Table of Contents

Foreword .............................................................................................................................................. xiv

Preface ................................................................................................................................................. xvi

Acknowledgment ................................................................................................................................. xxi

Section 1
Theoretical Considerations

Chapter 1
What is the Opposite of a Knowledge Society? ...................................................................................... 1

  Kajsa Hallberg Adu, Ashesi University College, Ghana & University of Ghana, Ghana

Chapter 2
Digital Television and its (Dys)Functions in Africa ............................................................................. 20

  John Bosco Mayiga, The University of Western Ontario, Canada

Chapter 3
ICTs and the (Re)Production of Development Knowledge in Africa .................................................... 36

  Lord C. Mawuko-Yevugah, International Institute of Social History, The Netherlands

Section 2
Policy and Africa’s Knowledge Society

Chapter 4
Doing It Different: Shaping African Knowledge Society under the Influence of Bilateral Intellectual Property Standards ................................................................................................................................. 56

  Owais Hassan Shaikh, International Max Planck Research School for Innovation and Competition, Germany

  Yifat Nahmias, Private Lawyer, Israel
Chapter 5
Ensuring Competition in the Telecommunication Business Environment in Ghana: How Relevant is the Enactment of an Anti-Trust Law? ............................................................ 73
Stephen E. Armah, Ashesi University College, Ghana

Chapter 6
Blogging under Behemoth: Does Communications Technology Make African Politics More Competitive? .......................................................................................................................... 88
Sean Clark, Dalhousie University, Canada

Chapter 7
The Rise of Telcos and Africa’s Knowledge Society: What Have Telchambs Got to Do With It? .... 112
Lloyd G. Adu Amoah, Ashesi University, Ghana & Strategy3, Ghana

Section 3
Prescriptions for Building Africa’s Knowledge Society

Chapter 8
Creating Knowledge Society for Economic and Social Growth in Africa: The Ten Fundamental Pillars ................................................................................................................. 135
Nathaniel O. Agola, Graduate School of Global Studies, Doshisha University, Kyoto, Japan

Chapter 9
Towards an Interactive E-Government System in Sub-Saharan Africa: Prospects and Challenges... 155
Charles Conteh, Brock University, Canada
Greg Smith, Nimbus Information Management Solutions, Canada

Chapter 10
ICT and Skills Transfer: The Case for Diaspora Involvement in Tourism Development in Ghana ... 171
Paul Ankomah, North Carolina A&T University, USA
Trent Larson, North Carolina A&T University, USA

Chapter 11
Chantal Philips, University of Guelph, Canada
Wulystan P. Mtega, Sokoine University of Agriculture, Tanzania
Arja Vainio-Mattila, Huron University College, Canada

Chapter 12
Robotics Education in Africa: Africa Compete ............................................................................. 215
Marwa Soudi, Ideas Gym Science Center, Egypt
Section 4
Benchmarks for Africa’s Knowledge Society

Chapter 13
Rwanda Leapfrogs into Digital Broadcasting Migration: Challenges and Opportunities ..............232
Cedric Pierre-Louis, TELE10 Group, Rwanda

Chapter 14
Constructing the Knowledge Society: China’s Experience................................................................. 253
Li Wengang, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, China
Chen Yulai, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, China
Guo Jia, Chinese Academy of Social Sciences, China

Chapter 15
Exploring the Development of M-Government: Case Studies of Korea and Kenya’s Mobile Banking Sector......................................................................................................................... 267
Yejoo Kim, Stellenbosch University, South Africa

Chapter 16
Olga Rataj, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, UK

Compilation of References ....................................................................................................................302

About the Contributors .....................................................................................................................328

Index..................................................................................................................................................335