About the Contributors

Marianne Ojo has published a total of more than 80 internationally peer-reviewed books, ISI accredited journal articles, book chapters and conference proceedings papers. She currently works as Visiting Professor, post-doctoral researcher as well as university lecturer and Visiting Scholar at North West University. She is currently also engaged in several projects at affiliated universities in the United States as well as supervision of graduate and non-graduate students. Furthermore, she serves as a reviewer for various scientific and academic journals which have been accredited with highest credentials at international level. Her previous academic commitments include Insolvency and Research work at LTB, Frankfurt, Research Fellow at the Center for European Law, University of Bremen (2007 – 2010), Teaching Associate and Graduate Teaching Assistant at Oxford Brookes University (2004 – 2007). She has also collaborated with several other authors as well as contributed in several consultation and academic exercises with the Bank for International Settlements.

***

Azham Md Ali is a Professor of Accounting and Finance, currently at the Universiti Pendidikan Sultan Idris. His main areas of specialization include accounting, auditing, governance and political economy. Amongst his collaborative publications are: Audit Challenges in Malaysia Today, The Audit Expectations Gap in Malaysia: An Investigation into Causes and Remedies.

Olusegun Felix Ayadi received the Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) degree in Finance from The University of Mississippi. He is currently the J.P. Morgan Chase Endowed Chair and Professor of Finance, at the Jesse H. Jones School of Business, Texas Southern University, Houston, Texas, USA. He teaches finance courses to both graduate and undergraduate students. He was a Fulbright Scholar in the College of Business and Social Sciences at Covenant University in Nigeria from January 2012 through August 2012. Professor Ayadi has published over sixty-five refereed articles in several academic journals including: Journal of Banking and Finance; Global Finance Journal; Journal of Multinational Financial Management; The International Journal of Finance; International Review of Financial Analysis; Journal of Emerging Markets; Journal of Asian and African Studies; and OPEC Review.

Jose DeLarosiere, studied Economics as a major for his undergraduate studies – as well as completed his postgraduate universities in Brazil. Having worked as a lecturer for several years in the Faculty of Social Sciences in Rio de Janeiro, he decided to further his career in the area of Financial Economics – with a focus on the stock markets and government regulation and policies. He is also particularly interested in research related to the BRICS economies – as well as the impact of regulatory and economic reforms and policies on emerging economies.
About the Contributors

Maria DiGabriele currently works as an Associate Professor at the New York University. Having published various articles in Financial and Legal related disciplines, she hopes to consolidate on previous and current publications.

Genevieve Dupont is currently working as a lecturer and hopes to consolidate on her teaching with research publications in internationally accredited and peer reviewed journals. She is involved in several charity and humanitarian projects which are dedicated towards causes of alleviating poverty – in collaboration with organizations such as UNICEF and the International Monetary Fund (IMF). She is also involved in economic and environmental awareness programs which are targeted towards the reduction of carbon emissions, greater use of renewable energy resources and investigating the impact of fossil fuels and energy generating resources on the environment – in addition to their financial and economic influences. She is a huge fan of American literature – in particular, Harper Lee and was inspired to work on her current projects after having visited magnificent wildlife and safari reserves in which she experienced life enduring memories of wonderful sunsets and the nature and wildlife in places such as Kenya, South Africa and Costa Rica. Her future projects, collaborations and forthcoming publications include: “To Whom Much is Given: Environmental and Economic Impacts of Nuclear Energy Projects”, “Cost Effectiveness and Cost Cutting Policies: Dealing with Financial Consequences of Declining Global Oil prices”. Naturally her favorite Quote: “With Great Power Comes Great Responsibility.”

Jon Edwards is currently working as a Visiting Scholar at Goethe University, Frankfurt am Main, 60323, Frankfurt. He also hopes to consolidate on his publications - particularly in relation to global and financial markets.

Roshi Mohamad is an accountancy lecturer at the Universiti Utara Malaysia, College of Business. His areas of specialization include Accounting Information Systems, E Commerce, E Business, Information Technology in Small Medium Enterprises. Publications include: Electronic Commerce Adoption in SMEs: The Trend of Prior Studies, Malaysian Corporate Website: A Survey of Web Characteristics, A Comparative Study of E Commerce Degree Programs in the US, UK, Australia and Selected Asian Countries.

Sarah Newton graduated with a BSc in Accounting and a Master’s degree in Economics, and wishes to consolidate on her PhD, with legal - as well as financial related research. She has worked as a lecturer and Visiting Scholar at several universities in the United Kingdom and hopes that greater focus on the research aspect of her work will broaden horizons and career possibilities globally.
James O. Odia (PhD) is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Accounting in the University of Benin, Benin City where he lectures both undergraduate and post - graduate students. His current research interests include: Corporate Sustainability Practices and Strategy Management by firms.

Chandra Sekhar Patro is currently pursuing his Ph.D in Commerce and Management Studies from Andhra University. He has post-graduate degree in Master of Commerce (M.Com.) from Andhra University, Master in Financial Management (MFM) from Pondicherry University, and also MBA (HR & Finance) from JNT University. Mr. Patro has over 9 years of teaching experience in higher education. Mr. Patro has gained very good knowledge in Human Resource Management and Accountancy/Finance subjects. He has published number of research papers in reputed National and International Journals and also presented papers in National and International Conferences.

Kamakula Madhu Kishore Raghunath is presently working as Assistant Professor in the Department of Management Studies at GVP College of Engineering (Autonomous). He has a Post-graduate degree in Management with Finance and Marketing specializations from Jawaharlal Nehru Technological University. Mr. Madhu is a SET qualified faculty with over four years of teaching experience in higher education. Mr. Madhu has good knowledge in Finance and Marketing subjects. His research interests include Supply Chain Management, Marketing, and Finance topics.

James Rossi is a Senior Lecturer at University of Greenwich. Having studied economics - with a focus on lecturing and teaching, the author would like to consolidate on publications relating to the field of law and economics - as well as legal related research. Further, as evidenced through this contribution, the important links between accounting, economics, and law - as illustrated by the impact of IFRS adoption globally, and their relevance in financial capital markets, it is hoped, will be emphasized. His forthcoming publications include: “Taxes, Consumer Spending, Manufacturing and Infrastructure: The Real Price of Investment”, “Preserving Natural Habitats and Heritages: Economic Rewards in Investments”, “Matters of National Interest and Security: Trade and Foreign Direct Investment”, and “Powerful Trade Partners and the Economics of Poverty: Investing in the Future”. His principal interests and hobbies includes listening to classical music, playing the piano – as well as other instruments.

Marta Vidal, BSc and MBA from ESADE Business School, is a PhD student in Management at Complutense University and Assistant Professor of Management at European University of Madrid.

Javier Vidal-Garcia is Assistant Professor of Finance at University of Valladolid, Spain. He has a BSc in Management from Queen’s University Belfast, MSc in Finance from Aston Business School, MA in Economics from Autonomous University of Madrid, PhD in Financial Economics from Complutense University of Madrid and has been postdoctoral fellow at the Harvard Business School.

Nor Zalina Mohamad Yusof is also a lecturer at the Universiti Utara Malaysia School of Accountancy Malaysia. Her publications include: Corporate Governance and Audit Report Lag in Malaysia, The Malaysian Market for Audit Services: Ethnicity, Multinational Companies and Auditor Choices, Financial Restatements and Corporate Governance among Malaysian Listed Companies, The Provision of Non Audit Services, Audit Fees and Auditor Independence.