Acknowledgment

In the end, I wish to thank all the contributors and the chapter reviewers. I hope that readers will find this volume useful and find ideas that are useful for their research work and in the classrooms. I hope readers will be encouraged to use visualization means in their classes if they have not done so already. The opportunities for creativity in a dynamical environment seem to be boundless.