Acknowledgment

The publication of this book reflects the wisdom and hard work of many researchers worldwide. We first thank all the members of editorial board for their erudite comments and guidance. We heartily thank all the high quality contributors for their time and submission of manuscripts; they have made this book possible and transformed our concepts to reality. We would also like to thank all those who have contributed their proposals, drafts, ideas, and insights to this book. Our gratitude extends to the international team of referees who reviewed the book chapters selflessly. Our sincerest thanks go to our good friends at IGI Global, Mr. Vince D’Imperio, Ms. Christina Henning, Ms. Allyson Gard and Ms. Kayla Wolfe, who have given us outstanding support through the book development process. Their support, patience, and encouragement during its production have been very important for us.

Finally, Zhaohao would like to express his deep appreciation for the support and encouragement of his wife, Dr. Yanxia Huo. Without her lasting support and patience, writing and editing this book would not have been possible. John would like to express his thanks and appreciations to Zhaohao for his energy and commitment, but particularly his wonderful sense of collaboration that saw this come together so smoothly.
