Acknowledgment

I deeply acknowledge the following persons and institutions that have been instrumental in the completion of this text:

Professor Bill Bhaskara Rao of the University of Western Sydney (Australia), who provided invaluable supervision in the completion of the thesis, “An Extension to the Neo-Classical Growth Model of Solow within an Endogenous Growth Framework,” the basis of this book.

Professor Biman Chand Prasad of the University of the South Pacific (Fiji), who took over as the principal supervisor (when Professor Bill suddenly passed away in September 2011) and helped in completing the research work.

Anonymous referees, examiners, and peer reviewers, who provided useful comments and suggestions. I acknowledge Professor Satya Paul of the University of Western Sydney for writing the testimonial for this book.

Professor John Lodewijks, Head of Economics and Finance, of the University of Western Sydney, and Dr. Sunil Kumar, then Acting Head of Economics, of the University of the South Pacific, for accommodating sabbatical and training leaves, which facilitated completion of the major parts of the research.

The University of the South Pacific for providing a two-year research grant and a further financial assistance that was extended towards the end of the study period.

Seminar participants at the University of Western Sydney, the University of the South Pacific, and the Global Development Network Conference (Budapest) for their comments and suggestions.

Finally, the author wishes to acknowledge the support of the editorial and publications staff of IGI Global for their commitment and hard work throughout the publication process.
