The editor would like to acknowledge the help of all involved in the collation and review process of the book, without whose support the project could not have been satisfactorily completed.

Once more, deep appreciation and gratitude is due to Kristin Roth, my development editor and a dear friend. She is a great professional and a better person. Her editorial support, her encouragement, and her good advice during the last 2 years have turned this project into a worthwhile book. Special thanks also go to all the staff at Idea Group Inc., whose contributions throughout the whole process from inception of the initial idea to final publication have been invaluable. In particular, thanks go to Mehdi Khosrow-Pour, whose enthusiasm motivated me to initially accept his invitation to take on this project, and to Jan Travers, who kindly granted me a deadline extension when she found out about my personal situation.

I also want to sincerely thank all those who offered constructive and comprehensive input for the different chapters. And, above all, I wish to thank all the authors for their insights and excellent contributions to this book, and to most of them for making an effort to translate their texts into English. Thank you to all of you for helping me to disseminate your expertise and knowledge about Latin American electronic government initiatives.
Last, but not least, I would like to thank my beloved husband Fran for his continuous support. As has been the case in the past, this new book would not have come out without his encouragement and understanding throughout the years.

This book is dedicated to Marcos and Hawa, my children, the sunshine of my life.
