About the Contributors

Gulsah Koc is earning her Master’s degree in Architecture from Yildiz Technical University in Istanbul, Turkey.

Bryan Christiansen has progressively held the positions of President, CEO, and then Chairman in PryMarke, LLC, a Michigan, USA-based Business Analytics and Management Consultancy since 2004. Bryan has also been an Adjunct Business Professor at Capella University, DeVry University, and Ellis University (formerly Ellis College of New York Institute of Technology) in the USA, and a Senior Business Lecturer at Gumushane University in Turkey. Born in Washington, DC and raised in Asia, Bryan is fluent in Chinese, Japanese, Spanish, and Turkish, and has traveled to 40 countries during his 28-year business career involving Global 1000 firms. Bryan holds a Bachelor’s degree in Marketing from the University of the State of New York and an MBA degree from Capella University. Bryan will complete his Doctor of Business Administration degree (DBA) from Middlesex University in London, England in 2020.

* * *

Gülhan Benli has received her doctorate on surveying and restoration at Yildiz Technical University in 2007. She produced so many surveying projects and urban design projects in historical sites overall in Turkey as a member of Bimtaş, İstanbul Metropolitan Municipality during 2005-2012. She has many other implementations on restoration of the historical buildings and many other researches on techniques of surveying and also academic researches. She has been worked as a vice dean and associate Professor at İstanbul Aydın University between 2012-2014. She is now an associate Professor at School of Fine Arts Design and Architecture in İstanbul Medipol University, giving lectures on preserving in historical sites and cultural heritage.
Fabio Colonnese is an architect, a draftsman and Ph.D. in Drawing and Survey of Architectural Heritage at Sapienza University of Rome, Italy, where he also taught geometry, survey and drawing at courses of architecture, engineering and landscape architecture. He studied the figure of labyrinth and its multiple relationships with architecture, city, and landscape in his published PhD dissertation Labyrinth as a representation of a route (Rome 2003). The following book Il Labirinto e le Irinti e (The Labyrinth and the Architect, 2006) represents a pondered synthesis of this long enquire. While attending his post-doc fellowship in Digital Survey and Representation of City in Rome, his interests expanded to digital reconstruction of literary architectures as well as to as to relation between representation and experience of architecture, whose partial results can be read in his second book Movimento Percorso Rappresentazione (Movement Route Representation, 2012). He took part to major survey campaigns, such as Castel Sant’Angelo in Roma, Royal Palace of Caserta and is currently engaged with Cappadocian Rupestrian Monasteries.

Aysun Ferrah Güner was born in Istanbul, in 1969, Aysun Ferrah Güner studied Architecture at the Istanbul Technical University, Faculty of Architecture and upon graduation in 1991, she began the practice in Istanbul as architect. She worked on various projects as architect, specialist, senior project specialist, project coordinator and project manager in the private sector. At the same time, she continued to work academically and received her master degree on “a study into the factors influencing the rehabilitation cost” in 1995 and Phd degree on “implementing total quality management in construction industry and evaluating the implementations in Turkey” in 2004 in the field of construction management at the Istanbul Technical University. She is Assistant Professor of Architecture at Istanbul Medipol University, School of Fine Arts, Design and Architecture. Her research fields are project management, design management and coordination, product development, total quality management in construction industry.

Oxana Karnaukhova’s background includes degrees in Humanities – History, Psychology and Cultural Studies with an experience in interdisciplinary research in Intercultural Communications. The achievements in this field are proven through a number of projects, held in Russia and abroad, as well as in the publication list. When majoring in History, she concentrated on the problems of ethnic groups, power structures and state relationships. She was especially interested in psychology of intercultural communication, which became the focus of my graduate studies. Also, she has completed PhD program (Rostov State University, Russia), specializing in the field of Theory and History of Culture. The research projects have involved a combination of these subjects. The significant projects “Communicative strategies in multicultural regions” (Carnegie Fellowship Program, 2005-2006) and “Multiculturalism as the paradigm of the postcolonial development (the comparative analysis of the British and Russian models)” (Oxford Colleges Hospitality Scheme, 2006) were devoted to the problems of multiculturalism as cultural practice and social ideology and its transformations through time and regions.

Kijpokin Kasemsap received his BEng degree in Mechanical Engineering from King Mongkut’s University of Technology, Thonburi, his MBA degree from Ramkhamhaeng University, and his DBA degree in Human Resource Management from Suan Sunandha Rajabhat University. He is a Special Lecturer in the Faculty of Management Sciences, Suan Sunandha Rajabhat University, based in Bangkok, Thailand. He is a Member of the International Association of Engineers (IAENG), the International Association of Engineers and Scientists (IAEST), the International Economics Development and Research Center (IEDRC), the International Association of Computer Science and Information Technology (IACSIT), the International Foundation for Research and Development (IFRD), and the International Innovative Scientific and Research Organization (IISRO). He also serves on the International Advisory Committee (IAC) for International Association of Academicians and Researchers (INAAR). He has had numerous original research articles in top international journals, conference proceedings, and books on the topics of business management, human resource management, and knowledge management, published internationally.

Virginia Kupritz received her Ph.D. from Virginia Tech, College of Architecture. She is the Associate Director for Communication Studies and a Full Professor at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, USA. Her multidisciplinary research, administrative experience and teaching span 20+ years in colleges of architecture, business and communication. This includes co-founding the first architectural program for females in Saudi Arabia. Dr. Kupritz is nationally recognized in the scientific community and in industry as a leading expert in workplace privacy. Dr. Kupritz research has appeared in top tiered journals such as the Journal of Environmental Psychology, Journal of Architectural and Planning Research, Journal of Business Communication, and Human Resource Development Quarterly. Dr. Kupritz’s research focuses on workplace privacy, computer-mediated communication for the multi-generational workforce, architectural communication, ethnographic methods, and intercultural communication.
Silvia Torsi has a full degree in Communication Science and a Ph.D. in Cognitive Science. She has research experience in Italy, US and UK. Her main interests are in Human-Computer Interaction and Service Design. Her main theoretical drives are Cultural-Historical Psychology, Ecological Psychology, Distributed Cognition and Experience Design.

Ben Tran received his Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D) in Organizational Consulting/Organizational Psychology from California School of Professional Psychology at Alliant International University in San Francisco, California, United States of America. Dr. Tran’s research interests include domestic and expatriate recruitment, selection, retention, evaluation, & training, CSR, business and organizational ethics, organizational/international organizational behavior, knowledge management, and minorities in multinational corporations. Dr. Tran has presented articles on topics of business and management ethics, expatriate, and gender and minorities in multinational corporations at the Academy of Management, Society for the Advancement of Management, and International Standing Conference on Organizational Symbolism. Dr. Tran has also published articles and book chapters with the Social Responsibility Journal, Journal of International Trade Law and Policy, Journal of Economics, Finance and Administrative Science, Financial Management Institute of Canada, and IGI Global. Dr. Tran can be reach at tranconsulting@gmail.com.

Meltem Vatan was born in August 29, 1978 Varna – Bulgaria and lives in Istanbul since 1998. She is an architect with extensive experience on structural systems, cultural heritage and disaster risks that has led her to a number of site works, projects, academic papers and grants as well. Currently, Vatan is Assist. Prof. and Vice Dean at Bahcesehir University, Faculty of Architecture and Design, Istanbul. Vatan received her Bachelor of Architecture at Yıldız Technical University, Istanbul and completed her Masters and PhD in Structures and had worked until 2011 in the same academic institution. She is the author of several academic papers on traditional structural systems and cultural heritage risks. Vatan is an expert member of ICOMOS, ICOMOS ICORP (risk scientific committee), ICOMOS ISCARSARAH (historic structures scientific committee) and Vice Director of ICORP Turkey. In addition to working on academic field, she enjoys writing poems, exploring nature and taking photos. You can reach her at meltemvatan@gmail.com.