About the Contributors

Marianne Ojo has published a total of more than 80 internationally peer-reviewed books, ISI accredited journal articles, book chapters and conference proceedings papers. She currently works as Visiting Professor, post-doctoral researcher as well as university lecturer and Visiting Scholar and is currently also engaged in several projects at affiliated universities in the United States (George Mason University) as well as supervision of graduate and non-graduate students. Furthermore, she serves as a reviewer for various scientific and academic journals which have been accredited with highest credentials at international level. Her previous academic commitments include Insolvency and Research work at LTB, Frankfurt, Research Fellow at the Center for European Law, University of Bremen (2007 – 2010), Teaching Associate and Graduate Teaching Assistant at Oxford Brookes University (2004 – 2007). She has also collaborated with several other authors as well as contributed in several consultation and academic exercises with the Bank for International Settlements.

Sudipta Bose holds a PhD in Accounting from UNSW Australia and a Master of Business Administration (MBA). Currently, he works with the University of Newcastle. He is a Chartered Accountant (CA) and a Certified Management Accountant (CMA), and he has previously worked in the Finance division of a multinational telecommunication company (Telenor Group, Norway). His research interests include capital market, cost of equity capital, carbon emissions and assurance, sustainability reporting and assurance, integrated reporting and assurance and corporate governance. Recently, he has published in his scholarly article in the British Accounting Review (BAR) and the Journal of Banking and Finance Law and Practice (JBFLP). Sudipta is also a member of European Accounting Association (EAA) and Accounting and Finance Association of Australia and New Zealand (AFAANZ).

James A. DiGabriele, Ph.D./D.P.S., CPA/ABV/CFF: is a Professor of Accounting and Chair of the Department of Accounting Law & Taxation at Montclair State University. He is also the managing director of DiGabriele, McNulty, Campanella
About the Contributors

J. DeLarosiere studied Economics as a major for his undergraduate studies – as well as completed his postgraduate universities in Brazil. Having worked as a lecturer for several years in the Faculty of Social Sciences in Rio de Janeiro, he decided to further his career in the area of Financial Economics – with a focus on the stock markets and government regulation and policies. He is also particularly interested in research related to the BRICS economies – as well as the impact of regulatory and economic reforms and policies on emerging economies.

Manoj Kumar received his PhD in Mechanical Engineering from the Indian Institute of Technology, Delhi, India. He is presently working as Director, International Engineering Services, New Delhi, India. He has authored or co-authored over 80 research papers in journals and conferences.

Sarah Newton wishes to consolidate on her PhD, with legal – as well as financial related research after having graduated with a BSc in Accounting and a Master’s degree in Economics. She has worked as a lecturer and Visiting Scholar at several universities in the United Kingdom and hopes that greater focus on the research aspect of her work will broaden horizons and career possibilities globally.

Soren Nielsen is currently expanding on his research career in Economics and International Business with a focus on Financial Markets and Emerging Economies, having worked at the School of Business at Copenhagen University.

Ionica Oncioiu holds a Ph.D. in economy and accounting. Her research interests include the development of SMEs innovation, Project Management, Accounting Information Systems, Asset Management and E-Commerce Marketing. She had more than 10 years of experience in this area and has published 10 text books and more than 70 papers in scholarly peer reviewed international journals. She also authored eight books.
Riccardo Palumbo is Professor of Accounting and Finance at the University “G. d’Annunzio” of Chieti-Pescara. He holds a PhD from the University “Federico II” of Napoli. His research specialisation includes accounting and capital markets and accounting history. He has published a large number of monographs and articles in scholarly journals and has presented his work at a number of leading Universities in Europe and Australia. He has held a number of research positions including as a visiting scholar at the Capital Markets Cooperative Research Centre and visiting professor at the School of Business at the University of Sydney in Australia. He holds a number of academy, government and industry positions in Italy. He is member of the College of Auditors at the Italian Society of Teachers of Accounting (SIDREA - Società Italiana dei Docenti di Ragioneria e di Economia Aziendale); he is a member of the Committee which rates accounting journals in Italy [Commissione Triennale di Lavoro dell’Accademia Italiana di Economia Aziendale – AIDEA]; he has been consultant for the Italian Committee for Evaluation of Research [CIVR – Comitato di indirizzo per la valutazione della ricerca]; he also serves on the Board of Directors of MediaPharma srl (spin-off of University of Chieti-Pescara). He serves on a number of Committees at his University and is the Director of a Master programme in Business Innovation and the head of the Master of Science in Economics and Management.

Pierangelo Rosati is a post-doctoral researcher of the Irish Centre for Cloud Computing and Commerce (IC4) at Dublin City University Business School. Dr. Rosati holds a PhD in Management and Business Administration from the University “G. d’Annunzio” of Chieti-Pescara (Italy) and an MBA from the Alma Mater Studiorum University of Bologna (Italy). He was appointed visiting Ph.D. student at the Capital Markets Cooperative Research Center (CMCRC) in Sydney (Australia) and his research interests span from financial accounting to auditing, market microstructure, and accounting information systems. Dr. Rosati has also been involved in industry as a consultant as well as a board member.

James Rossi wishes to consolidate on the area of publications and research in complementary fields of law and accounting related research. Having gained undergraduate and postgraduate degrees in Economics, with a focus on teaching and lecturing in Economics, Dr Rossi also wishes to consolidate on present achievements with reputable global based research.

Amitav Saha holds a Master of Philosophy from the UNSW Australia and a Master of Commerce degree from Macquarie University. He serves as Head of Accounting at The University of Notre Dame Australia’s Sydney School of Business. Amitav is a qualified Certified Practicing Accountant (CPA) and a Fellow of the
About the Contributors

Institute of Public Accountants Australia (FIPA). Amitav has presented his research at scholarly conferences across Australia, Europe and the US. His research interests include capital market related valuation research, International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), corporate disclosures, and business education. Amitav is also a member of American Accounting Association and European Accounting Association.