Small Business
Clustering Technologies:
Applications in
Marketing, Management,
IT and Economics

Table of Contents

Preface.............................................................................................................................................. vi

Section I: Introduction to Clustering

Chapter I
Small Business Clustering Across Disciplines ................................................................. 1
   Ann Hodgkinson, University of Wollongong, Australia

Section II: Marketing

Chapter II
Leveraging the Benefits of Business Clusters:
A Branding and Stakeholder Management Framework.............................................. 16
   Bill Merrilees, Griffith University, Australia
   Dale Miller, Griffith University, Australia
   Carmel Herington, Griffith University, Australia
Chapter III
Small and Medium Enterprise Clusters: Marketing and Communication Management
Paola Falcone, University of Rome “La Sapienza,” Italy

Chapter IV
Italian Industrial Districts: Nature, Structure, and Value Creation
Paola Falcone, University of Rome “La Sapienza,” Italy

Chapter V
Industry Clusters in Peripheral Regions: A Biotechnology Case Study
Philip Rosson, Dalhousie University, Canada
Carolan McLarney, Dalhousie University, Canada

Section III: Management and Economics

Chapter VI
Cluster Development: Issues, Progress and Key Success Factors
Alev M. Efendioglu, University of San Francisco, USA

Chapter VII
Regional Clusters: Classification and Overlap of Wine and Tourism Microclusters
Pamela McRae-Williams, University of Ballarat, Australia

Chapter VIII
From Networks to Clusters and Back Again: A Decade of Unsatisfied Policy Aspiration in New Zealand
Martin Perry, Massey University, New Zealand

Chapter IX
The Analysis of Tourism Cluster Development of Istanbul:
A Longitudinal Study in Sultanahmet District (Old Town)
Aslihan Nasir, Bogazici University, Turkey
Melih Bulu, International Competitiveness Research Institute (URAK), Turkey
Hakki Eraslan, International Competitiveness Research Institute (URAK), Turkey

Chapter X
Uppsala BIO – The Life Science Initiative: Experiences of and Reflections on Starting a Regional Competitiveness Initiative
Robin Teigland, Stockholm School of Economics, Sweden
Daniel Hallencreutz, Uppsala University, Sweden
Per Lundequist, Uppsala University, Sweden
Section VI: Information Technology

Chapter XI
Clustering, Collaborative Networks and Collaborative Commerce in Small and Medium Enterprises .......................................................... 224
  Michelle Rowe, Edith Cowan University, Australia
  Janice Burn, Edith Cowan University, Australia

Chapter XII
The Role of Small Business Strategic Alliances in Small/Medium Enterprises (SMEs) ........................................................................... 242
  Robert MacGregor, University of Wollongong, Australia
  Lejla Vrazalic, University of Wollongong, Australia

Chapter XIII
E-Business Standardization in the Automotive Sector: Role and Situation of SMEs .................................................................................. 281
  Martina Gerst, The University of Edinburgh, UK
  Kai Jakobs, Aachen University, Germany

Chapter XIV
Conclusion ........................................................................................................ 303
  Ann Hodgkinson, University of Wollongong, Australia
  Robert MacGregor, University of Wollongong, Australia

Glossary ............................................................................................................. 309

About the Authors .......................................................................................... 322

Index ............................................................................................................... 327