Table of Contents

Foreword ............................................................................................................................................. xvi

Preface ............................................................................................................................................... xviii

Acknowledgment ............................................................................................................................. xx

Section 1
Design and Arrangement

Chapter 1
On Pixels, Perceptions, and Personae: Toward a Model of Online Ethos ........................................ 1
   Todd S. Frobish, Fayetteville State University, USA

Chapter 2
Online Trust: A Moving Target ........................................................................................................ 24
   Natasha Dwyer, Victoria University, Australia

Chapter 3
Online Credibility and Information Labor: Infrastructure Reverberating through Ethos .............. 37
   Nathan Johnson, Purdue University, USA

Chapter 4
Establishing Ethos on Proprietary and Open Source Software Websites .................................... 56
   Kevin Brock, North Carolina State University, USA

Section 2
Perceptions of Online Information

Chapter 5
The Ethos of Online Publishing: Building and Sustaining an Inclusive Future for Digital Scholarship .......................................................................................................................... 78
   Joe Erickson, Angelo State University, USA
   Kristine Blair, Bowling Green State University, USA
Chapter 6
The Query is Just the Beginning: Exploring Search-Related Decision-Making of Young Adults

Veronica Maidel, Syracuse University, USA
Dmitry Epstein, Cornell University, USA

Chapter 7
Ethos [edit]: Procedural Rhetoric and the Wikipedia Project

Ryan McGrady, North Carolina State University, USA

Chapter 8
Credibility in Web Search Engines

Dirk Lewandowski, Hamburg University of Applied Sciences, Germany

Section 3
News/Primary Research

Chapter 9
The Special Case of Youth and Digital Information Credibility

Miriam J. Metzger, University of California Santa Barbara, USA
Andrew J. Flanagin, University of California Santa Barbara, USA
Ryan Medders, California Lutheran University, USA
Rebekah Pure, University of California Santa Barbara, USA
Alex Markov, University of California Santa Barbara, USA
Ethan Hartsell, University of California Santa Barbara, USA

Chapter 10
The Credibility of Sources 2.0 in Journalism: Case Study in Portugal

Paulo Serra, Universidade da Beira Interior, Portugal
João Canavilhas, Universidade da Beira Interior, Portugal

Chapter 11

Rick Malleus, Seattle University, USA

Chapter 12
Digital Parrhesia as a Counterweight to Astroturfing

Nicholas Gilewicz, University of Pennsylvania, USA
François Allard-Huver, Paris-Sorbonne University, France
Section 4
User-Generated Content

Chapter 13
Establishing Credibility in the Information Jungle: Blogs, Microblogs, and the CRAAP Test

Dawn Emsellem Wichowski, Salve Regina University, USA
Laura E. Kohl, Bryant University, USA

Chapter 14
Building a Professional Ethos on LinkedIn

Christy Oslund, Michigan Technological University, USA

Chapter 15
Online Identity Formation and Digital Ethos Building in the Chinese Blogosphere

Zixue Tai, University of Kentucky, USA
Yonghua Zhang, Shanghai University, China

Chapter 16
Theory and Application: Using Social Networking to Build Online Credibility

Misty L. Knight, Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania, USA
Richard A. Knight, Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania, USA
Abigail Goben, University of Illinois at Chicago, USA
Aaron W. Dobbs, Shippensburg University of Pennsylvania, USA

Chapter 17
Ethical Challenges for User-Generated Content Publishing: Comparing Public Service Media and Commercial Media

Ceren Sözeri, Galatasaray University, Turkey

Chapter 18
The Cyber-Propelled Egyptian Revolution and the De/Construction of Ethos

Samaa Gamie, Lincoln University, USA

Section 5
Games

Chapter 19
“I Rolled the Dice with Trade Chat and This is What I Got”: Demonstrating Context-Dependent Credibility in Virtual Worlds

Wendi Sierra, North Carolina State University, USA
Doug Eyman, George Mason University, USA
Chapter 20
Documentary at Play .................................................................................................................. 353
  Inge Ejbye Sørensen, University of Copenhagen, Denmark
  Anne Mette Thorhauge, University of Copenhagen, Denmark

Chapter 21
Press C→ to Play the Ocarina: Rhetoric and Game Music ...................................................... 368
  Dan W. Lawrence, Michigan Technological University, USA

Compilation of References ............................................................................................................ 391

About the Contributors .................................................................................................................. 429

Index ............................................................................................................................................. 437