Many of the ideas presented in this book have appeared in early form in various publications. I’d like to acknowledge the following publications for their initial support of my scholarship in this field: WebNet Journal: Internet Technologies, Applications & Issues, Journal of Educational Multimedia and Hypermedia, Education at a Distance Journal, Journal of Asynchronous Learning Networks, and Education Policy Analysis Archives. Additionally, I’d like to thank Magid Igbaria at Claremont Graduate University for his initial encouragement and inspiration in the study of virtual communities and the social aspects of the use of computers. Finally, I want to acknowledge the contribution of my wife, Linda Venis, for her careful editing and thoughtful suggestions.