Acknowledgment

We thank the following people, without whom the book would not have come to a fruitful completion.

To Austin DeMarco, our assistant development editor at IGI Global without whom this book would not have been possible. We also wish to thank our contributors, who have made this project possible by writing chapters in their specialist areas. They have shared with us their incalculable expertise, carrying out excellent work. Thanks to them, we know better how ICT may contribute to the development of non-profit organizations and their social mission. We are also grateful to them for providing additional reviewing input to other chapters and making numerous suggestions for the development and refinement of the book.

And last, but certainly no least, our families and friends for their enduring support and encouragement.
