About the Contributors

M. Mustafa Erdoğdu is professor of economics at Marmara University in Istanbul, Turkey, where he is the head of Financial Economics. He received his MA and PhD in development economics from Manchester University, UK. He is associate editor of International Journal of Applied Behavioral Economics and International Journal of Productivity Management and Assessment Technologies, international advisory board member of International Journal of Sustainable Economies Management, editorial board member of several other journals including Turkish Studies Journal. He has published articles on a wide range of issues, a book on social budge, and co-edited several books on economic development and public finance. His major interest of research areas are international political economy and development, sustainable development, renewable energies, global commons and public goods, behavioral public finance, tax compliance, developmental states, industrial policy, technological capability building, employment policy, and financial crises.

Thankom Arun is a Professor of Global Development and Accountability at the Essex Business School. Currently, he is a Professor Extraordinaire at the Stellenbosch business School, South Africa and a Research fellow at IZA, Bonn. He is also chairing an academic steering group on Financial inclusion in the International Cooperative and Mutual Insurance Federation (ICMIF). Previously, he was Professor and Director of the Institute of Global Finance and Development (IGFD), at the Lancashire Business School, UCLan; Visiting Professor at the University of Rome and held academic positions at Manchester and Ulster. His research has been a move away from arbitrary disciplinary constraints towards an interdisciplinary learning process to understand the uneven relationships in Finance, Accounting and Development, particularly in developing/emerging country contexts.

Imran Ahmed is a senior executive in climate change, energy, environment, green growth and sustainable development. He has been leading climate change, green growth, clean energy, environment and sustainable development programs, policies and projects for over twenty years. He has a demonstrated track record of achievements in international organisations, United Nations and government. He was recently the Director of East-Asia and Pacific at the Global Green Growth Institute (GGGI) in Seoul. He is currently an honorary Associate Professor at the Fenner School of Environment and Society, Australian National University.

* * *
Michel Aglietta is a Graduate from the French Ecole polytechnique and ENSAE, emeritus Professor of Economic Sciences at the University of Paris X Nanterre, Michel Aglietta is an Advisor to the CEPII. He is also a member of the Haut conseil des finances publiques.

Mahmure Övül Aroğlu Akan is a lecturer in the Industrial Engineering Department of Marmara University. She holds a BSc. degree in Environmental Engineering from Istanbul Technical University, and MSc. and PhD. degrees in Industrial Engineering from Marmara University. Her main research areas include sustainable supplier selection and evaluation, sustainable supply chain management, corporate sustainability management, social sustainability, renewable energy policies, agent-based service and performance management, and multivariate statistical quality control.

Sevda Akar was born in 1984 in Haskovo, Bulgaria. She is an assistant professor of Public Finance Department at the Bandırma Onyedi Eylül University, Turkey. She received her MA (2009) and Ph.D. (2013) in public finance from Marmara University. The Ph.D. dissertation entitled “The Impact of Natural Disasters on Public Finance: Turkish Case (in Turkish)”. Her major research fields include public finance, public economics, health expenditures, public expenditures and revenues, taxation, government budget, global studies, renewable energy policies and time series analysis.

Diane-Laure Arjaliès is an assistant professor at the Ivey Business School. Before joining Ivey in 2015, Diane-Laure was an assistant professor at the Accounting and Management Control Department of HEC Paris. She received her PhD in business administration from ESSEC Business School in Paris and holds an MBA and a M.Sc. in organizational theory. She also has several years of experience in responsible investments at an asset management company. Utilizing qualitative methods, Diane-Laure investigates the introduction of non-financial performance measures in management control systems. She is particularly interested in the development of Responsible Investment (RI) and its impact on the financial markets. Her work in this area has won her several academic and professional prizes.

Nemanja Backović is a junior researcher at the Faculty of Organizational Sciences, University of Belgrade where he assists teaching courses in the areas of business economics, Internet economics, management and international business. He authored or co-authored several articles in national and international scientific and professional journals.

Bhavik Bakshi is a Professor of Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering at The Ohio State University. His research focuses on Sustainability Science and Engineering with emphasis on quantifying the role of ecosystems in supporting industrial activities, and on designing synergies between technological and ecological systems. He is a chemical engineer by training, with degrees from the Institute of Chemical Technology, Mumbai and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.
Hikmet Gülçin Beken, received a Master Degree and a PhD in International Economics from Marmara University. She stayed one year in Germany and she participated to the lectures in Bremen University, Bremen International Graduate School of Sciences-BIGSSS, Zentrum für Sozial Politik-ZeS for her PhD research as an Erasmus student. She also participated several international workshops and summer schools about social policy and welfare state. She has been giving courses such as International Trade, Development Economics, Poverty and Income Distribution both on graduate and undergraduate levels. She’s currently an assistant professor at Gümüşhane University. Her research areas are development economics, international economics, social policy and welfare states.

Akın Bildik is an Internal Auditor & Risk Manager at Turkapital Holding BSC. He has 11 years international banking and other financial institutions experience providing internal auditing & risk management consulting, financial advisory and loan management services. He is currently servicing to TK Holding, the investment house under Kuwait Finance Group - one of the biggest financial institution in the Gulf region -. as Audit & Risk Manager since 2011. He is IIA (The Institute of Internal Auditors) and the IRM (The Institute of Risk Management – London/UK) member. Akın is currently doing academic researches under Ph.D. program regarding financial economics in Marmata University / Turkey. He is also Certified Risk Management Assurance (CRMA) holder.

Julia Dobreva is a senior assistant professor of economics at the University for Finance, Business and Entrepreneurship - a leading private university, situated in Sofia, Bulgaria. She is also an honorary university lecturer at the University of Sheffield (Sofia based). Her major teaching and research fields include political economy, global studies, sustainable development, behavioral economics.

Bülent Doğru has a Master Degree and a PhD in Economics from Istanbul Technical University and Istanbul University, respectively. He is currently an associate professor at Gümüşhane University. His research fields are monetary economics, growth and applied econometrics.

Étienne Espagne is a macro-economist at CEPII (Centre d’Etudes Prospectives et d’Informations Internationales), a public think-tank advising the French Prime Minister. Before joining the CEPII, he worked at France Stratégie on subjects related to climate finance. He holds a PhD in environmental economics from the École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales (EHESS) and is also a graduate from the French École des Mines de Paris and the Paris School of Economics. He has published several papers in academic journals in the field of climate change and energy economics. He regularly teaches energy and environmental economics at the Ecole Nationale des Techniques avancées in Paris.

Seniye Ümit Oktay Fırat, PhD, is the Professor of Industrial Engineering at the University of Marmara. She has carried out many field surveys and projects on Productivity analysis, Forecasting, Sustainability, Industry 4.0, Labour Force Productivity, Marketing Research, TQM and SPC Applications, Six Sigma Implementation, Data Mining Applications, ERP and BI Pre-implementation Process Analysis, Customer Segmentation in the SMEs and Large Size manufacturing firms, retailing and banking sectors. She has published over 100 academic papers in national and international journals and conferences, and five edited books in her research areas.
About the Contributors

Ayfer Gedikli graduated from Bogazici University department of Electronics in 1991 and Inonu University, department of Management in 1998. She finished MBA at Fatih University and got her doctorate degree in 2009 on Fiscal Economics at Marmara University Institute of Social Science. Currently, she is working as Associate Professor at Istanbul Medeniyet University, Faculty of Political Science, Economics Department. Her current research are includes financial crisis, macroeconomics, poverty and monetary policy.

Amerissa Giannouli has B.Sc in Economics (Specialized in Business Economics and Finance) and M.Sc in International and European Economic Studies (Specialized in European Economic Policy). Her academic interest is focusing on environmental economics, agricultural economics, public economics and economic competitiveness.

Hilal Görkem: Education Bachelor: Ege University, International Relations, 1999-2003 MA: Çanakkale Onsekiz Mart University, Public Finance, 2004-2007 PhD: Marmara University, Public Finance 2007-2013 Experience: 2004-2008: Çanakkale Onsekiz Mart University, Department of Public Finance, Research Assistant 2008-2013: Marmara University, Department of Public Finance, Research Assistant 2013-2014: Marmara University, Department of Public Finance, Research Assistant Dr. 2014-...: Çanakkale Onsekiz Mart University, Department of Public Finance, Research Assistant Dr.

Gökhan Gökçeoğlu has started his professional life in 1998 EGS Bank’s Board of Auditors. In 2002, he pursued his career there as an auditor, branch manager, Group International Controller and Holding Audit & Risk Management Director, respectively, until 2013. He has been working as the Audit & Risk Management Director of US Polo, Pierre Cardin, Cacharel Group; an international retail and apparel conglomerate active in more than 30 countries, since then. As an associate member and senior lecturer of Bogazici University/Istanbul, he holds BA degree on Political Sciences and MA degree on Economics & Finance, both taken from there. Being a firm believer in continuous professional development, he has acquired CCSA, CRMA, CPA certifications throughout the course of his career and he is also one of IIA’s (Institute of Internal Auditing) CSL (Certified Seminar Leader) team.

Nicole Grunewald holds a Master Degree and a PhD in Economics (2013) from the University of Goettingen. She has worked as chapter scientist for the Fifth Assessment Report on Climate Change by the IPCC.

Akrum Helfaya holds a BSc in Accounting from Alexandria University, Egypt, an MRes and a PhD in Environmental Accounting from University of Aberdeen, UK and an MA in Teaching & Learning in Higher Education from Keele University, UK. He is a lecturer in Accounting at Keele University, UK, and is also affiliated to Damahour University, Egypt. Previously Akrum held academic positions at University of Aberdeen, UK and Alexandria University, Egypt. He is co-author of some academic papers and book-chapters, published by Journal of Business Ethics, LAP Lambert Academic Publishing, and IGI Global Book Series. His research interests are in accounting for sustainability, corporate governance and accountability, innovations in accounting education and religious individual responsibility towards environment and society. Akrum is an ad hoc Reviewer for highly ranked and international account-
Merve Er Kara is a research assistant and a PhD student in department of Industrial Engineering at Marmara University, Turkey. She graduated from Industrial Engineering Department at Sakarya University in 2008. Then, she had her master degree from Industrial Engineering Department at Marmara University in 2010. Her research interests are Supply Chain Risk Management, Data Mining and Metaheuristics.

Coskun Karaca is associate professor of economics at Cumhuriyet University in Sivas, Turkey. He has a PhD from Marmara University in relation to sustainable development and renewable energies. His major research areas are sustainable development, renewable energies, fiscal policies in the crises, fiscal space, tax reform, and foreign direct investment.

Amira Khattak is an Assistant Professor in the College of Business Administration, Prince Sultan University, Saudi Arabia. She holds a M.Sc. in Management from The University of Hull, United Kingdom and a Ph.D. in International Business from The University of Auckland, New Zealand. Her areas of interest are social and environmental upgrading in Global Value Chains (GVCs). She is a member of editorial board of various international and local journals.

Wiboon Kittilaksanawong is Professor of Strategy and International Business in the Graduate School of Humanities and Social Sciences, Faculty of Economics, Saitama University. He received PhD from National Taiwan University. His research interests include global business and strategy, business strategies in emerging markets, and international entrepreneurship.

Amr Kothb is currently an Associate Professor of Accounting at Prince Sultan University (Saudi Arabia), and is also affiliated to Cairo University (Egypt). Prior to that, he has been affiliated to Anglia Ruskin University, Middlesex University, Coventry University and the University of Aberdeen in the United Kingdom. Amr’s work is published in Journal of Information Systems, Journal of Business Ethics, Critical Perspectives on Accounting, International Journal of Auditing, Journal of Applied Accounting Research, and Accounting Education: An International Journal, in the areas of IT auditing, accounting education, and corporate social responsibility.

Phoebe Koundouri holds a PhD, MPhil and MSc from the University of Cambridge. She is the Scientific Director of ICRE8. Additionally, she is the Vice President of the European Association of Environmental and Resource Economists, Senior Researcher at ATHENA, Associate Professor at the Athens University of Economics and Business, Director of the Research team on Socio-Economic and Environmental Sustainability (RESEES) and Visiting Senior Research Fellow at the London School of Economics and Political Science, Grantham Research Institute on Climate Change and the Environment. Before, she held academic positions at University of Cambridge, University College London, University of Reading, London Business School, Université Toulouse 1 Sciences Sociales. Her main research interests are: Environmental and Natural Resources Economics and Econometrics. She has published 10 books and more than 200 articles. She is a highly cited author in her scientific field and editorial board member in 13 academic journals. She has coordinated and participated in more than 40 research projects funded from the European Commission, World Bank, OECD, FAO, DEFRA, etc. Over the last two decades she gave academic and public lecturers all over the world, and received scholarships and prizes for academic excellence from various academic institutions and foundations.
About the Contributors

Berrin Kurşun had her PhD at The Ohio State University in 2013. Her PhD studies focused on sustainable energy systems design composed of localized and centralized technology options. For that, she worked in collaboration with a local NGO (Development Alternatives) in India. Berrin Kursun works at Marmara University Chemical Engineering Department since 2014 and at Marmara University International Sustainability Center since 2015. She continues her studies in the areas of sustainable energy systems design, techno-ecological synergy, holistic management with a Turkish NGO and sustainability on campus.

Ali Kurultay has graduated from Architecture Department of Mimar Sinan Güzel Sanatlар University, Istanbul in 2007. He holds a master degree on Architectural Conservation from Istanbul Technical University. In 2007 he worked in a World Bank founded project for mitigation of earthquake hazard on historical buildings under the administration of Ministry of Culture. Since 2008, as the Co-Owner of Birer-Kurultay Architects, he has conducted several restoration projects mainly in Istanbul. In 2009 he has participated in UNESCO Project for documenting Erbil Citadel in Northern Iraq.

Zheng Liu is a lecturer in the International Business School Suzhou, Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University. She gained her PhD at the Institute for Manufacturing, University of Cambridge with the research topic “The Development of Inter-firm Trust in Different National Culture Contexts: cases from the animation game industry”. Her current research interests include cross-culture management, supply chain, and creative industry.

Inmaculada Martínez-Zarzoso holds a Master Degree (1994) and a PhD in International Economics (1998) from the University of Birmingham, England. She is a Professor of Economics at the University Jaume I (Spain) since 1991 and a researcher in the Instituto de Economía Internacional (Spain) since 1995. Currently, she is professor at the University of Göttingen (Germany) and at the University Jaume I, Castellón. Her fields of research include international economics, environmental economics and transport economics. Some of the international journals where she has been published her researches are: Open Economics Review, Environmental and Resource Economics, Economic Letters and Journal of Transport Economics and Policy.

Ramona McNeal is an associate professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of Northern Iowa. Her chief research interests include e-government, telehealth, campaign finance reform and telecommunications policy. She also studies the impact of technology on participation, including its relationship to voting, elections, and public opinion. She has published work in a number of journals including Journal of Information Technology & Politics, Social Science Quarterly, Policy Studies Journal, Public Administration Review, Political Research Quarterly and State Politics and Policy Quarterly. She is a co-author of Digital Citizenship: The Internet, Society and Participation (MIT Press, 2007) with Karen Mossberger and Caroline Tolbert.
Vesna Milićević is a professor at the Faculty of Organizational Sciences, University of Belgrade where she teaches courses in the areas of business economics, Internet economics, management and international business. She is the author or co-author of a number of monographs, textbooks and articles in national and international scientific and professional journals. Vesna Milićević is elected member of the Scientific Society of Economists of Serbia. She has participated in strategic scientific & research projects and in projects and management training in companies.

Katarzyna Osiecka-Brzeska is a doctor of Economics since 2013 and specialist in energy and telecommunication projects.

Jean-Pierre Ponssard is emeritus research director at CNRS and Ecole Polytechnique, France and associate research fellow at CIRANO. His fields of research concern economics of environment, industrial organization, and game theory. He recently published in JAERE, JEEM, Resour. Energy Econ and co-edited two books Corporate Social Responsibility: from Compliance to Opportunity (with Patricia Crifo) and Economie du climat: Pistes pour l’après Kyoto (with Olivier Godard). Jean-Pierre Ponssard was professor of economics at Ecole Polytechnique and the head of the Laboratoire d’économétrie. He leads with Gaël Giraud the chair Energy and Prosperity at Fondation du Risque (EIF), France. In 2010 he received the excellence award from CNRS. He holds a PhD from Stanford University, and an engineer degree from Ecole Polytechnique. web site http://ponssard.net/.

Arpit Raswant is a doctoral candidate at the Sydney Business School based in the University of Wollongong (UOW) and undertaking research in the School of Management, Operations and Marketing of the UOW’s Faculty of Business. In 2015, he was awarded the Australian Research Council’s ITRH (SRH) PhD scholarship along with the International Postgraduate Tuition Award from the UOW. He holds a bachelors (commerce) from the University of Sydney and a masters (international commerce) from the Korea University. In 2010, he was awarded the POSCO Asia Fellowship to pursue a postgraduate degree in South Korea and has since worked for LG and Korean Air. He teaches international business courses at postgraduate and as well undergraduate level at the University of Sydney Business School. His research interests include international business, innovation management, big data management, cybersecurity, international development and cosmology.

Mary Schmeida, Ph.D., is a public policy expert who has served in several key research positions. Her research has been published in a number of academic journals including Government Information Quarterly, Administration and Policy in Mental Health and Mental Health Services Research, Journal of Health Care for the Poor and Underserved, and International Journal of Professional Case Management. She has presented her works nationally and internationally.

Ayşe Ayçim Selam is a lecturer in the Industrial Engineering Department of Marmara University. She holds a BSc. degree in Mechanical Engineering, and a MSc. in Engineering Management from Istanbul Technical University, and a PhD. degree in Industrial Engineering from Marmara University. Her main research areas include sustainable project management, renewable energy, sustainable energy, bee colony optimization and project scheduling.

About the Contributors

Yasemin Sen is an academician at Istanbul University, School of Business in Turkey. She got her Ph.D. title by graduating from Management and Organization doctoral program of I.U. Social Sciences Institute and specialized on the topic of organizational/corporate memory systems. Ms. Sen has several publications in the area of management and makes studies on topics such as sustainability, knowledge management, innovation, leadership, corporate culture and strategic management.

Shahazadi Begum Shaik is Assistant Professor of Marketing at GITAM School of International Business at GITAM University in Visakhapatnam, India. She received her MBA in Marketing, and Post Graduate Diploma and Ph.D in International Business from India. She has a rich experience from industry and academia. She is an associate editor of Global Vistas and Editorial Board Member of Nile Journal of Business and Economics. She has presented and published articles in International Conferences and Journals in the areas of Marketing and International Business.

Adam Sofronijević is a deputy director at the University Library “Svetozar Marković” of the University of Belgrade. He has written chapters in several scientific monographs and a large number of scientific and professional papers in the field of librarianship, management and IT in domestic and foreign journals. He participates in activities of the Association of European Research Libraries. Adam Sofronijević has many years of managerial experience in the areas of creative industries and digitization.

Ioannis Souliotis is a Ph.D. researcher at the Centre for Environmental Policy, Imperial College London. He holds a B.Sc in Economics from Athens University of Economics and Business and a M.Sc. in Environmental and Natural Resource Economics from the University of Copenhagen. He specializes in the use of non-market valuation techniques. His research interest lies within economics, econometrics, economic valuation techniques, water management and economics of natural resources. He has taken part in many EU projects.

Christina Stringer is an Associate Professor in the Department of Management and International Business, The University of Auckland, New Zealand.

Catherine Sutton-Brady is an Associate Professor of Marketing at the University of Sydney Business School, Australia. Dr. Sutton-Brady holds a B.Comm (Hons) and Masters in Business Studies from University College Cork, National University of Ireland and a Ph.D. in International Marketing from the University of Western Sydney. Her research concentrates on international marketing and relationships and networks in business markets. She has also published extensively in the area of marketing education. She is a member of the editorial board for Industrial Marketing Management.

Fatma Turna was born in Kahramanmaraş in 1986. She has graduated from Erciyes University, the Department of Public Finance in 2009. The same year, she started working as a research assistant at Hakkari University the Department of Public Finance. Currently, she is doing her doctoral degree as a research assistant at Marmara University Department of Public Finance.
Durmuş Çağrı Yıldırım was born in 1981. After he graduated from Department of Economics in Kocaeli University in 2005, he started his master’s education in Economics in the same year. He got the degree of Masters in Economic Policy in 2007. In 2011, he got his Ph.D degree in Economics. While he was a doctorate student, he studied one semester in Almeria University-Spain. Between 2006-2012 he worked as a research assistant at University of Kocaeli. He worked at Banking and Finance Department as assistant professor and head of department in Recep Tayyip Erdoğan University between 2013-2015. He has worked at Namik Kemal University since April 2015. He also worked as a member of team of International Knowledge, Economics and Management Congress. Besides, he was the editor of Journal of Kocaeli University Social Sciences until 2011. He participated in different Projects both as Project manager and adjunct Project manager. Lately, he was the project coordinator of Üsküdar Children University (With the support of Istanbul Development Agency). Other important projects he participated in are Dilovası Social Cultural Research and Project of Increasing Employment of Disadvantageous Groups.

Seda Yıldırım was born in 1983. She was graduated from Kocaeli University in 2006. Then she studied on marketing and she had a PhD degree for marketing. Between 2010-2013, she worked in Kocaeli University. Since July 2013, she has been working in Recep Tayyip Erdoğan University in Rize. She was interested in green marketing, sustainable consumption and service marketing. She also studied on topics of SMEs, relationship marketing and RFID technology and she had both of national and international articles about different kinds of cases in service marketing.

Jürgen Zattler is presently Deputy Director General for Multilateral and European Policy in the German Ministry for Economic Co-operation and Development. Before he was Head of the Division on World Bank, IMF, and debt related issues and Deputy Head of Division for WTO and trade policy. His prior experience in the public and private sector includes the European Commission in Brussels, where he worked on macroeconomic issues related to developing countries and the Dresdner Bank in Berlin. Dr. Zattler holds a PhD in economics.

Kaifeng Zhang is currently studying BA in Business Administration in the International Business School Suzhou, Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University. She is interested in fair trade supply chain management, and has conducted fieldwork interviews into several fair trade companies in China. She has also started up her own company - Memory Keeper in the Student Enterprise Park of Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University.