Acknowledgments

The editors would like to acknowledge the help of all involved in the collation and review process of the book without whose support the project could not have been satisfactorily completed. A further special note of thanks goes also to all the staff at Idea Group Inc., whose contributions throughout the whole process from inception of the initial idea to final publication have been invaluable. In particular, we thank Amanda Appicello who continuously prodded via e-mail to keep the project on schedule and Mehdi Khosrow-Pour whose enthusiasm motivated us to accept the invitation to take on this project.

Obviously in any project of this size it is impossible to remember, let alone mention, everyone who had a hand in this work becoming what it is today. Various graduate students and support staff from The University of Rhode Island were critical in creating this final product. Their support was vital in achieving what we hope is a well-edited publication. The authors deserve the greatest credit because their contributions were essential, giving us great material with which to work.

In closing, we again wish to thank all of the authors for their insights and excellent contributions to this book. We also want to thank all of the people who assisted us in the reviewing process. Of course our families deserve credit for simply putting up with us and supporting us. Our thanks to all these people!

Joan Peckham, Ph.D.
Scott J. Lloyd, Ph.D.
Kingston, RI, USA
September 2002