Strategies for Managing IS/IT Personnel

Table of Contents

Foreword ................................................................. ix
   Conrad Shayo, California State University, San Bernardino, USA

Preface ................................................................. xi
   Magid Igbaria, Claremont Graduate University, USA and
   Tel Aviv University, Israel
   Conrad Shayo, California State University, San Bernardino, USA

SECTION I: STAFFING THE IS DEPARTMENT

Chapter I. Peopleware: The Hiring and Retention of IT Personnel .. 1
   R. Ryan Nelson, University of Virginia, USA
   Peter A. Todd, University of Virginia, USA

Chapter II. Strategies for Staffing the Information Systems Department ................................................................. 18
   Magid Igbaria, Claremont Graduate University, USA and
   Tel Aviv University, Israel
   Conrad Shayo, California State University, San Bernardino, USA
Chapter III. Strategies for Managing IS Personnel: IT Skills Staffing ................................................................. 37
A.B. Schwarzkopf, University of Oklahoma, USA
Carol Saunders, University of Central Florida, USA
‘Jon (Sean) Jasperson, University of Oklahoma, USA
Henry Croes, University of Oklahoma, USA

Chapter IV. Important CIO Features for Successfully Managing IS Sub-functions ......................................................... 64
M. Tagliavini, Cattaneo University in Castellanza, Italy
J. Moro, Cattaneo University in Castellanza, Italy
A. Ravarini, Cattaneo University in Castellanza, Italy
T. Guimaraes, Tennessee Technological University, USA

SECTION II: FACTORS AND CHALLENGES AFFECTING JOB TRANSITION OF YOUNG AND INCUMBENT IS PERSONNEL

Chapter V. Identifying the Enablers and Barriers of IT Personnel Transition ................................................................. 92
Karin M. Darais, University of Utah, USA
Kay M. Nelson, Ohio State University, USA
Sarah C. Rice, Ohio State University, USA
Mari W. Buche, Michigan Technological University, USA

Chapter VI. Organizational Entry and Transition from Academic Study: Examining a Critical Step in the Professional Development of Young IS Workers ................................................................. 113
Denis M. S. Lee, Suffolk University, USA

SECTION III: DIVERSITY IN THE IS DEPARTMENT

Chapter VII. Is There a Retention Gap for Women and Minorities? The Case for Moving In Versus Moving Up ................................. 143
Andrea H. Tapia, The Pennsylvania State University, USA
Lynette Kvasny, The Pennsylvania State University, USA
Eileen M. Trauth, The Pennsylvania State University, USA
Chapter VIII. Women in Information Technology ......................... 165
Amy Woszczynski, Kennesaw State University, USA
Martha Myers, Kennesaw State University, USA
Catherine Beise, Salisbury University, USA

Section IV: International Challenges for Managing IS Personnel

Chapter IX. Challenges of Managing the Global IS/IT Workforce ................................................................. 195
Rosann Webb Collins, University of South Florida, USA
Stanley J. Birkin, University of South Florida, USA

Chapter X. Offshore Software Development: An Alternative Solution for Information Technology Staffing ................................................. 213
Stephen Hawk, University of Wisconsin-Parkside, USA
Kate M. Kaiser, Marquette University, USA

Section V: Focused Research Topics with Implications for IS Personnel Management

Chapter XI. Managing Limited-Perspective Bias in IT ............... 248
Jo Ellen Moore, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, USA
Lisa A. Burke, Louisiana State University in Shreveport, USA

Chapter XII. The Relationship Between Role Variables and Turnover Intentions Among IT Professionals: An Examination of Moderating Effects ................................................................. 264
Patrick Chang Boon Lee, University of Macau, Macau

Chapter XIII. Reluctance to Report Reality in Troubled Technology Projects ................................................................. 282
Jo Ellen Moore, Southern Illinois University Edwardsville, USA
Lisa A. Burke, Louisiana State University in Shreveport, USA
Chapter XIV. Important Human Factors for Systems Development
Success: A User Focus ........................................................................................... 300
Tor Guimaraes, Tennessee Technological University, USA
D. Sandy Staples, Queen’s University, Canada
James D. McKeen, Queen’s University, Canada

About the Authors .................................................................................................. 321

Index ..................................................................................................................... 332