Acknowledgment

First and foremost, I would like to thank the contributors to this book: the 38 authors and co-authors, from academia as well as industry from around the world, who collectively authored and contributed a total of 12 chapters. Without their efforts in developing quality chapters, conforming to the required guidelines, and meeting the strict deadlines, this text would not have been possible. Their names and expertise are listed in a separate section in this book.

Secondly, my grateful thanks are due to the members of the editorial board of IGI Global for liaising with the contributing authors and ensuring timely receipt of the chapters for final professional production, in particular: Kayla Wolfe, the acquisitions editor, for the selection and categorization of the book chapters; Adam Bond, the editorial assistant – journals, for organizing the calls for and the receipt of chapters; members of the in-house editorial board for conducting the review process; as well as other colleagues at IGI for ensuring the production of a quality reference volume.

Finally, I would like to thank Rehana, Zoya, Imran, Hanya, and Ozair for their encouragement and continued support. All good wishes for Eyaad Imran Rashid Khan as well, who is celebrating his first birthday in August 2014 but is already getting his name in print.

Thank you all.

Zaigham Mahmood

University of Derby, UK & North West University, South Africa

25 October 2013