Acknowledgment

I would like to express my thanks to the authors who invested a considerable amount of their time in contributing to this book project. Without the authors’ contributions, this project would not have materialized. My conscience would not let me off the hook if I ignored the valuable contributions to this book by the reviewers of the submitted chapters. This book is the way it is because of the sleepless nights endured by the authors and reviewers. Any credit that this book may garner should, therefore, go to them.

I am also particularly indebted to the IGI Global team for the technical and managerial assistance rendered to us during all stages of the publishing cycle of this book. Particularly, I would like to recognize the valuable contribution by the following people: Julia Mosemann – Director of Book Publications, (Ms) Jan Travers – Director of Intellectual Property and Contracts, Erika Carter – Acquisitions Editor, Myla Harty – Editorial Assistant at the Development Division, and Austin M. DeMarco – Editorial Assistant, Editorial Content Division – Book Development. Austin’s support during the different development stages of this book was exceptional.

I would also like to thank colleagues at the Department of Library and Information Studies (DLIS) for any support rendered towards this project. Many thanks to the University of Botswana for providing a conducive academic and research environment, without which this publication would not have been possible. Further, special thanks are attributed to the Center for Information and Knowledge Management, University of Johannesburg, for the technical support.

Last but not least, thanks to my family for the support.
