Acknowledgment

The efforts of many people are reflected in this book. I wish to thank all the authors who contributed their insightful ideas and chapters to this book. Without whose support the project could not have been satisfactorily completed. Most of the authors of chapters included in this book also served as referees for articles written by other authors. Special thanks go to all those who provided constructive and comprehensive reviews. Among those, I would like to particularly mention Professor Adeline du Toit from University of Johannesburg, South Africa; Dr. François Brouard from Carleton University, Canada; Dr. Peter Trim from Birkbeck College, University of London; and Dr. Yanqing Duan from University of Bedfordshire, UK for their most critical comments.

My deep appreciation is due to professor G. Roland Kaye, former president of CIMA, for his continuous professional guidance and advice on research into the area of managing strategic information as a corporate resource.

I wish to extend my special thanks to staff at IGI Global, whose support, guidance and encouragement throughout the whole process have been invaluable. In particular, to Kristin Roth and Meg Stocking, who continuously provide guidance and prompt responses for keeping the project on schedule and to Mehdi Khosrow-Pour, whose enthusiasm motivated me to initially accept his invitation for taking on this project.

I would like to acknowledge the support from the Department of Strategy and Business Systems, Portsmouth Business School of University of Portsmouth, in particular, the department’s research committee for the support to develop research including this project.

Finally, I want to thank my wife and children for their love and support throughout this project.
