Acknowledgment

Editing a book is quite hard, but it involves a set of enriching activities like discussion and exchange of ideas and experiences, process management, organization and integration of contents, and many others, with the permanent objective of creating a book that meets the public expectations. This task cannot be accomplished without help and support from many sources. As editors, we would like to acknowledge the help and support of all who made this creation possible.

First of all, the edition of this book would not have been possible without the ongoing support of the team of professionals at IGI Global. Special thanks go also to all the staff at IGI Global, whose contributions throughout the process of production and making this book available all over the world was invaluable.

We are grateful to all the authors for their insights and excellent contributions and to the members of the editorial advisory board.

Thank you.
