 2
Can Information and Communication Technologies Improve the Performance of Microfinance Programs? Further Evidence from Developing and Emerging Financial Markets ......................... 14
Fredj Jawadi, Amiens School of Management and Economix-University of Paris West, France
Nabila Jawadi, Amiens School of Management & CREPA, France
Ydriss Ziane, University of Paris 1 Pantheon Sorbonne & GREGOR Research Center, France

Chapter 3
Collaborative Transportation Sharing: From Theory to Practice via a Case Study from France .......... 31
Jesus Gonzalez-Feliu, Université Lumière Lyon 2, France
Joëlle Morana, Université Lumière Lyon 2, France

Chapter 4
Understanding the Progressive Nature of Inter-Organizational Systems (IOS) Adoption .............. 51
Mazen Ali, The University of Bahrain, Kingdom of Bahrain
Sherah Kurnia, The University of Melbourne, Australia
Robert B. Johnston, University College Dublin, Ireland
Chapter 5
E-Novation Customer Relationship Management ................................................................. 72
Othman Boujena, Rouen Business School, France
Wesley J. Johnston, Georgia State University, USA

Chapter 6
The Future of Newspapers ........................................................................................................ 93
Antonius Ruddy Kurniawan, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore
Kok Wai Mun Mervin, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore
Zhang Qiushi, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore

Chapter 7
Supply Chain Management and the Other Half ................................................................. 106
Kaninika Bhatnagar, Eastern Illinois University, USA

Chapter 8
Open Innovation and Collaborative Network in Supply Chain: The Case of Open IPTV Forum......................................................................................................................... 121
Angela Ruriko Sakamoto, Fundação Getúlio Vargas, Brazil
Cristiane Biazzin Villar, Fundação Getúlio Vargas, Brazil
Michele Esteves Martins, Fundação Getúlio Vargas, Brazil

Chapter 9
Business Case Development Risks in On and Offshore IT Outsourcing: Unpacking the Theories ................................................................................................................................ 137
Anne C. Rouse, Deakin University, Australia

Chapter 10
Competition in Supply Chain .................................................................................................. 154
Shabnam Rezapour, Urmia University of Technology, Iran

Chapter 11
An Examination of Standardized Product Identification and Business Benefit .................................................. 171
Douglas S. Hill, University of Southampton, UK

Chapter 12
Small Manufacturers vs. Large Retailers on RFID Adoption in the Apparel Supply Chain ............. 196
May Tajima, The University of Western Ontario, Canada

Chapter 13
Supply Chain Integration: Challenges and Solutions ....................................................................... 221
Edward Sweeney, Dublin Institute of Technology, Ireland
Chapter 14
From Mass Distribution to Customer-Centric Awareness Tools: The Evolution of the German Meat Market
Bernd Hallier, EHI Retail Institute, Germany

Chapter 15
Overview on 3PL Selection Problem
Aicha Aguezzoul, LGIPM, University of Lorraine, France

Section 2
Development and Design Methodologies
This section provides in-depth coverage of conceptual architecture frameworks to provide the reader with a comprehensive understanding of the emerging developments within the field of Supply Chain Management. Research fundamentals imperative to the understanding of developmental processes within Supply Chain Management are offered. From broad examinations to specific discussions on methodology, the research found within this section spans the discipline while offering detailed, specific discussions. From basic designs to abstract development, these chapters serve to expand the reaches of development and design technologies within the Supply Chain Management community. This section includes 13 contributions from researchers throughout the world on the topic of Supply Chain Management.

Chapter 16
Digital Marketplaces as a Viable Model for SME Networking
Valentina Ndou, Università del Salento, Italy
Nezha Sadguy, Università del Salento, Italy

Chapter 17
Developing Angles of Integration: On the Alignment of Internet-Based Information Technology and Supply Chain Integration
Jörn-Henrik Thun, Mannheim University, Germany

Chapter 18
A Conceptual Model for Greening a Supply Chain through Greening of Suppliers and Green Innovation
H. K. Chan, University of East Anglia, UK
T.-Y. Chiou, University of East Anglia, UK
F. Lettice, University of East Anglia, UK

Chapter 19
A Framework on Data Mining on Uncertain Data with Related Research Issues in Service Industry
Edward Hung, Hong Kong Polytechnic University, Hong Kong
Chapter 20
Proposed Framework for Research in the Triple A (Agility, Adaptability, Alignment) in Supply Chains ................................................................. 331
Ivan A. Arana-Solares, Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores de Monterrey, Mexico
Jose A.D. Machuca, University of Seville, Spain
Rafaela Alfalla-Luque, University of Seville, Spain

Chapter 21
Quantitative Risk Management Models for Newsvendor Supply Chains ................................................................. 347
Dimitrios Vlachos, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece

Chapter 22
Integration Strategies for Electronic Device Supply Chains ................................................................. 363
Claudia-Maria Wagner, Dublin Institute of Technology, Ireland
Colm Ryan, Dublin Institute of Technology, Ireland

Chapter 23
The Outcome of Knowledge Process for Customers of Jordanian Companies on the Achievement of Customer Knowledge Retention ................................................................. 377
Amine Nehari Tallet, King Fahd University of Petroleum & Minerals, Saudi Arabia
Samer Alhawari, Applied Science Private University, Jordan
Haroun Alryalat, The Arab Academy for Banking and Financial Sciences, Amman-Jordan

Chapter 24
An Enterprise Model for Customer-Centric Knowledge Management and Knowledge-Oriented Customer Relationship Management ................................................................. 394
Joseph O. Chan, Roosevelt University, USA

Chapter 25
Strategic Imperatives for Customer Centric Approach ................................................................. 414
Neeta Baporikar, CAS - Salalah, Sultanate of Oman

Chapter 26
An Enterprise Architecture Approach for Designing an Integrated Wood Supply Management System ................................................................. 434
A. F. Marques, Centre for Forest Studies, Instituto Superior de Agronomia, Technical University of Lisbon, Portugal & INESC TEC, Portugal
J. G. Borges, Centre for Forest Studies, Instituto Superior de Agronomia, Technical University of Lisbon, Portugal
P. M. Sousa, IST, Technical University of Lisbon, Portugal
M. Fonseca, Link Consulting, Portugal
J. Gonçalves, Europac Group, Viana do Castelo, Portugal
J. Oliveira, Floresta Atlântica – SGFII, S.A., Portugal
Chapter 27
Design for Sustainment: Challenges and Theoretical Issues in Product and Global Supply Chain Management

Benedict M. Uzochukwu, North Carolina A & T State University, USA
Silvanus J. Udoka, North Carolina A & T State University, USA

454

Chapter 28
Strategic Knowledge Management System Framework for Supply Chain at an Intra-Organizational Level

Cécile Gaumand, Ecole Centrale, France
Alain Chapdaniel, Ecole Centrale Paris, France
Aurélie Dudezert, Ecole Centrale, France

475

Section 3
Tools and Technologies

This section presents an extensive coverage of various tools and technologies available in the field of Supply Chain Management that practitioners and academicians alike can utilize to develop different techniques. These chapters enlighten readers about fundamental research on the many tools facilitating the burgeoning field of Supply Chain Management. It is through these rigorously researched chapters that the reader is provided with countless examples of the up-and-coming tools and technologies emerging from the field of Supply Chain Management. With 13 chapters, this section offers a broad treatment of some of the many tools and technologies within the Supply Chain Management field.

Chapter 29

Fahri Karakaya, University of Massachusetts Dartmouth, USA

497

Chapter 30
CRM, SRM and Marketing in Supply Chain

Mehdi Abdollahi Kamran, Urmia University of Technology, Iran

511

Chapter 31
Social Software in Customer Relationship Management: A Study Exemplified in Instant Messaging Networking

Ammar Memari, University of Oldenburg, Germany
Jorge Marx Gómez, University of Oldenburg, Germany
Waad Asaad, University of Oldenburg, Germany

531

Chapter 32
A Three-Level Multiple-Agent Early Warning Mechanism for Preventing Loss of Customers in Fashion Supply Chains

Wei-Shuo Lo, Meiho University, Taiwan
Tzung-Pei Hong, National University of Kaohsiung, Taiwan

553
Chapter 33
Protecting Privacy by Secure Computation: Privacy in Social Network Analysis ........................................ 565
   Florian Kerschbaum, SAP Research Karlsruhe, Germany
   Daniel Funke, SAP Research Karlsruhe, Germany

Chapter 34
Inventory Management, a Decision Support Framework to Improve Operational Performance .... 581
   Jan van den Berg, Delft University of Technology, The Netherlands
   Guido van Heck, Accenture Consulting, The Netherlands
   Mohsen Davarynejad, Delft University of Technology, The Netherlands
   Ron van Duin, Delft University of Technology, The Netherlands

Chapter 35
Collaborative Web for Natural Resources Industries ............................................................. 601
   Nikhil Chaturvedi, SAP Asia Pte. Ltd., Singapore

Volume II

Chapter 36
Trade Collaboration Systems ........................................................................................................ 615
   Peter Denno, National Institute of Standards and Technology, USA

Chapter 37
Informatics for Medicines Management Systems in Resource-Limited Settings .................... 634
   Andy Stergachis, University of Washington, USA
   Douglas Keene, Management Science for Health, USA
   Shabir Somani, University of Washington, USA

Chapter 38
Bullwhip Effect Analysis in a Supply Chain ............................................................................. 646
   Mehdi Najafi, Sharif University of Technology, Iran
   Reza Zanjirani Farahani, Kingston University, UK

Chapter 39
Humanitarian Aid Logistics: The Wenchuan and Haiti Earthquakes Compared ....................... 666
   Anthony Beresford, Cardiff University, UK
   Stephen Pettit, Cardiff University, UK

Chapter 40
Interaction Mining: Making Business Sense of Customers Conversations through Semantic and Pragmatic Analysis ................................................................................................................... 688
   Vincenzo Pallotta, Webster University, Switzerland
   Lammert Vrieling, Webster University, Switzerland
   Rodolfo Delmonte, Università “Ca Foscari,” Italy
Chapter 41
How Semantic Web Technologies can Support the Mediation between Supply and Demand in the ICT Market: The Case of Customer Relationship Management................................................... 710
   Anna Goy, University of Torino, Italy
   Diego Magro, University of Torino, Italy

Section 4
Utilization and Application

This section discusses a variety of applications and opportunities available that can be considered by practitioners in developing viable and effective Supply Chain Management programs and processes. This section includes 13 chapters that review topics from case studies in the EU to best practices in Africa and ongoing research in the United States. Further chapters discuss Supply Chain Management in a variety of settings (grocery provisioning, customer relationship management, etc.). Contributions included in this section provide excellent coverage of today's IT community and how research into Supply Chain Management is impacting the social fabric of our present-day global village.

Chapter 42
Governance Structures in the EU Milk Supply Chain................................................................. 736
   Nico Polman, LEI, Wageningen UR, The Netherlands
   Noortje Krol, LEI, Wageningen UR, The Netherlands
   Jack Peerlings, Wageningen University, The Netherlands
   Pierre Dupraz, INRA, France
   Dimitre Nikolov, Institute of Agricultural Economics (IAE), Bulgaria

Chapter 43
Application of RFID Technology in Banking Sector ................................................................. 749
   Lotfollah Forozandeh Dehkordi, Payame Noor University, Iran
   Ali Ghorbani, Payame Noor University, Iran
   Ali Reza Ali Ahmad, University of Science & Technology, Iran

Chapter 44
A Case Study on Service Oriented Enterprise Interoperability in Automobile Supply Chain .......... 765
   Yong Zhang, Shandong University, China
   Shijun Liu, Shandong University, China
   Yuchang Jiao, IBM, China
   Yuqing Sun, Shandong University, China

Chapter 45
Online Grocery Provision Resistance: Understanding Urban (Non-) Collaboration and Ambiguous Supply Chain Environments................................................................. 780
   Ronan de Kervenoael, Sabanci University, Turkey & Aston University, UK
   Burcin Bozkaya, Sabanci University, Turkey
   Mark Palmer, University of Birmingham, UK
Chapter 46
The Internationalization Path of Wanxiang

Qing Lu, The Logistics Institute—Asia Pacific, Singapore
Yuan Sun, Zhejiang Gongshang University, People’s Republic of China
Mark Goh, The Logistics Institute—Asia Pacific, Singapore

Chapter 47
CRM for Innovation in European Companies

Carolina López-Nicolás, University of Murcia, Spain
Francisco-José Molina-Castillo, University of Murcia, Spain

Chapter 48
A Study of Eco-Friendly Supply Chain Management at Cement Industries of Chhattisgarh

Gazala Yasmin Ashraf, Disha Institute of Management and Technology, India

Chapter 49
Supply Chain Disruptions and Best-Practice Mitigation Strategies

Adenike Aderonke Moradeyo, Pan-African University, Lagos, Nigeria

Chapter 50
Two Case Studies on RFID Initiatives: Testing the Impact of IT Infrastructure Integration and Supply Chain Process Integration

Rebecca Angeles, University of New Brunswick Fredericton, Canada

Chapter 51
Multidimensional Analysis of Supply Chain Environmental Performance

Antti Sirkka, Tieto Finland, Finland
Marko Junkkari, University of Tampere, Finland

Chapter 52
The Application of Value Chain Analysis for the Evaluation of Alternative Supply Chain Strategies for the Provision of Humanitarian Aid to Africa

David H. Taylor, Sheffield, UK

Chapter 53
Fuzzy Target Groups in Analytic Customer Relationship Management

Michael Kaufmann, Swiss Mobiliar Insurance & Pensions, Switzerland
Cédric Graf, ITpearls AG, Switzerland

Chapter 54
Adding Value to Logistics Services using ICT: A Case Study Analysis of Small Logistics Companies in Italy

Pietro Evangelista, IRAT-CNR & University of Naples Federico II, Italy
Section 5
Organizational and Social Implications

This section includes a wide range of research pertaining to the social and behavioral impact of Supply Chain Management around the world. Chapters introducing this section critically analyze and discuss trends in Supply Chain Management, such as e-procurement, planning, and fuzzy marketing. Additional chapters included in this section look at process innovation and group decision making. Also investigating a concern within the field of Supply Chain Management is research which discusses the effect of coordination on Supply Chain Management. With 13 chapters, the discussions presented in this section offer research into the integration of global Supply Chain Management as well as implementation of ethical and workflow considerations for all organizations.

Chapter 55
E-Procurement System and Adoption for SMEs ................................................................. 950
    Serdal Bayram, Siemens, Turkey
    Özalp Vayvay, Marmara University, Turkey

Chapter 56
A Multi-Criteria Intuitionistic Fuzzy Group Decision Making Method for Supplier Selection with VIKOR Method ................................................................. 967
    Razieh Roostaei, Science and Research Branch, Islamic Azad University, Tehran-Branch, Tehran, Iran
    Mohammad Izadikhah, Islamic Azad University, Arak-Branch, Arak, Iran
    Farhad Hosseinzadeh Lotfi, Science and Research Branch, Islamic Azad University, Tehran-Branch, Tehran, Iran
    Mohsen Rostamy-Malkhalifeh, Science and Research Branch, Islamic Azad University, Tehran-Branch, Tehran, Iran

Chapter 57
Implementing E-Procurement in Public Healthcare: The Knowledge Management Issue .......... 984
    Andrea Resca, Luiss “Guido Carli” University, Italy
    Tommaso Federici, University of Tuscia, Italy

Chapter 58
Supply Chain Knowledge Integration in Emerging Economies .......................................... 1002
    Ryan Atkins, Queen’s University Belfast, Northern Ireland

Chapter 59
Improving Performance and Customer Satisfaction via the Use of Information Technologies in Public Transportation and Logistics Systems ........................................... 1019
    Dicle Yurdakul Şahin, Izmir University of Economics, Turkey
    Deniz Türsel Eliiyi, Izmir University of Economics, Turkey

Chapter 60
Trust and Transaction Cost in Supply Chain Cost Optimization: An Exploratory Study .............. 1030
    Ik-Whan G. Kwon, St. Louis University, USA
    John H. Hamilton, St. Louis University, USA
    Seock-Jin Hong, Bordeaux School of Management, France
Chapter 61
Designing Post-Disaster Supply Chains: Learning from Housing Reconstruction Projects .......... 1043
  Gyöngyi Kovács, HUMLOG Institute, Hanken School of Economics, Finland
  Aristides Matopoulos, University of Macedonia, Greece
  Odran Hayes, European Agency for Reconstruction, Ireland

Chapter 62
Applying Fuzzy Logic and Fuzzy Methods to Marketing......................................................... 1056
  Laurent Donzé, University of Fribourg, Switzerland
  Andreas Meier, University of Fribourg, Switzerland

Chapter 63
Relief Supply Chain Planning: Insights from Thailand......................................................... 1069
  Ruth Banomyong, Thammasat University, Thailand
  Apichat Sodapang, Chiangmai University, Thailand

Chapter 64
Key Issues and Challenges for Managing and Evaluating B2B E-Commerce Projects within the Australian Pharmaceutical Supply Chain .................................................................................. 1083
  Chad Lin, Curtin University, Australia
  Geoffrey Jalleh, Curtin University, Australia

Chapter 65
Social CRM: Platforms, Applications, and Tools ................................................................. 1101
  Anteneh Ayanso, Brock University, Canada

Chapter 66
Being a Preferred Customer of Leading Suppliers and Its Impact on Supplier Contribution to Innovation .......................................................................................................................... 1120
  Holger Schiele, University of Twente, The Netherlands
  Jasper Veldman, University of Twente, The Netherlands
  Lisa Hüttinger, University of Twente, The Netherlands

Chapter 67
Coordination in Supply Chain Management.......................................................................... 1140
  Mohsen Sheikh Sajadieh, Sharif University of Technology, Iran
  Alireza Bolooriarabani, Wayne State University, USA

Section 6
Managerial Impact

This section presents contemporary coverage of the social implications of Supply Chain Management, more specifically related to the corporate and managerial utilization of information sharing technologies and applications, and how these technologies can be extrapolated to be used in Supply Chain Management. Core ideas such as strategy, quality management, supply chain reengineering, and other determinants that affect the intention to adopt technological innovations in Supply Chain Management are discussed. Equally as crucial, chapters within this section discuss how leaders can utilize Supply Chain Management applications to get the best outcomes from their shareholders and their customers.

Chapter 68
Preparing for the Worst: Sustaining Suppliers Though the Economic Crisis ........................................ 1164
Rob Handfield, North Carolina State University, USA

Chapter 69
Strategic Partners and Strange Bedfellows: Relationship Building in the Relief Supply Chain ................................................................. 1179
Paul D. Larson, University of Manitoba, Canada

Chapter 70
Total Quality Management in the Global Supply Chain ................................................................. 1194
Janet H. Sanders, East Carolina University, USA

Chapter 71
Evaluating Customer Relationship Management in the Context of Higher Education .................. 1210
Lubov Kosch, Leibniz Universität Hannover, Germany
Ina Friedrich, Leibniz Universität Hannover, Germany
Michael H. Breitner, Leibniz Universität Hannover, Germany

Volume III

Chapter 72
A Hybrid Multilayer Perceptron Neural Network for Direct Marketing ................................. 1228
M. Govindarajan, Annamalai University, India
RM. Chandrasekaran, Annamalai University, India

Chapter 73
Coordination Policies for Multi-Echelon Multi-Product Inventory Systems .......................... 1239
Fidel Torres, Universidad de los Andes, Colombia
Gonzalo Mejía, Universidad de los Andes, Colombia

Chapter 74
International Fashion Retailing from an Enterprise Architecture Perspective ......................... 1250
Torben Tambo, Aarhus University – Institute of Business and Technology, Denmark

Chapter 75
Business Process Management in the Computer Games Industry ............................................. 1267
Fernando Belfo, Polytechnic Institute of Coimbra, Portugal
Chapter 76
A Content Analysis for Evaluating RFID Applications in Supply Network Management............ 1286
Maria Grazia Gnoni, Università del Salento, Italy
Alessandra Rollo, Università del Salento, Italy

Chapter 77
The Management of Services Contracts ..................................................................................... 1304
Guy Callender, Curtin University, Australia

Chapter 78
Supply and Production/Distribution Planning in Supply Chain with Genetic Algorithm .......... 1316
Babak Sohrabi, University of Tehran, Iran
MohammadReza Sadeghi Moghadam, University of Tehran, Iran

Chapter 79
Supply Chain Reengineering: A Case Study ............................................................................. 1334
David J. Newlands, IÉSEG School of Management (LEM-CNRS), France

Chapter 80
Deploying and Running Enterprise Grade Applications in a Federated Cloud ....................... 1350
Benoit Hudzia, SAP, UK
Jonathan Sinclair, SAP, UK
Maik Lindner, SAP, UK

Chapter 81
Military Involvement in Humanitarian Supply Chains ........................................................... 1371
Elizabeth Barber, University of New South Wales, Australian Defence Force Academy, Australia

Section 7
Critical Issues

This section contains 13 chapters, giving a wide variety of perspectives on Supply Chain Management and its implications. Such perspectives include reading in privacy, gender, ethics, and several more. The section also discusses new ethical considerations within transparency and accountability. Within the chapters, the reader is presented with an in-depth analysis of the most current and relevant issues within this growing field of study. Crucial questions are addressed and alternatives offered, and topics discussed such as semiotic evaluation, barriers to greening, patient-driven agile healthcare, and many more.

Chapter 82
Anti-Counterfeit Technologies for Spurious Drugs in India..................................................... 1396
Ruchi Dass, Commonwealth Connect Program and HealthCursor, India
Bharat Gajjar, Pramukh Swami Medical College, India
Chapter 83
A Study of Barriers to Greening the Relief Supply Chain ................................................................. 1407
Joseph Sarkis, Clark University, USA
Karen M. Spens, HUMLOG Institute, Hanken School of Economics, Finland
Gyöngyi Kovács, HUMLOG Institute, Hanken School of Economics, Finland

Chapter 84
Towards Patient-Driven Agile Supply Chains in Healthcare ............................................................ 1418
Véronique Nabelsi, Université du Québec en Outaouais, Canada

Chapter 85
Transparency and Accountability in Public Procurement of Essential Medicines in Developing Countries .................................................................................................................. 1437
Anita Kotwani, University of Delhi, India

Chapter 86
The Human Side of Supply Chains: A Behavioural Perspective of Supply Chain Risk Management .................................................................................................................................. 1453
Alessandro Ancarani, University of Catania, Italy
Carmela Di Mauro, University of Catania, Italy

Chapter 87
Assessing the Impact of Knowledge Transfer Mechanisms on Supply Chain Performance .......... 1477
Stephen McLaughlin, National University of Ireland Maynooth, Ireland

Chapter 88
Ontological Representation of Virtual Business Communities: How to Find Right Business Partners ..................................................................................................................................... 1492
Ingrid Petrič, University of Nova Gorica, Slovenia
Tanja Urbančič, Jozef Stefan Institute, Slovenia
Bojan Cestnik, Jozef Stefan Institute, Slovenia

Chapter 89
Semiotic Evaluation of Product Ontologies .......................................................................................... 1507
Joerg Leukel, University of Hohenheim, Germany
Vijayan Sugumaran, Oakland University, USA & Sogang University, Seoul, Korea

Chapter 90
Interoperability Issues for Systems Managing Competency Information: A Preliminary Study .............................................................................................................................................. 1523
Bernard Blandin, Université Paris Ouest and CESI Group, France
Geoffrey Frank, RTI International, USA
Simone Laughton, University of Toronto Mississauga Library, Canada
Kenji Hirata, Toyo University, Japan
Chapter 91
Greening the Automotive Supply Chain ................................................................. 1545
  Miti Garg, The Logistics Institute – Asia Pacific, Singapore

Chapter 92
Large Retailers’ Responsible Initiatives in Support of Local Communities .................. 1553
  Mario Risso, Department of Business Studies, Niccolò Cusano University – Telematic Rome, Rome, Italy

Chapter 93
Security Issues for ISO 18000-6 Type C RFID: Identification and Solutions .................. 1565
  Peter J. Havrylak, The University of Tulsa, USA
  John Hale, The University of Tulsa, USA
  Mauricio Papa, The University of Tulsa, USA

Chapter 94
Key Issues in the Implementation of Electronic Customer Relationship Management in the Australian Hospitality and Tourism Sector ................................................................. 1582
  Chad Lin, Curtin University, Australia

Section 8
Emerging Trends

This section highlights research potential within the field of Supply Chain Management while exploring uncharted areas of study for the advancement of the discipline. Introducing this section are chapters that set the stage for future research directions and topical suggestions for continued debate, centering on the new venues and forums for discussion. A pair of chapters on the consumer-brand relationship makes up the middle of the section of the final 12 chapters, and the book concludes with a look ahead into the future of the Supply Chain Management field, with “Metaheuristic Algorithms for Supply Chain Management Problems.” In all, this text will serve as a vital resource to practitioners and academics interested in the best practices and applications of the burgeoning field of Supply Chain Management.

Chapter 95
New Perspectives on Adoption of RFID Technology for Agrifood Traceability .................. 1607
  Filippo Gandino, Politecnico di Torino, Italy
  Erwing Sanchez, Politecnico di Torino, Italy
  Bartolomeo Montrucchio, Politecnico di Torino, Italy
  Maurizio Rebaudengo, Politecnico di Torino, Italy

Chapter 96
Moving toward a Global Supply Chain Operations and the Impact on International Competition ................................................................. 1626
  Seyed-Mahmoud Aghazadeh, State University of New York at Fredonia, USA
Chapter 97
Alternative Approaches to Auction Trading by Consortia in Multi Agent Systems: A Comparative Study ................................................................. 1637

Barin N. Nag, Towson University, USA
Dong-Qing Yao, Towson University, USA
Sungchul Hong, Towson University, USA

Chapter 98

Christos Keramydas, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece
Naoum Tsolakis, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece
Anastasios Xanthopoulos, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece
Dimitrios Aidonis, Alexander Technological Educational Institute of Thessaloniki, Greece

Chapter 99
A Multi-Agent System for Production Networks Simulation: Toward a Pheromone-Based Model for Agents’ Coordination .................................................. 1666

Samir Hamichi, LIP6 - Laboratoire d’Informatique de Paris 6, France
Diana Mangalagiu, University of Oxford, UK & Reims Management School, France
Zahia Guessoum, LIP6 – Laboratoire d’Informatique de Paris 6, France & URCA – University de Reims Champagne Ardenne, France

Chapter 100
Consumer-Brand Relationship: Foundation and State-of-the-Art .............................................. 1683

Sandra Maria Correia Loureiro, ISCTE Business School- Lisbon University Institute, Portugal

Chapter 101
E-Procurement Systems as Tools for the Development of Supply Chains ................................. 1703

Cuauhtémoc Sánchez-Ramírez, Instituto Tecnológico de Orizaba, México
Giner Alor-Hernandez, Instituto Tecnológico de Orizaba, México
Guillermo Cortes-Robles, Instituto Tecnológico de Orizaba, México
Jorge Luis García-Alcaráz, Instituto de Ingeniería y Tecnología Universidad Autónoma de Ciudad Juárez, México
Alejandro Rodríguez-González, Centre for Plant Biotechnology and Genomics UPM-INIA, Polytechnic University of Madrid, Spain

Chapter 102
Potential Impact of RFID-Based Tracing Systems on the Integrity of Pharmaceutical Products ................................................................. 1724

Michele Maffia, University of Salento, Italy
Luca Mainetti, University of Salento, Italy
Luigi Patrono, University of Salento, Italy
Emanuela Urso, University of Salento, Italy
Chapter 103
The Strategic Importance of Data Mining Analysis for Customer-Centric Marketing Strategies
Valerio Veglio, University of Milano-Bicocca, Italy

Chapter 104
A Gravitational Search Algorithm Approach for Optimizing Closed-Loop Logistics Network
Abdolhossein Sadrnia, University Putra Malaysia, Malaysia
Hossein Nezamabadi-Pour, Shahid Bahonar University of Kerman, Iran
Mehrdad Nikbakht, University Putra Malaysia, Malaysia
Napsiah Ismail, University Putra Malaysia, Malaysia

Chapter 105
Justifying RFID Investment to Enable Mobile Service Applications in Manufacturing and Supply Chain
In Lee, Western Illinois University, USA

Chapter 106
Metaheuristic Algorithms for Supply Chain Management Problems
Ata Allah Taleizadeh, Iran University of Science and Technology, Iran
Leopoldo Eduardo Cárdenas-Barrón, Tecnológico de Monterrey, México
