Petter Gottschalk is professor of information and knowledge management at the Norwegian School of Management in Oslo, Norway. He teaches at the Arab Academy in Alexandria, Fudan University in Shanghai, and Nanyang University in Singapore. Dr. Gottschalk has written several books published by Idea Group: Strategic Knowledge Management Technology, Managing Successful IT Outsourcing Relationships with Hans Solli-Sæther, E-Business Strategy, Sourcing and Governance, Knowledge Management Systems in Law Enforcement: Technologies and Techniques, CIO and Corporate Strategic Management: Changing Role of CIO to CEO, and Knowledge Management Systems: Value Shop Creation. Petter Gottschalk earned his MBA at the Technical University of Berlin, Germany, his MSc at Thayer School of Engineering, Dartmouth College, and the Sloan School of Management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and his DBA at Henley Management College at Brunel University, UK. For more than 15 years, Dr. Gottschalk was an executive in business organizations. He was the CIO of ABB Norway, the CEO of ABB Datacables, and the CEO of the Norwegian Computing Center.
FOREWORD AUTHORS:

Stefan Holgersson earned his PhD in information systems development at the University of Linköping in Sweden. The aim and direction of his research is policing, and he works part-time as a patrolling officer. Besides being a patrolling officer, he is part of the Swedish negotiator team and works in a special group that strives to communicate with participants in riot situations on the street. He is involved in information system projects in the Swedish police force, which focus on providing useable systems for the users at the street level.

Rob Tweehuysen, Msc, has a background in applied mathematics from the Technical University of Delft in the Netherlands. His professional career involves positions at different levels, ranging from R&D to business development: researcher at Philips Physics Laboratory (Eindhoven, the Netherlands); Visiting Research Fellow at the System Dynamics Group at Dartmouth College (USA); Business Development, Financial Planning and Corporate Strategy of the Océ Group (Venlo, the Netherlands), Deputy Director of Marketing and Strategy at TNO; consultant of RAND Europe (Leiden, the Netherlands). Since 1998 he has directed his own company, Tweehuysen B.V., which specializes in identifying, selecting, and developing new business, particularly in life sciences. He is co-founder and shareholder of the high-tech companies Chiralix BV, Spinnovation BV, Sensor Sense BV, Encapson BV, NovioMetrix BV.