About the Contributors

Adeyinka Tella is a senior lecturer in the Department of Library and Information Science, Faculty of Communication and Information Sciences, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Tella is a commonwealth scholar who finished his PhD in September 2009 from the Department of Library and Information Studies; University of Botswana. In 2007, he was awarded small grant for thesis writing for the PhD students’ category by the council for the development of social science research in Africa (CODESRIA). He has written and published articles mostly in International reputable refereed journals together with chapters in books. He is one of the contributors to an information science reference Cases on Successful E-Learning Practices in the Developed and Developing World: Methods for the Global Information Economy. Currently, he is the Associate Editor of the International Journal of Library and Information Science, and Editor-in-Chief of the International Journal of Information Processing and Communication (IJIPC). His research areas include e-learning, information literacy, information communication technology, psychology of information, etc.

Adebayo Muritala Adegbore is currently a Librarian II with University of Ibadan attended University of Ibadan between 2002 - 2007 and 2009 - 2011 and bagged first and second degrees in Library and Information Studies respectively having earlier in 2001 and 2002 awarded an NCE certificate in Arabic/Islamic Studies (Federal College of Education, Abeokuta) and Diploma in Computer Application (De Technocrat Institute of Computer Technology, Abeokuta). Having taught at various levels of Nigerian primary and secondary education systems, Adegbore kick started his academic profession at Crescent University, Abeokuta as a Library Officer in January 2008. He was appointed an Assistance Librarian 2009 and promoted Librarian II 2011 at Fountain University before joining University of Ibadan. Adegbore’s area of research in Librarianship includes Library Automation, Electronic Resources Management, Electronic Library, School Librarianship and Information Resource Management. He is currently a research student with the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Adegbore is married with children.

Adekunle Adesola is presently the head, Information Access Management which is the modern equivalent of what used to be known as Readers’ Services and Circulation Control of the Bowen University Library, Iwo, Osun state, Nigeria. He holds a B.Sc. (Hons) Political Science and M.L.S.,(Library and Information Science) both from the University of Ibadan. He has attended a lot of trainings and workshops on social media and Web 2.0 for development and the likes. In addition to his professional and administrative duties, Adekunle teaches information literacy as an academic librarian in Bowen University, Iwo, Osun state. A great savant of information science, he has published some papers in both local and international journals. His research interest includes social media, information communication technology, user satisfaction, digitization, emerging technologies and bibliographic control.

Ganiyu Ojo Adigun is a Chattered Librarian and an Executive Member, Nigerian Library Association (NLA), Oyo State Chapter; he has a number of publications in reputable local and international journals. He is presently a Librarian II with Olusegun Oke Library, Ladoke Akintola University of Technology, Ogbomosho, Oyo State, Nigeria. He attended Ahmadu Bello University, Zaria, Nigeria between 1994 – 1997, 1998 – 2002 and 2008 – 2011 where he obtained Diploma in Library Science (DLS), Bachelor of Library and Information Science (BLIS) and Masters of Information Science (MIS) respectively. He also attended University of Ilorin between 2005 – 2007 for Masters of Business Administration (MBA). He is currently a research student with the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Adigun’s research interest cut across: Scholarly Information Environment and Communication, Online Information Environment, Information Organisation, Use of Information Communication Technology (ICT), Digital Librarianship, and Information Support Services to Distance Learning. Adigun is married and blessed with children.

Akakandelwa Akakandelwa is a senior lecturer in the Department of Library and Information Studies, University of Zambia. He holds a Bachelor of Arts with Library Studies (University of Zambia), a Master of Library and Information Studies (University of Botswana), and a PhD in Social and Political Science (University of Antwerp, Belgium). His research interests are in informetrics, information seeking behavior, e-government, information literacy, information ethics, information retrieval, and organization of information (cataloguing and classification).

Evelyn Olakitan Akinboro was born 54 years ago at Owo, ondo state of Nigeria. She graduated with Bachelor of Arts degree from University of Ife (now Obafemi Awolowo University) in 1975. She got Masters and PhD in library studies from university of Ibadan in 1981 and 2006 respectively. She worked in the library of National Cereals research Institute, Moor Plantation Ibadan. Presently, she is a senior librarian in the university library. She has worked in several units of the library, but now the chief cataloguer. She has attended many professional conferences, workshops and seminars by the Nigerian Library Association. She has many journal publications to her credit. She has served on many committees and boards of the University. Her research interests are in the area of cataloguing, Grey literature and information literacy.

Deborah Tomilola Akinola earned her diploma in mass communication from Nigerian Institute of Journalism in 2008, she received her Bachelor of Library of Information Science from University of Ilorin in 2014. She worked on a research, “Social Media as a Weapon of Mass Instruction in Training Library and Information Science Students,” with the supervision of Dr. Adeyinka Tella, the sub-dean of the faculty of Communication and Information Science University of Ilorin. In addition to writing for publications she’s also a blogger and enjoys writing creatively, and is now working on her first inspirational book. She currently resides in Lagos, Nigeria.
About the Contributors

Yetunde Lola Akolade was born and bred in Lagos, Nigeria. She attended Subuola Infant Academy for primary education and proceeded to Command Senior Secondary School, Ojo Military Catonment for secondary education. She attained B.Sc. in Library and Information Science from University of Ilorin, Ilorin, Kwara State, Nigeria.

A. Alagu is presently studying M.Phil. Library and Information Science in the Department of Library and Information Science. She has attended 4 national seminar and presented the papers. Her area of interest include Social Network, User Studies and Bibliometrics.

Halimah Odunayo Amuda is a Librarian with Fountain University, Oshogbo, Osun State, Nigeria. She obtained Bachelor of Arts (Ed.) from Ekiti State University, Ekiti State, Nigeria and Masters of Library and Information Science (MLIS) from University of Ibadan, Ibadan, Oyo State, Nigeria. Her research interest include: Information and Communication Technology, Social Media and Information System Evaluation. She is currently a research student with the Department of Library and Information Science, University of Ilorin, Nigeria. Amuda is married and blessed with kids.

Babatunde Justina Bisola holds a Bachelor degree in Library and Information Science and just been admitted to graduate programme in Library and Information at the University of Fort-Hare in South Africa. Her research includes Social media and Libraries.

Priti Jain is an Associate Professor in the Department of Library and Information Studies at the University of Botswana. She holds B.A (Hons), LL.B (Professional) degrees from Meerut University, India, Masters in Library and Information Studies from the University of Botswana, Botswana and D Lit. et Phil (Doctor of Literature and Philosophy) UNISA, South Africa. During 14 years work working experience in Library and information discipline, Priti has published 6 book chapters, 30 papers in referred journals and has presented 25 papers in international conference. She teaches knowledge management and information Science courses. Current areas of interest are: Knowledge management, Open access, Institutional Repository, and Digital Scholarship.

Tom Kwanya is based at The Technical University of Kenya. He is a Knowledge Management specialist with several years of practical experience. He has developed and implemented Knowledge Management strategies, conducted knowledge audits, developed models and frameworks for knowledge elicitation and representation, and conducted knowledge management capacity building and mentoring consultancies in the South, East, West and Horn of Africa regions. He has also taught as a part-time lecturer of knowledge and information management, organizational communication and public relations in several public and private universities in Kenya. His areas of research interest include social networking and media, innovation in research libraries, knowledge management, public relations in libraries and public information. He is a published author of peer-reviewed journal articles and two books. He holds PhD in Information Studies from the University of KwaZulu-Natal in South Africa.
Esabel Maisiri is currently a Lecturer and Chairperson of the Department of Library and Information Science at the National University of Science and Technology (NUST) in Zimbabwe. Esabel holds a Bachelor of Science (Honours) Degree in Sociology from the University of Zimbabwe (UZ), a Postgraduate Diploma in Library Studies from the University of Botswana (UB), a Postgraduate Diploma in Higher Education and a Master of Science Degree in Library and Information Science from the NUST. She has worked as a Senior Library Assistant and as an Assistant Librarian at the UZ Library, Sub-Librarian at NUST Library; and, as Information Officer at the local non-governmental organisations coordinating body, the National Association of Non-governmental Organisations (NANGO) and the International Crops Research Institute for the Semi-Arid Tropics-Zimbabwe (ICRISAT).

Elisha Mupaikwa is a holder of a Master of Science Degree in Library and Information Science and Bachelor of Science Degree in Computer Science. Currently, he is pursuing doctoral studies in Library and Information Science. He has experience in teaching in the areas of Information Technology and Library and Information Science. He has taught at the Bulawayo Polytechnic in the Department of Information Technology. He is currently a lecturer in the Department of Library and Information Science at the National University of Science and Technology in Zimbabwe. His research interests are in the areas of information systems, communication, and rural development.

Stella C. Nduka is a Librarian at the University of Lagos Library. She holds a Bachelor degree in Education at the Department of Adult Education & Community Development, University of Ibadan and Masters in Library and Information Studies from the same University. She is currently a doctoral student at the Department of Library, Archival and Information Studies, University of Ibadan. She also holds a Diploma Certificate in Adult Education and Community Development from the University of Ibadan and a certificate in basic French language. Mrs Nduka is a certified librarian and a member of Nigeria Library Association. She has passion for rendering library services to users and also meeting user’s information needs. Her research areas are; Innovative Technologies, ICT tools and Use, Digital Libraries, Library management and Women & Gender issues in Librarianship.

Similo Ngwenya is currently a Research Fellow in the Department of Library and Information Science at the National University of Science and Technology (NUST) in Zimbabwe. Similo holds a Masters Degree in Library and Information Science from the NUST and a Bachelor of Arts (Hons) in History and Development Studies from the Midlands State University in Zimbabwe. Her research interest areas include school libraries, information literary and gender issues. She teaches part-time at the Zimbabwe Open University in the Department of Library and Information Science. She has worked as Research Assistant at Help Age Zimbabwe and as a Project Assistant at Students Partnership World Wide.

Deborah Ajibola Ogunleye is a graduate of Library and Information Science, a Christian and she holds Bachelor degree of Library and Information Science from the University of Ilorin, Ilorin, Kwara State, Nigeria and she is on her quest for her Msc in Library and Information Science. She hails from Ondo state in Nigeria.
About the Contributors

Rachel Ronke Ojo holds a B.A. Ed (Hons) in Education/English (with Linguistics as minor) from the University of Ilorin, Nigeria. She also has Masters and PhD degrees in Library and Information Studies both from the University of Botswana, Gaborone. The focus of her PhD degree is IT Acceptance and use for Knowledge Management in Botswana Law Organisations. Her teaching experience in Nigeria include that of being an educator in a High school, teaching English Language and Literature in English for a number of years, as well as, a tutor in a College of Education. She worked as a librarian for some years in Gaborone, Botswana before moving to South Africa. She also worked as a senior lecturer in the department of Information Science, University of South Africa (Unisa), Pretoria, South Africa.

Olugbade Oladokun is a senior lecturer in the Department of Library and Information Studies, University of Botswana. He holds a Bachelor of Arts (Education) degree of the University of Ife (now Obafemi Awolowo University, a Master of Library Studies (MLS), University of Ibadan, a Master of Information Science (MIS) University of Pretoria and PhD in Library and Information Studies, University of Botswana. He has previously worked as a senior and principal librarian, Ladoke Akintola University of Technology, Ogbomoso, Nigeria, and a Senior Librarian and Manager, Learning Commons, University of Botswana.

Grace Olla presently heads the Acquisitions unit of Bowen University Library, Iwo, Osun State, Nigeria. She holds a M. Sc. (Information Science) University of Ibadan and a B.L.S from Delta State University, Abraka. An erudite scholar, Mrs. Olla teaches information literacy in Bowen University in addition to her very demanding schedule as the Acquisitions Librarian. A versatile information professional, Mrs. Olla has attended lots of trainings, seminars and workshops bordering on building a balanced, systematic collection, library software, Web 2.0., social media, and information communication technology. Mrs. Olla has published in reputable journals both locally and internationally. Her research interest covers collection management, bibliographic control, library software, information communication technology, social media, Web 2.0. and customer satisfaction.

Seun Paul Olura was born and bred in Egbe, Kogi State, Nigeria. He attended El-Shaddai Nursery and Primary School, and proceeded to Government Secondary School. He attained Ordinary National Diploma (OND) in Library and Information Science from the Federal Polytechnic, Offa, Kwara State, and B.Sc. in Library and Information Science from University of Ilorin, Ilorin, Kwara State, Nigeria.

Edeama O. Onwuchekwa is currently an Academic Librarian in the National Open University of Nigeria, Lagos. She holds a B.A (Hons) in Library and Information Science from the University of Nigeria, Nsukka and a Masters degree in Information Studies from the University of Ghana, Legon. She is a member of the National Library Association of Nigeria and the African Council for Distance Education. Her areas of professional interest include Information Organisation and Retrieval, Disaster and Risk Management of Information Resources, Reference and Information Services, User Education, Information Literacy and Distance Education. Mrs Onwuchekwa is an adept researcher and has excellent interpersonal relationship with her reading clientele. She has a strong passion to revive the reading culture in children and youths in the developing countries. She is an ardent believer of the maxim that “Books are for Use”. Outside of professional interests, she enjoys reading, writing and counselling. She also loves spending time with her husband and son.
Taofeeqat Ajoke Soluoku was born and bred in Lagos, Nigeria. She attended Dawah International Nursery and Primary School, and proceeded to Al-Faruq College. Attained B.Sc. in Library and Information Science from University of Ilorin, Ilorin, Kwara State, Nigeria.

Christine Stilwell is Professor Emeritus of Information Studies in the School of Social Sciences, at the University of KwaZulu-Natal (UKZN). Before she retired in 2013, she headed the Programme from 2003 to 2007. She was also Acting Director of the Centre for African Literary Studies on the Pietermaritzburg Campus. A National Research Foundation rated researcher she has published a co-edited book, a directory of South African resource centres, many chapters in books and numerous journal articles. She serves on the Editorial Advisory Boards of several journals: Information Development, Innovation: Appropriate Librarianship and Information Work in Southern Africa, South African Journal of Library and Information Science, Mousaion and African Journal of Library, Archives and Information Science, and on the Advisory Board of the Alan Paton Centre and Struggle Archives (UKZN). Her research interests are public libraries and their role in addressing poverty and social exclusion, and information behaviour.

S. Thanuskodi is an Associate Professor in Library and Information Science, Directorate of Distance Education, Alagapa University. Earlier he served as Librarian in The Central Law College, Salem from 1995 to 2007. Thanuskodi holds B.Sc. M.A., B.Ed., M.L.I.S., M.Phil., PhD., and M.L. (International Law and Constitutional Law) Degrees. He is life member of Professional bodies such as IIPA, ILA, IASLIC, IATLIS, MALA, SALIS and SIS. He has contributed more than 30 research papers in Indian and foreign journals. He has also attended and presented several publications in national and international conferences/seminars. His areas of interest include user studies, bibliometrics, and digital libraries.