About the Author

Shelly R. Roy is an adjunct professor at Fairmont State University/Pierpont Community and Technical College in Fairmont, West Virginia, and a Student Advisor/Military Application Coordinator for the School of Business and Leadership at the University of Charleston, in Charleston, West Virginia. She earned the degree Doctor of Executive Leadership from the University of Charleston in 2013. She earned the degree of Master of Science in Strategic Leadership in 2008, and a Bachelor of Science in Organizational Leadership with summa cum laude honors in 2007 from MSU. Her research interests include trait emotional intelligence in leadership and education, virtual and crisis leadership, teaching effectiveness, and many other areas.