Acknowledgment

Kudos, emanating from this work with its potential to contribute to both theory and practice of information science, is unreservedly owed to the individual authors of the chapters. We thank the authors’ commitment in realizing the publication of this book. Without authors’ contributions, this project would not have been what it is now. Our utmost thanks are also extended to the reviewers who ensured that the quality aspects of this book were adhered to.

We are also highly indebted to the IGI Global team for the technical and managerial support rendered to us during all stages of the publishing cycle of this book. Particularly, Julia Mosemann – Director of Book Publications, (Ms) Jan Travers – Director of Intellectual Property and Contracts, Erika Carter – Acquisitions Editor, Myla Harty – Editorial Assistant at the Development Division, and Austin M. DeMarco – Editorial Assistant. Austin’s support during the different development stages of this book was exceptional.

We would be failing in our moral responsibilities if we did not thank colleagues and the Head of Department, Library and Information Studies, University of Botswana for their moral and technical support during this project. Thanks are also due to the University of Botswana for providing a favorable research environment, without which the final product of this work would not have been possible.

Last but not least, thanks to our families for the support and understanding as we spent a lot of time working on this project. We also thank God, His grace always in our lives.
