Acknowledgment

We are grateful to the book chapter authors for their important and stimulating contributions and to the reviewers for their hard work, which made this book a quality final product. All the book chapters were subjected to a double-blind peer review from a group of qualified reviewers.

We would like to thank the members of the Editorial Advisory Board for their efforts in both distributing the call-for-chapters and supporting the review process. Thanks should also go to some of the chapter authors who served on the review panel as well. We also greatly appreciate additional reviewers, who are researchers and scholars in the field and who made excellent efforts to ensure the quality of the book chapters herein. The names of reviewers are included in the List of Peer Reviewers located in the front matter of this book.

The folks at IGI Global have been professional and great. Austin DeMarco, our editor, and Christine Smith from the development team, were passionate and wonderful. Austin always provided prompt and detailed replies to every one of our queries.
