Table of Contents

Foreword .................................................................................................................................................. xiv
Preface ..................................................................................................................................................... xvi
Acknowledgment .................................................................................................................................. xxvi

Section I
Foundations

Chapter I
Towards Patient-Centered Care: The Role of E-Health in Enabling Patient Access to Health
Information ............................................................................................................................................... 1
Juanita Dawson, Claremont Graduate University, USA
Bengisu Tulu, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, USA
Thomas A. Horan, Claremont Graduate University, USA

Chapter II
Patient-Centered E-Health Design .......................................................... 10
Alejandro Mauro, Hospital Italiano de Buenos Aires, Argentina
Fernán González Bernaldo de Quirós, Hospital Italiano de Buenos Aires, Argentina

Chapter III
Connecting with Ourselves and Others Online: Psychological Aspects of Online Health
Communication ................................................................................................................................. 26
Jan-Are K. Johnsen, Norwegian Centre for Telemedicine, University Hospital of North Norway, Norway
Deede Gammon, Norwegian Centre for Telemedicine, University Hospital of North Norway, Norway

Chapter IV
Personal Health Records: Patients in Control .................................................. 47
Ebrahim Randeree, Florida State University, USA
Melinda Whetstone, Florida State University, USA

Chapter V
Disability Determinations and Personal Health Records ........................................ 60
Elaine A. Blechman, University of Colorado at Boulder, USA
Chapter VI
E-Health Marketing ................................................................. 70
  Muhammad F. Walji, University of Texas Dental Branch at Houston, USA
  John A. Valenza, University of Texas Dental Branch at Houston, USA
  Jiajie Zhang, University of Texas School of Health Information Sciences at Houston, USA

Chapter VII
Privacy Management of Patient-Centered E-Health......................... 81
  Olli P. Järvinen, Finnish Game and Fisheries Research Institute, Finland

Chapter VIII
Trust in Patient-Centered E-Health............................................... 98
  Richard Klein, Clemson University, USA
  Michael Dinger, Clemson University, USA

Chapter IX
Involving Patients and the Public in E-Health Research......................... 115
  John Powell, Warwick Medical School, University of Warwick, UK
  Natalie Armstrong, Social Science Group, Department of Health Sciences, University of Leicester, UK

Section II
Applications

Chapter X
Using Interaction Design to Improve Usability of a PHR User Interface Based on Visual Elements......................................................... 127
  Stefano Forti, e-Health Applied Research Unit, FBK-Fondazione Bruno Kessler, Italy
  Barbara Purin, e-Health Applied Research Unit, FBK-Fondazione Bruno Kessler, Italy
  Claudio Eccher, e-Health Applied Research Unit, FBK-Fondazione Bruno Kessler, Italy
  Nicolò Luppino, Faculty of Art & Design, University of Venezia, Italy
  Carlo Busolin, Faculty of Art & Design, University of Venezia, Italy
  Diego Conforti, Department of Health, Autonomous Province of Trento, Italy
  Gianluca Martini, Freelance Social Researcher, Trento, Italy

Chapter XI
Healthcare Quality and Cost Transparency Using Web-Based Tools ...................... 143
  Jiao Ma, Saint Louis University, USA
  Cynthia LeRouge, Saint Louis University, USA

Chapter XII
Perceptions of E-Health in Rural Communities........................................ 157
  Ann L. Fruhling, University of Nebraska at Omaha, Peter Kiewit Institute, USA
Chapter XIII
Assessing a Patient-Centered E-Health Approach to Chronic Disease Self-Management.............. 168
Elizabeth Cummings, University of Tasmania and Smart Internet Technology Co-operative Research Centre, Australia
Stephen Chau, University of Tasmania and Verdant Health, Australia
Paul Turner, University of Tasmania and Smart Internet Technology Co-operative Research Centre, Australia

Chapter XIV
Incompatible Images: Asthmatics’ Non-Use of an E-Health System for Asthma Self-Management.............................................................. 186
Michel J. Sassene, Roskilde University, Denmark
Morten Hertzum, Roskilde University, Denmark

Chapter XV
Exploring the Technology Adoption Needs of Patients Using E-Health............................. 201
Linda M. Gallant, Emerson College, USA
Cynthia Irizarry, Suffolk University, USA
Gloria M. Boone, Suffolk University, USA

Chapter XVI
Predicting Patients’ Use of Provider-Delivered E-Health: The Role of Facilitating Conditions................................................................. 217
E. Vance Wilson, Arizona State University, USA
Nancy K. Lankton, Michigan State University, USA

Compilation of References ........................................................................................................... 230

About the Contributors ................................................................................................................. 261

Index......................................................................................................................................... 269