Acknowledgment

The editors would like to express their gratitude to all the people who contributed to the book as authors, advisors, reviewers, and developers. It speaks for itself that an overview of relevant views and perspectives can only arise from the willingness of relevant professionals to contribute to the further development of a certain topic. We are happy that so many colleagues, from many different backgrounds and regions, were enthusiastic about the idea to develop this book. Their contributions made the book to what it is: a true overview of the “state of play” of knowledge, perspectives, and insights on the relationship between sustainable development and project management. We are proud of the result and thankful to everyone who made it possible. We would also like to thank the colleagues at IGI Global. Their professionalism, and sometimes patience, was an important condition for the development of this book.

Gilbert Silvius
HU University of Applied Sciences Utrecht and Van Aetsveld, The Netherlands

Jennifer Tharp
Mastodon Consulting, USA & University of California – Berkeley, USA